2. We have carefully considered the arguments urged on the one side by the learned Chief Justice of Bengal and the Bank of Bengal for the immediate application of the measure in its entirety to hundís, and, on the other side, by the Government of the Panjáb for the total exclusion of hundís from any part of the measure. We have come to the conclusion that the Bill should in this respect be left substantially as it stands. Admitting with the Chief Justice that one main principle of Indian codification is to reconcile and assimilate, as far as possible, the Native and European law on each subject, we would point out that this principle must be applied so as to produce as little friction as possible, and we feel assured that any sudden abolition of the numerous local usages (there is no general custom) as to hundís, uncertain and undefined as they often are, would cause much and justifiable dissatisfaction among Native bankers and merchants in certain parts of the country. But we believe that the effect of the Bill, if passed with a saving of the local usages in question, will be, not as the Chief Justice fears, to stereotype and perpetuate these usages, but to induce the Native mercantile community gradually to discard them for the corresponding rules contained in the Bill. The desirable uniformity of mercantile usage will thus be brought about without any risk of causing hardship to Native bankers and merchants. How long this change will take, it is of course impossible to prophesy. But the Bank of Bengal has supplied evidence that the Native usages as to negotiable paper have of recent years been greatly changing, and that the tendency is to assimilate them more and more to the European custom.

3. We do not share the apprehension of the Bank of Bengal that the recognition of Native usages would result in large withdrawal of European capital from operations in Native bills. For in this respect the Bill simply states the law as it stands. Such usages are now and have always been recognized by our Courts in all parts of India:* but the Bank itself admits that, for upwards of seventy years, its business in hundís has invariably been conducted according to the same laws and usages as apply to European bills, and that, with one exception (the alleged duty of the holder of a dishonoured hundí to exhaust the acceptor before having recourse to the drawer or endorser) Natives have made no difficulty about conforming to the Bank's requirements. It is, we understand, the practice of the Bank and, probably, of other large European purchasers of hundís to notify that they will not be bound by any local usage which contravenes the English law as to bills of exchange. Though the Bill should pass in its present form, this practice will remain legal and unaffected. It operates of course to bind only the seller to waive a defence which he might otherwise have made. But the other parties to the hundí are practically precluded from setting up any such usage by the knowledge that if they did so their credit would be destroyed by refusal of the Bank to buy hundís on which their names appear.

* See, for example, 1 Suth. W. R. 75: 2 ibid. 214: 6 ibid. 301: 2 Hyde 259: 3 Beng. A. C. 198: 7 Beng. 275, 289, 431, 687: 9 Beng. Appendix I: 2 Sevestre 621, n.: N. W. P. 1868, p. 268: Perry 296: 6 Bomb. O. C. J. 24: 7 Bomb. O. C. J. 137, 140: 12 Bomb. 113.

4. To exclude totally (as the Panjáb Government propose) hundís from any part of the Bill would be to render the proposed legislation to a great extent inoperative, and would probably result in withdrawal of the Bill. Considering the fact that the carrying on of the internal trade of India is becoming more and more dependent on English capital, and that the use in the Mufassal of bills in the English form is therefore largely increasing, we think that such withdrawal would be highly inexpedient. We are supported in this opinion by the fact that the Local Governments of Bengal, Bombay, the North-Western Provinces and Ajmer have all reported in favour of the Bill; that the Chambers of Commerce at Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, the Bank of Bombay, and the Calcutta Trades Association, have done the same; and that the Directors of the Bank of Bengal bear testimony as to the ability with which it was framed by Mr. Phillips.

5. Turning now to the details of the Bill, we have, in the first place, expressly saved the provisions of the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1871, section 21, which prohibits the issue of private bills or notes payable to bearer on demand.

6. We have struck out from section 16 the words "the whole or any part of," as they might have been taken to imply that there may be a special indorsement expressly directing payment of part of the amount mentioned in the instrument.

7. Section 21 was taken from the Law Commissioners' draft, and deals with a promissory note signed by two persons, and shewing that one of them subscribes only to an alternative liability. We think it very doubtful whether such an informal instrument is a promissory note at all, and for this and other reasons we have omitted the section.

8. We have also omitted section 33, as the matter appears to us to be sufficiently provided for by the Indian Contract Act; for the same reason we have omitted the first half of section 43.

9. We have omitted, as unlikely to be practically useful, sections 55 and 56, which provide for the delivery without indorsement, but with intent to transfer title, of bills payable to the order of a specified person or to a specified person or order.

10. We have omitted section 59, as the matter is sufficiently covered by the preceding section.

11. We do not think that the Bill should deal with collateral agreements, and have therefore struck out section 66.

12. We have amended the section (73, now 67) as to the drawee's term for deliberation. It now provides that the holder may allow the drawee twenty-four hours (exclusive of public holidays) to consider whether he will accept the Bill.

13. We think that, in order to charge the drawer of a cheque, the holder should only be bound to present it at the bank on which it is drawn before the relation between the drawer and the banker has been altered to the prejudice of the drawer. We have altered section 82 accordingly.

14. We have omitted from section 97 the explanation relating to material alterations.

15. We have made some changes in wording and arrangement.

16. The Bill No. III and the second report of the Select Committee have been published in English in all the local Gazettes except those for Assam and Rájputána. Publication of the Bill and report in the vernacular has been reported only by the Governments of Madras, Bengal and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces.

17. With the exception of our Hon'ble Colleague Mr. Morgan, we think that the Bill might now be passed as amended. Mr. Morgan would omit the clause saving local usages as to hundís. In other respects he approves of the Bill. We recommend that its further consideration be stayed until the new Law Commission has reported thereon. Meanwhile, we think the Bill, as now amended, should be published with this report in the Gazette of India.

CALCUTTA,
The 19th February, 1879.

Although I think that this Bill is, on the whole, a very good one, I cannot approve of the recognition which it accords to local usages relating to hundís. From a careful consideration of the papers which have been received with reference to the Bill, and from my own experience as regards the existing practice regarding hundís, I do not believe that there are any usages which call for special recognition at the hands of the legislature, and I think that the proposed recognition may put an arm into the hands of those who are dishonestly disposed, which they do not at present possess.

Illustrations.

The instruments respectively marked (a), and (b) are promissory notes. The instruments respectively marked (c), (d), (e), (f), (g) and (h) are not promissory notes.

Bill of exchange.

5. A bill of exchange is an instrument in writing containing an unconditional order, signed by the maker, directing a certain person to pay a certain sum of money only to, or to the order of, a certain person or to the bearer of the instrument.

Cheque.

6. A cheque is a bill of exchange drawn on a specified banker and not expressed to be payable otherwise than on demand.

"Drawer." "Drawee."

7. The maker of a bill of exchange or cheque is called the "drawer;" the person thereby directed to pay is called the "drawee."

"Drawee in case of need."

When the bill gives the name of any person in addition to the drawee to be resorted to in case of need, such person is called a "drawee in case of need."

"Acceptor."

After the drawee of a bill has signed his assent upon the bill, or if there are more parts thereof than one, upon one of such parts, and delivered the same, or given notice of such signing to the holder or to some person on his behalf, he is called the "acceptor."

"Acceptor for honour."

When acceptance is refused and the bill is protested for non-acceptance, and any person accepts it supra protest for honour of the drawer or of any one of the indorsers, such person is called an "acceptor for honour."

"Payee."

The person named in the instrument, to whom or to whose order the money is by the instrument directed to be paid, is called the "payee."

"Holder."

8. The "holder" of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque means any person entitled in his own name to the possession thereof and to receive or recover the amount due thereon from the parties thereto.

Where the note, bill or cheque is lost or destroyed, its holder is the person so entitled at the time of such loss or destruction.

"Holder in due course."

9. "Holder in due course" means any person who became the possessor of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque if payable to bearer, or the payee or indorsee thereof, if payable to, or to the order of, a payee, for consideration before the amount mentioned in it became payable, and without having sufficient cause to believe that any defect existed in the title of the person from whom he derived his title.

"Payment in due course."

10. "Payment in due course" means payment in accordance with the apparent tenor of the instrument in good faith and without negligence to any person in possession thereof under circumstances which do not afford a reasonable ground for believing that he is not entitled to receive payment of the amount therein mentioned.

Inland instrument.

11. A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque drawn or made in British India, and made payable in, or drawn upon any person resident in, British India shall be deemed to be an inland instrument.

Foreign instrument.

12. Any such instrument not so drawn, made or made payable shall be deemed to be a foreign instrument.

Negotiable instrument.

13. A "negotiable instrument" means a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque expressed to be payable to a specified person or his order, or to the order of a specified person, or to the bearer thereof, or to a specified person or the bearer thereof.

Negotiation.

14. When a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is transferred to any person, so as to constitute that person the holder thereof, the instrument is said to be negotiated.

Indorsement.

Indorsement "in blank" and "in full."

"Indorsee."

Ambiguous instruments.

17. Where an instrument may be construed either as a promissory note or bill of exchange, the holder may at his election treat it as either, and the instrument shall be thenceforward treated accordingly.

Where amount is stated differently in figures and words.

18. If the amount undertaken or ordered to be paid is stated differently in figures and in words, the amount stated in words shall be the amount undertaken or ordered to be paid.

Instruments payable on demand.

19. A promissory note or bill of exchange, in which no time for payment is specified, and a cheque are payable on demand.

Blank stamped instruments.

20. Where a stamped paper, which is intended to be completed as a negotiable instrument, is signed and delivered by a competent person as maker, drawer, acceptor or indorser, the holder thereof may complete the same by filling up any blanks therein, and the person so signing shall be liable upon such instrument, in the capacity in which he signed the same, for any amount which may be specified therein not exceeding the amount covered by the stamp thereon: provided that as between the person delivering and the person receiving the instrument nothing in excess of the amount intended by them to be paid shall be recovered.

Illustration.

A stamped paper intended to be completed as a negotiable instrument is made payable to " or order:" the holder of such instrument may fill up the blank with his own name, or that of any other person.

"At sight." "On presentment." "After sight."

21. In a promissory note or bill of exchange the expressions "at sight" and "on presentment" mean on demand. The expression "after sight" means, in a promissory note, after presentment for sight, and in a bill of exchange, after acceptance or protest for non-acceptance.

"Maturity."

22. The maturity of a promissory note or bill of exchange is the date at which it falls due.

Days of grace.

Every promissory note or bill of exchange which is not expressed to be payable on demand, at sight, or on presentment, is at maturity on the third day after the day on which it is expressed to be payable.

Calculating maturity of bill or note payable so many months after date or sight.

23. In calculating the date at which a promissory note or bill of exchange, made payable a stated number of months after date or after sight, or after a certain event, is at maturity, the period stated shall be held to terminate on the day of the month which corresponds with the day on which the instrument is dated, or presented for acceptance or sight or protested for non-acceptance, or the event happens, or, where the instrument is a bill of exchange made payable a stated number of months after sight and has been accepted for honour, with the day on which it was so accepted. If the month in which the period would terminate has no corresponding day, the period shall be held to terminate on the last day of such month.

Illustrations.

(a) A negotiable instrument dated 29th January 1878 is made payable at one month after date. The instrument is at maturity on the third day after the 28th February 1878.

(b) A negotiable instrument dated 30th August 1878 is made payable three months after date. The instrument is at maturity on the 3rd December 1878.

(c) A promissory note or bill of exchange, dated 31st August 1878, is made payable three months after date. The instrument is at maturity on the 3rd December 1878.

Calculating maturity of bill or note payable so many days after date or sight.

24. In calculating the date at which a promissory note or bill of exchange, made payable a certain number of days after date or after sight or after a certain event, is at maturity, the day of the date, or of presentment for acceptance or sight, or of protest for non-acceptance, or on which the event happens, shall be excluded.

When day of maturity is a holiday.

25. When the day on which a promissory note or bill of exchange is at maturity is a public holiday, the instrument shall be deemed to be due on the next preceding business day.

Explanation.—The expression "public holiday" includes Sundays: New-Year's day, Christmas day: if either of such days falls on a Sunday, the next following Monday: Good-Friday; and any other day declared by the Local Government, by notification in the official Gazette, to be a public holiday.

26. Until the contrary is proved, the following presumptions shall be made:—

(c) that every accepted bill of exchange was accepted within a reasonable time after its date and before its maturity:

as to time of transfer;

(d) that every transfer of a negotiable instrument was made before its maturity:

as to order of endorsements;

(e) that the endorsements appearing upon a negotiable instrument were made in the order in which they appear thereon:

as to stamp;

(f) that a lost promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque was duly stamped:

that holder is a holder in due course.

(g) that the holder of a negotiable instrument is a holder in due course: provided that where the instrument has been obtained from its lawful owner, or from any person in lawful custody thereof, by means of an offence or fraud, or has been obtained from the maker or acceptor thereof by means of an offence or fraud, or for unlawful consideration, the burthen of proving that the holder is a holder in due course lies upon him.

CHAPTER III.

PARTIES TO NOTES, BILLS AND CHEQUES.

Capacity to make, &c., promissory notes, &c.

27. Every person capable of contracting, according to the law to which he is subject, may bind himself and be bound by the making, drawing, acceptance, indorsement, delivery and negotiation of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque.

Minor.

A minor may draw, indorse, deliver and negotiate such instruments so as to bind all parties except himself.

Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to empower a corporation to make, indorse or accept such instruments except in cases in which, under the law for the time being in force, they are so empowered.

Agency.

28. Every person capable of binding himself or of being bound, as mentioned in section 27, may so bind himself or be bound by a duly authorized agent acting in his name.

A general authority to transact business and to receive and discharge debts does not confer upon an agent the power of accepting or indorsing bills of exchange so as to bind his principal.

An authority to draw bills of exchange does not of itself import an authority to indorse.

Liability of agent signing.

29. An agent who signs his name to a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, without indicating thereon that he signs as agent, or that he does not intend thereby to incur personal responsibility, is liable personally on the instrument, except to those who induced him to sign upon the belief that the principal only would be held liable.

Liability of legal representative signing.

30. A legal representative of a deceased person who signs his name to a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, is liable personally thereon unless he expressly limits his liability to the extent of the assets received by him as such.

Acceptance by several drawees not partners.

31. Where there are several drawees of a bill of exchange who are not partners, each of them can accept it for himself, but none of them can accept it for another without his authority.

Liability of drawer.

32. The drawer of a bill of exchange or cheque is bound, in case of dishonour by the drawee or acceptor thereof, to compensate the holder for any loss or damage caused thereby, provided due notice of dishonour has been given to, or received by, the drawer as hereinafter provided.

Liability of drawee of cheque.

33. The drawee of a cheque having sufficient funds of the drawer in his hands properly applicable to the payment of such cheque, must pay the cheque when duly required so to do, and, in default of such payment, must compensate the drawer for any loss or damage caused by such default.

Liability of maker of note and acceptor of bill.

34. In the absence of a contract to the contrary, the maker of a promissory note and the acceptor before maturity of a bill of exchange, are bound to pay the amount thereof at maturity according to the apparent tenor of the note or acceptance respectively, and the acceptor of a bill of exchange at or after maturity is bound to pay the amount thereof to the holder on demand.

In default of such payment as aforesaid, such maker or acceptor is bound to compensate any party to the note or bill for any loss or damage sustained by him, and caused by such default.

The provisions of this section are subject to those of sections 27, 29, 48, 49, 50, 62, 68, 72, 73 and 86.

Only drawee can be acceptor except in need or for honour.

35. No person except the drawee of a bill of exchange, or all or some of several joint drawees, or a person named therein as a drawee in case of need, or an acceptor for honour, can bind himself by an acceptance.

Liability of indorser.

36. In the absence of a contract to the contrary, whoever indorses and delivers a negotiable instrument before maturity, without, in such indorsement, expressly excluding or making conditional his own liability, is bound thereby to every subsequent holder, in case of dishonour by the drawee, acceptor or maker, to compensate such holder for any loss or damage caused to him by such dishonour, provided due notice of dishonour has been given to, or received by, such indorser as hereinafter provided.

Every indorser after dishonour is liable as upon an instrument payable on demand.

The provisions of this section are subject to those of sections 27, 29, 48, 49, 50, 59, 60, 62, 65, 66, 68, 72, 76, 86, 87, 88, 90, 91 and 101, clause (a).

Liability of prior parties to holder in due course.

37. Every prior party to a negotiable instrument is liable thereon to a holder in due course until the instrument is duly satisfied.

Maker, drawer and acceptor principals.

38. The maker of a promissory note or cheque, the drawer of a bill of exchange until acceptance, and the acceptor are, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, respectively liable thereon as principal debtors, and the other parties thereto are liable thereon as sureties for the maker, drawer or acceptor, as the case may be.

Prior party a principal in respect of each subsequent party.

39. As between the parties so liable as sureties, each prior party is, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, also liable thereon as a principal debtor in respect of each subsequent party.

Illustration.

A draws a bill payable to his own order on B, who accepts. A afterwards indorses the bill to C, C to D, and D to E. As between E and B, B is the principal debtor, and A, C and D are his sureties. As between E and A, A is the principal debtor, and C and D are his sureties. As between E and C, C is the principal debtor and D is his surety.

Suretyship.

40. When the holder of an accepted bill of exchange enters into any contract with the acceptor which under section 134 or 135 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, would discharge the other parties, the holder may expressly reserve his right to charge the other parties, and in such case they are not discharged.

Discharge of indorser's liability.

41. Where the holder of a negotiable instrument, without the consent of the indorser, destroys or impairs the indorser's remedy against a prior party, the indorser is discharged from liability to the holder to the same extent as if the instrument had been paid at maturity.

Illustration.

A is the holder of a bill of exchange made payable to the order of B, which contains the following indorsements in blank :—

First indorsement, "B."

Second indorsement, "Peter Williams."

Third indorsement, "Wright and Co."

Fourth indorsement, "John Rozario."

This bill A puts in suit against John Rozario and strikes out, without John Rozario's consent, the indorsements by Peter Williams and Wright and Co. A is not entitled to recover anything from John Rozario.

Estoppel against denying original validity of instrument.

42. No maker of a promissory note, and no drawer of a bill of exchange or cheque, and no acceptor of a bill of exchange for the honour of the drawer shall, in a suit thereon by a holder in due course, be permitted to deny the validity of the instrument as originally made or drawn.

Estoppel against denying capacity of payee to indorse.

43. No maker of a promissory note and no acceptor of a bill of exchange payable to, or to the order of, a specified person shall, in a suit thereon by a holder in due course, be permitted to deny the payee's capacity, at the date of the note or bill, to indorse the same.

Estoppel against denying signature or capacity of prior party.

44. No indorser of a negotiable instrument shall, in a suit thereon by a subsequent holder, be permitted to deny the signature or capacity to contract of any prior party to the instrument.

Acceptor bound, although indorsement forged.

45. An acceptor of a bill of exchange already indorsed is not relieved from liability by reason that such indorsement is forged, if he knew or had reason to believe the indorsement to be forged when he accepted the bill.

Acceptance of bill drawn in fictitious name.

46. An acceptor of a bill of exchange drawn in a fictitious name and payable to the drawer's order is not, by reason that such name is fictitious, relieved from liability to any holder in due course claiming under an indorsement by the same hand as the drawer's signature, and purporting to be made by the drawer.

Party receiving consideration liable to subsequent parties.

47. If at any time there has been consideration between any parties to a negotiable instrument for the making, drawing, acceptance, indorsement, negotiation or transfer thereof, the party receiving such consideration is, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, liable upon the instrument to all subsequent parties thereto, and every subsequent holder is, as against him, a holder for consideration.

The provisions of this section are subject to those of sections 27, 49, 50, 59, 65, 66, 68, 72, 73, 76, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90 and 91.

Illustrations.

(a) A indorses a bill of exchange to B, at the request of C, for C's account with B. B is a holder of the bill for consideration, and if he indorses it as a present to D, D is a holder for consideration as against A.

(b) A, the holder of a negotiable instrument, indorses it in full to B, in the belief that B has done something which he has not done. B, for consideration proceeding from C, indorses the instrument in blank to C, and C indorses it to D. D strikes out C's indorsement. D is a holder of the instrument for consideration as against B.

Party not liable to one from whom no consideration moved.

48. When there was no consideration for the making, drawing, acceptance or indorsement of a negotiable instrument, or when the consideration has wholly failed, the maker, drawer, acceptor or indorser is not liable thereon to the party in whose favour the instrument was so made, drawn, accepted or indorsed, or to any party claiming through him, unless consideration was given by the claimant or by some party through whom he derives title. But the maker, drawer, acceptor or indorser is liable to compensate any subsequent party who, being liable on such instrument, pays the amount due thereon.

Partial absence or failure of money-consideration.

49. When the consideration for which a person signed a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque consisted of money, and was originally absent in part or has subsequently failed in part, the sum which a holder standing in immediate relation with such signer is entitled to receive from him is proportionally reduced.

Explanation.—The drawer of a bill of exchange stands in immediate relation with the acceptor. The maker of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, stands in immediate relation with the payee, and the indorser with his indorsee. Other signers may by agreement stand in immediate relation with a holder.

Illustration.

A draws a bill on B for Rs. 500 payable to the order of A. B accepts the bill, but subsequently dishonours it by non-payment. A sues B on the bill. B proves that it was accepted for value as to Rs. 400, and as an accommodation to the plaintiff as to the residue. A can only recover Rs. 400.

Partial failure of consideration not consisting of money.

50. Where a part of the consideration for which a person signed a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, though not consisting of money, is ascertainable in money without collateral enquiry, and there has been a failure of that part, the sum which a holder standing in immediate relation with such signer is entitled to receive from him is proportionally reduced.

CHAPTER IV.

OF NEGOTIATION.

Negotiation by delivery.

51. Subject to the provisions of section 62, a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque payable to bearer is negotiable by delivery thereof.

Exception.—A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque delivered on condition that it is not to take effect except in a certain event is not negotiable (except in the hands of a holder for value without notice of the condition) unless such event happens.

Illustrations.

(a) A, the holder of a negotiable instrument payable to bearer, delivers it to B's agent to keep for B. The instrument has been negotiated.

(b) A, the holder of a negotiable instrument payable to bearer which is in the hands of A's banker, who is at the time the banker of B, directs the banker to transfer the instrument to B's credit in the banker's account with B. The banker does so, and accordingly now possesses the instrument as B's agent. The instrument has been negotiated, and B has become the holder of it.

Negotiation by indorsement.

52. Subject to the provisions of section 62, a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque payable to the order of a specified person, or to a specified person or order, is negotiable by the holder by indorsement and delivery thereof.

Conversion of indorsement in blank into indorsement in full.

53. The holder of a negotiable instrument indorsed in blank may, without signing his own name, by writing above the indorser's signature a direction to pay to any other person as indorsee, convert the indorsement in blank into an indorsement in full; and the holder does not thereby incur the responsibility of an indorser.

Effect of indorsement.

54. The indorsement of a negotiable instrument followed by delivery transfers to the indorsee the property therein with the right of further negotiation; but the indorsement may, by express words, restrict or exclude such right, or may merely constitute the indorsee an agent to indorse the instrument, or to receive its contents for the indorser, or for some other specified person.

Illustrations.

• B signs the following indorsements on different negotiable instruments payable to bearer:—

(a) "Pay the contents to C only."

(b) "Pay C for my use."

(c) "Pay C or order for the account of B."

(d) "The within must be credited to C."

• These indorsements exclude the right of further negotiation by C.

(e) "Pay C."

(f) "Pay C value in account with the Oriental Bank."

(g) "Pay the contents to C, being part of the consideration in a certain deed of assignment executed by C to the indorser and others."

These indorsements do not exclude the right of further negotiation by C.

Who may negotiate.

55. Every sole maker, drawer, payee or indorsee, or all of several joint makers, drawers, payees or indorsees, of a negotiable instrument may, if the negotiability of such instrument has not been restricted or excluded, as mentioned in section 54, indorse and negotiate the same.

Explanation.—Nothing in this section enables a maker or drawer to indorse or negotiate an instrument, unless he is in lawful possession or is holder thereof; or enables a payee or indorsee to indorse or negotiate an instrument, unless he is holder thereof.

Illustration.

A bill is drawn payable to A or order. A indorses it to B, the indorsement not containing the words "or order" or any equivalent words. B may negotiate the instrument.

Indorser who excludes his own liability or makes it conditional.

56. The indorser of a negotiable instrument may, by express words in the indorsement, exclude his own liability thereon, or make such liability or the right of the indorsee to receive the amount due thereon, depend upon the happening of a specified event, although such event may never happen.

Where an indorser so excludes his liability and afterwards becomes the holder of the instrument, all intermediate indorsers are liable to him.

Illustrations.

(a.) The indorser of a negotiable instrument signs his name, adding the words—

"Without recourse."

Upon this indorsement he incurs no liability.

(b.) A is the payee and holder of a negotiable instrument. Excluding personal liability by an endorsement "without recourse," he transfers the instrument to B, and B indorses it to C, who indorses it to A. A is not only reinstated in his former rights, but has the rights of an indorsee against B and C.

Holder deriving title from holder in due course.

57. A holder of a negotiable instrument who derives title from a holder in due course has the rights thereon of that holder in due course.

Instrument indorsed in blank.

58. Subject to the provisions of sections 121 and 122, a negotiable instrument indorsed in blank is payable to the bearer thereof even although originally payable to order.

Conversion of indorsement in blank into indorsement in full.

59. If a negotiable instrument after having been indorsed in blank is indorsed in full, the amount of it cannot be claimed from the indorser in full, except by the person to whom it has been indorsed in full, or by one who derives title through such person.

Indorsement for part of sum due.

60. No writing on a negotiable instrument is valid for the purpose of negotiation if such writing purports to transfer only a part of the amount of the instrument.

Legal representative cannot by delivery only negotiate instrument indorsed by deceased.

61. The legal representative of a deceased person cannot negotiate by delivery only a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque payable to order and indorsed by the deceased but not delivered.

Instrument obtained by unlawful means or for unlawful consideration.

62. When a negotiable instrument has been lost, or has been obtained from any maker, acceptor or holder thereof by means of an offence or fraud, or for an unlawful consideration, no possessor or indorsee who claims through the person who found or so obtained the instrument is entitled to receive the amount due thereon from such maker, acceptor or holder, or from any party prior to such holder, unless such possessor or indorsee is, or some person through whom he claims was, a holder thereof in due course.

Instrument acquired after dishonour or when overdue.

63. The holder of a negotiable instrument, who has acquired it after dishonour, whether by non-acceptance or non-payment, with notice thereof, or after maturity, has only, as against the other parties, the rights thereon of his transferor:

Accommodation note or bill.

Provided that any person who, in good faith and for consideration, becomes the holder, after maturity, of a promissory note or bill of exchange made, drawn or accepted without consideration for the purpose of enabling some party thereto to raise money thereon, may recover the amount of the note or bill from any prior party.

Illustration.

The acceptor of a bill of exchange, when he accepted it deposited with the drawer certain goods as a collateral security for the payment of the bill, with power to the drawer to sell the goods and apply the proceeds in discharge of the bill if it were not paid at maturity. The bill not having been paid at maturity, the drawer sold the goods and retained the proceeds, but indorsed the bill to A. A's title is subject to the same objection as the drawer's title.

Instrument negotiable till payment or satisfaction.

64. A negotiable instrument may be negotiated (except by the maker, drawee or acceptor after maturity) until payment or satisfaction thereof by the maker, drawee or acceptor at or after maturity, but not after such payment or satisfaction.

CHAPTER V.

OF PRESENTMENT.

Presentment for acceptance.

65. A bill of exchange payable after sight must, if no time or place is specified therein for presentment, be presented to the drawee thereof for acceptance, if he can, after reasonable search, be found, by a person entitled to demand acceptance, within a reasonable time after it is drawn, and in business hours on a business day. In default of such presentment, no party thereto is liable thereon to the person making such default.

If the drawee cannot, after reasonable search be found, the bill is dishonoured.

If the bill is directed to the drawee at a particular place, it must be presented at that place; and if at the due date for presentment he cannot, after reasonable search, be found there, the bill is dishonoured.

Presentment of promissory note for sight.

66. A promissory note, payable at a certain period after sight, must be presented to the maker thereof for sight, by a person entitled to demand payment, within a reasonable time after it is made and in business hours on a business day. In default of such presentment no party thereto is liable thereon to the person making such default.

Drawee's time for deliberation.

67. The holder may allow the drawee of a bill of exchange presented to him for acceptance twenty-four hours (exclusive of public holidays) to consider whether he will accept it.

Presentment for payment.

68. Promissory notes, bills of exchange and cheques must be presented for payment to the maker, acceptor or drawee thereof respectively, by or on behalf of the holder as hereinafter provided. In default of such presentment, the other parties thereto are not liable thereon to such holder.

Exception.—Where a promissory note is payable on demand and is not payable at a specified place, no presentment is necessary in order to charge the maker thereof.

Hours for presentment.

69. Presentment for payment must be made during the usual hours of business, and, if at a banker's, within banking hours.

Presentment for payment of instrument payable after date or sight.

70. A promissory note or bill of exchange, made payable at a specified period after date or sight thereof, must be presented for payment at maturity.

Presentment for payment of promissory note payable by instalments.

71. A promissory note payable by instalments must be presented for payment on the third day after the date fixed for payment of each instalment; and non-payment on such presentment has the same effect as non-payment of a note at maturity.

Presentment for payment of instrument payable at specified place and not elsewhere.

72. A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque made, drawn or accepted payable at a specified place and not elsewhere must, in order to charge any party thereto, be presented for payment at that place.

Instrument payable at specified place

73. A promissory note or bill of exchange made, drawn or accepted payable at a specified place must, in order to charge the maker or drawer thereof, be presented for payment at that place.

Presentment where no exclusive place specified.

74. A promissory note or bill of exchange, not made payable as mentioned in sections 72 and 73, must be presented for payment at one of the places specified (if any), or at the place of business (if any), or at the usual residence, of the maker, drawee or acceptor thereof, as the case may be.

Presentment when maker, &c., has no known place of business or residence.

75. If the maker, drawee or acceptor of a negotiable instrument has no known place of business or fixed residence, and no place is specified in the instrument for presentment for acceptance or payment, such presentment may be made to him in person wherever he can be found.

Presentment of cheque to charge drawer.

76. A cheque must, in order to charge the drawer, be presented at the bank upon which it is drawn before the relation between the drawer and his banker has been altered to the prejudice of the drawer.

Presentment of cheque to charge any other person.

77. A cheque must, in order to charge any person except the drawer, be presented within a reasonable time after delivery thereof by such person.

Presentment of instrument payable on demand.

78. Subject to the provisions of section 33, a negotiable instrument payable on demand must be presented for payment within a reasonable time after it is received by the holder.

Presentment by or to agent, representative of deceased, or assignee of insolvent.

79. Presentment for acceptance or payment may be made to the duly authorized agent of the drawee, maker or acceptor, as the case may be, or where the drawee, maker or acceptor has died, to his legal representative, or where he has been declared an insolvent, to his assignee.

When presentment unnecessary.

80. No presentment for payment is necessary, and the instrument is dishonoured at the due date for presentment, in any of the following cases:—

(a) if the maker, drawee or acceptor intentionally prevents the presentment of the instrument, or, if the instrument being payable at his place of business, he closes such place on a business day during the usual business-hours, or if the instrument being payable at some other specified place, neither he nor any person authorized to pay it attends at such place during the usual business hours, or if the instrument not being payable at any specified place, he cannot after due search be found;

(b) as against any party if, after maturity, with knowledge that the instrument has not been presented—he makes a part payment on account of the amount due on the instrument, or promises to pay the amount due thereon in whole or in part, or otherwise waives his right to take advantage of any default in presentment for payment;

(c) as against the drawer, if the drawer could not suffer damage from the want of such presentment.

Liability of banker for negligently dealing with bill presented for payment.

81. When a bill of exchange, accepted payable at a specified bank, has been duly presented there for payment and dishonoured, if the banker so negligently or improperly keeps, deals with or delivers back such bill as to cause loss to the holder, he must compensate the holder for such loss.

CHAPTER VI.

OF PAYMENT AND INTEREST.

To whom payment should be made.

82. Subject to the provisions of section 86, clause (c), payment of the amount due on a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque must, in order to discharge the maker or acceptor, be made to the holder of the instrument.

Interest when rate specified.

83. When interest at a specified rate is expressly made payable on a promissory note or bill of exchange, interest shall be calculated at the rate specified, on the amount and from the date of the instrument, until tender or realization of the amount due thereon, or until such date after the institution of a suit to recover such amount as the Court directs.

Interest when no rate specified.

84. When no rate of interest is specified in the instrument, interest on the amount thereof shall, except in cases provided for by the Code of Civil Procedure, section 532, be calculated at the rate of six per centum per annum, from the date at which the same ought to have been paid by the party charged, until tender or realization of the amount due thereon or until such date after the institution of a suit to recover such amount as the Court directs.

Explanation.—When the party charged is the indorser of an instrument dishonoured by non-payment, he is liable to pay interest only from the time that he receives notice of the dishonour.

Delivery of instrument on payment, or indemnity in case of loss.

85. Any person liable to pay, and called upon by the holder thereof to pay, the amount due on a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is before payment entitled to have it shown, and is on payment entitled to have it delivered up, to him, or, if the instrument is lost or cannot be produced, to be indemnified against any further claim thereon against him.

CHAPTER VII.

OF DISCHARGE FROM LIABILITY ON NOTES, BILLS AND CHEQUES.

Discharge from liability,

86. The maker, acceptor or indorser respectively of a negotiable instrument is discharged from liability thereon—

by cancellation,

(a) to a holder thereof who cancels such acceptor's or indorser's name with intent to discharge him, and to all parties claiming under such holder.

by release,

(b) to a holder thereof who otherwise discharges such maker, acceptor or indorser, and to all parties deriving title under such holder after notice of such discharge;

by payment.

(c) to all parties thereto, if the instrument is payable to bearer, or has been indorsed in blank, and such maker, acceptor or indorser makes payment in due course of the amount due thereon.

Discharge by allowing drawee more than twenty-four hours to accept.

87. If the holder of a bill of exchange allows the drawee more than twenty-four hours to consider whether he will accept the same, all previous parties not consenting to such allowance are thereby discharged from liability to such holder.

When cheque not duly presented and drawer damaged thereby.

88. When the holder of a cheque fails to present it for payment, and the drawer thereof sustains loss or damage from such failure, he is discharged from liability to the holder.

Cheque payable to order.

89. Where a cheque payable to order, purports to be indorsed by or on behalf of the payee, the drawee is discharged by payment in due course.

Parties not consenting discharged by conditional or limited acceptance.

90. If the holder of a bill of exchange acquiesces in a conditional acceptance, or one limited to part of the sum mentioned in the bill, or which substitutes a different place or time for payment, or which, where the drawers are not partners is not signed by all the drawees, all previous parties whose consent is not obtained to such acceptance are discharged as against the holder and those claiming under him.

Effect of material alteration.

91. Save as provided in sections 20, 53, 90 and 120, any material alteration of a negotiable instrument renders the same void as against any one who is a party thereto at the time of making such alteration and does not consent thereto, unless it was made in order to carry out the common intention of the original parties; and any such alteration if made by an indorsee, discharges his indorser from all liability to him in respect of the consideration thereof.

Alteration by endorsee.

The provisions of this section are subject to those of sections 20, 53, 90 and 120.

Acceptor or indorser bound notwithstanding previous alteration.

92. An acceptor or indorser of a negotiable instrument is bound by his acceptance or indorsement notwithstanding any previous alteration of the instrument.

Payment of instrument on which alteration is not apparent.

93. Where a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque has been materially altered, but does not appear to have been so altered, or where a cheque is presented for payment which does not at the time of presentation appear to be crossed or to have had a crossing which has been obliterated, payment thereof by a person or banker liable to pay and paying the same according to the apparent tenor thereof at the time of payment and otherwise in due course, shall discharge such person or banker from all liability thereon, and such payment shall not be questioned by reason of the instrument having been altered, or the cheque crossed.

CHAPTER VIII.

OF NOTICE OF DISHONOUR.

Dishonour by non-acceptance.

94. A bill of exchange is said to be dishonoured by non-acceptance when the drawee, or one of several drawees not being partners, makes default in acceptance upon being duly required to accept the bill.

Where the drawee is incompetent to contract the bill may be treated as dishonoured.

Dishonour by non-payment.

95. A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is said to be dishonoured by non-payment when the maker of the note, acceptor of the bill, or drawee of the cheque makes default in payment upon being duly required to pay the same.

By and to whom notice should be given.

96. When a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is dishonoured by non-acceptance or non-payment, the holder thereof, or some party thereto who remains liable thereon, must give notice that the instrument has been so dishonoured to all other parties whom the holder seeks to make severally liable thereon, and to some one of several parties whom he seeks to make jointly liable thereon.

Nothing in this section renders it necessary to give notice to the maker of the dishonoured promissory note, or the drawee or acceptor of the dishonoured bill of exchange or cheque.

Mode in which notice may be given.

97. Notice of dishonour may be given to a duly authorised agent of the person to whom it is required to be given, or, where he has died, to his legal representative, or, where he has been declared an insolvent, to his assignee; may be oral or written; may, if written, be sent by post; and may be in any form; but it must inform the party to whom it is given, either in express terms or by reasonable intendment, that the instrument has been dishonoured, and in what way, and that he will be held liable thereon; and it must be given within a reasonable time after dishonour, at the place of business, or (in case such party has no place of business) at the residence of the party for whom it is intended.

If the notice is sent by post and miscarries, such miscarriage does not render the notice invalid.

Party receiving must transmit notice of dishonour.

98. Any party receiving notice of dishonour must, in order to render any prior party liable to himself, transmit it to such party within a reasonable time, unless such party otherwise receives due notice as provided by section 96.

Agent for presentment.

99. When the instrument is deposited with an agent for presentment, the agent is entitled to the same time to give notice to his principal as if he were the holder giving notice of dishonour, and the principal is entitled to a further like period to give notice of dishonour.

When party to whom notice given is dead.

100. When the party to whom notice of dishonour is despatched is dead, but the party despatching the notice is ignorant of his death, the notice is sufficient.

When notice of dishonour is unnecessary.

101. No notice of dishonour is necessary—

(a) when it is dispensed with by the party entitled thereto;

(b) in order to charge the drawer, when he has countermanded payment;

(c) when the party charged could not suffer damage for want of notice;

(d) when the party entitled to notice cannot after due search be found; or the party bound to give notice is, for any other reason, unable without any fault of his own to give it;

(e) to charge the drawers, when the acceptor is also a drawer;

(f) in the case of a promissory note which is not negotiable;

(g) when the party entitled to notice, knowing the facts, promises unconditionally to pay the amount due on the instrument.

CHAPTER IX.

OF NOTING AND PROTEST.

Noting.

102. When a promissory note or bill of exchange has been dishonoured by non-acceptance or non-payment, the holder may cause such dishonour to be noted by a notary public upon the instrument, or upon a paper attached thereto, or partly upon each.

Such note must be made within a reasonable time after dishonour, and must specify the date of dishonour, the reason, if any, assigned for such dishonour, or, if the instrument has not been expressly dishonoured, the reason why the holder treats it as dishonoured, and the notary's charges.

Protest.

103. When a promissory note or bill of exchange has been dishonoured by non-acceptance or non-payment, the holder may, within a reasonable time, cause such dishonour to be noted and certified by a notary public. Such certificate is called a protest, and in a suit upon the instrument, on proof of the protest, the Court shall presume the fact of dishonour, unless and until such fact is disproved.

Protest for better security.

When the acceptor of a bill of exchange has become insolvent, or his credit has been publicly impeached, before the maturity of the bill, the holder may, within a reasonable time, cause a notary public to demand better security of the acceptor, and on its being refused may, within a reasonable time, cause such facts to be noted and certified as aforesaid. Such certificate is called a protest for better security.

Contents of protest.

104. A protest under section 103 must contain—

(a) either the instrument itself, or a literal transcript of the instrument and of everything written or printed thereupon;

(b) the name of the person for whom and against whom the instrument has been protested,

(c) a statement that payment or acceptance, or better security, as the case may be, has been demanded of such person by the notary public; the terms of his answer, if any, or a statement that he gave no answer, or that he could not be found;

(e) the subscription of the notary public making the protest;

(f) in the event of an acceptance for honour or of a payment for honour, the name of the person by whom, of the person for whom, and the manner in which, such acceptance or payment was offered and effected.

Notice of protest.

105. When a promissory note or bill of exchange is required by law to be protested, notice of such protest must be given instead of notice of dishonour, in the same manner and subject to the same conditions; but the notice may be given by the notary public who makes the protest.

Protest for non-payment after dishonour by non-acceptance.

106. All bills of exchange drawn payable at some other place than the place mentioned as the residence of the drawee, and which are dishonoured by non-acceptance, may, without further presentment to the drawee, be protested for non-payment, in the place specified for payment, unless paid before or at maturity.

CHAPTER X.

OF REASONABLE TIME.

Reasonable time.

107. In determining what is a reasonable time for presentment for acceptance or payment, for giving notice of dishonour and for noting, regard shall be had to the nature of the instrument and the usual course of dealing with respect to similar instruments; and in calculating such time, public holidays shall be excluded.

Reasonable time for presentment.

108. Presentment is made within a reasonable time, within the meaning of sections 65, 77 and 78, if it is made on the business day next after that on which the holder received the instrument referred to, or when there is no more delay than is occasioned by the residence of the parties to the instrument in different places.

Illustration.

A draws on B, resident at Calcutta, a bill of exchange in favour of C payable at sight, and sends it to C at Benares. C, the day after he receives it, indorses it to D, and despatches it to D at Calcutta. D, the day after he receives the bill, presents it for payment. The delay which has taken place in presenting the bill is not unreasonable.

Reasonable time of giving notice of dishonour.

109. If the holder and the party to whom notice of dishonour is given carry on business or live (as the case may be) in different places, such notice is given within a reasonable time if it is despatched by the next post or on the day next after the day of dishonour.

If the said parties carry on business or live in the same place, such notice is given within a reasonable time if it is despatched in time to reach its destination on the day next after the day of dishonour.

Reasonable time for transmitting such notice.

110. A party receiving notice of dishonour, who seeks to enforce his right against a prior party, transmits the notice within a reasonable time if he transmits it within the same time after its receipt as he would have had to give notice if he had been the holder.

CHAPTER XI.

OF ACCEPTANCE AND PAYMENT FOR HONOUR.

Acceptance for honour.

111. When a bill of exchange has been noted or protested for non-acceptance or for better security, any person may, with the consent of the holder, by writing on the bill, accept the same for the honour of any party thereto.

Acceptance not specifying for whose honour it is made.

112. Where the acceptance does not express for whose honour it is made, it shall be deemed to be made for the honour of the drawer.

Liability of acceptor for honour.

113. An acceptor for honour binds himself to all parties subsequent to the party for whose honour he accepts to pay the amount of the bill if the drawee do not; and such party and all prior parties are liable in their respective capacities to compensate the acceptor for honour for all loss or damage sustained by him in consequence of such acceptance.

But an acceptor for honour is not liable to the holder of the bill unless it is presented, or (in case the address given by such acceptor on the bill is a place other than the place where the bill is made payable) forwarded for presentment, not later than the day next after the day of its maturity.

When acceptor for honour may be charged.

114. An acceptor for honour cannot be charged unless the bill has at its maturity been presented to the drawee for payment and has been dishonoured by him, and noted or protested for such dishonour.

Payment for honour.

115. When a bill of exchange has been noted or protested for non-payment, any person may pay the same for the honour of any party liable to pay the same, provided that the person so paying has previously declared before a notary public the party for whose honour he pays, and that such declaration has been recorded by such notary public.

Right of payer for honour.

116. Any person so paying is entitled to all the rights, in respect of the bill, of the holder at the time of such payment, and may recover from the party for whose honour he pays all sums so paid, with interest thereon and with all expenses properly incurred in making such payment.

CHAPTER XII.

OF COMPENSATION.

Rules as to compensation.

117. The compensation payable in case of dishonour of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, by any party liable to the holder or any indorsee, shall (except in cases provided for by the Code of Civil Procedure, section 532) be determined by the following rules :—

(a) The holder is entitled to the amount due upon the instrument, together with the expenses properly incurred in presenting, noting and protesting it ;

(b) When the person charged resides at a place different from that at which the instrument was payable, the holder is entitled to receive such sum at the current rate of exchange between the two places ;

(c) An indorser who, being liable, has paid the amount due on the same is entitled to the amount so paid with interest at six per centum per annum from the date of payment until tender or realization thereof, together with all expenses caused by the dishonour and payment ;

(d) When the person charged and such indorser reside at different places, the indorser is entitled to receive such sum at the current rate of exchange between the two places ;

(e) The party entitled to compensation may draw a bill upon the party liable to compensate him, payable at sight or on demand, for the amount due to him together with all expenses properly incurred by him. Such bill must be accompanied by the instrument dishonoured and the protest thereof (if any). If such bill is dishonoured, the party dishonouring the same is liable to make compensation thereof in the same manner as in the case of the original bill.

CHAPTER XIII.

OF CROSSED CHEQUES.

Cheque crossed generally.

118. Where a cheque bears across its face an addition of the words "and company" or any abbreviation thereof, between two parallel transverse lines, or of two parallel transverse lines simply, either with or without the words "not negotiable," that addition shall be deemed a crossing, and the cheque shall be deemed to be crossed generally.

Cheque crossed specially.

119. Where a cheque bears across its face an addition of the name of a banker, either with or without the words "not negotiable," that addition shall be deemed a crossing, and the cheque shall be deemed to be crossed specially, and to be crossed to that banker.

Crossing after issue.

120. Where a cheque is uncrossed, the holder may cross it generally or specially.

Where a cheque is crossed generally, the holder may cross it specially.

Where a cheque is crossedgenerally or specially, the holder may add the words "not negotiable."

Where a cheque is crossed specially, the banker to whom it is crossed may again cross it specially to another banker, his agent, for collection.

Payment of cheque crossed generally.

121. Where a cheque is crossed generally, the banker on whom it is drawn shall not pay it otherwise than to a banker.

Payment of cheque crossed specially.

Where a cheque is crossed specially, the banker on whom it is drawn shall not pay it otherwise than to the banker to whom it is crossed, or his agent for collection.

Payment of cheque crossed specially more than once.

122. Where a cheque is crossed specially to more than one banker, except when crossed to an agent for the purpose of collection, the banker on whom it is drawn shall refuse payment thereof.

Payment in due course of crossed cheque.

123. Where the banker on whom a crossed cheque is drawn has paid the same in due course, the banker paying the cheque, and (in case such cheque has come to the hands of the payee) the drawer thereof, shall respectively be entitled to the same rights, and be placed in the same position in all respects, as they would respectively be entitled to and placed in if the amount of the cheque had been paid to and received by the true owner thereof.

Payment of crossed cheque out of due course.

124. Any banker paying a cheque crossed generally otherwise than to a banker, or a cheque crossed specially otherwise than to the banker to whom the same is crossed, or his agent for collection, being a banker, shall be liable to the true owner of the cheque for any loss he may sustain owing to the cheque having been so paid.

Cheque bearing "not negotiable."

125. A person taking a cheque crossed generally or specially, bearing in either case the words "not negotiable," shall not have, and shall not be capable of giving, a better title to the cheque than that which the person from whom he took it had.

But a banker who has in good faith and without negligence received payment from a customer of a cheque crossed generally or specially to himself shall not, in case the title to the cheque proves defective, incur any liability to the true owner of the cheque by reason only of having received such payment.

CHAPTER XIV.

OF FOREIGN BILLS.

Set of bills.

126. Foreign bills of exchange may be drawn in parts, each part being numbered and containing a provision that it shall continue payable only so long as the others remain unpaid. All the parts together make a set; but the whole set constitutes only one bill, and is extinguished when one of the parts, if a separate bill, would be extinguished.

Exception.—When a person accepts or indorses different parts of the bill in favour of different persons, he is liable on each part as if it were a separate bill.

Holder of first acquired part entitled to all.

127. As between holders in due course of different parts of the same set, he who first acquired title to his part is entitled to the other parts and the money represented by the bill.

Drawee in case of need.

128. Where a drawee in case of need is named in a foreign bill of exchange, the bill is not dishonoured until dishonoured by such drawee.

Protest of foreign bills.

129. Foreign bills of exchange must be protested for dishonour when such protest is required by the law of the place where they are drawn.

CHAPTER XV.

OF INTERNATIONAL LAW.

Law governing liability of maker, acceptor or indorser of foreign instrument.

130. In the absence of a contract to the contrary, the liability of the maker or drawer of a foreign promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is regulated in all essential matters by the law of the place where he made the instrument, and the respective liabilities of the acceptor and indorser by the law of the place where the instrument is made payable.

Illustrations.

A bill of exchange was drawn by A in California, where the rate of interest is 25 per cent., and accepted by B, payable in Washington, where the rate of interest is 6 per cent. The bill is endorsed in British India, and is dishonoured. An action on the bill is brought against B in British India. He is liable to pay interest at the rate of 6 per cent. only; but if A is charged as drawer, A is liable to pay interest at the rate of 25 per cent.

Law of place of payment governs dishonour.

131. Where a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is made payable in a different place from that in which it is made or indorsed, the law of the place where it is made payable determines what constitutes dishonour and what notice of dishonour is sufficient.

Illustration.

A bill of exchange drawn and indorsed in British India, but accepted payable in France, is dishonoured. The indorsee causes it to be protested for such dishonour, and give notice thereof in accordance with the law of France, though not in accordance with the rules herein contained in respect of bills which are not foreign. The notice is sufficient.

Instrument made, &c., out of British India, but in accordance with its law.

132. If a negotiable instrument is made, drawn, accepted or indorsed out of British India, but in accordance with the law of British India, the circumstance that any agreement evidenced by such instrument is invalid according to the law of the country wherein it was entered into, does not invalidate any subsequent acceptance or endorsement made thereon in British India.

Presumption as to foreign law.

133. The law of any foreign country regarding promissory notes, bills of exchange and cheques shall be presumed to be the same as that of British India, unless and until the contrary is proved.

LIBERALITY OF THE MAHARAJAH OF MOHURBHUNJ.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 24th February 1879.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The under-mentioned papers regarding the offer of Rs. (20,000) twenty thousand by Maharajah Krishna Chunder Bhunge Deo, of Mohurbhunj, for the encouragement of education in Orissa, in commemoration of the services rendered to the Orissa Division by Mr. T. E. Ravenshaw, the late Commissioner:—

Letter from the Officiating Commissioner of the Orissa Division to the address of the Private Secretary to the Lieutenant-Governor, dated 27th October 1878 ... ...

Letter from Government of Bengal to Director of Public Instruction, No. 4200, dated 5th December 1878 ... ...
} Proceedings (Education), December 1878, Nos. 10-14.

Endorsement from Director of Public Instruction, No. 757, dated 6th February 1879, and enclosures.

IN August last the Maharajah of Mohurbhunj wrote to the Lieutenant-Governor expressing his desire to mark, by the expenditure of Rs. 20,000 upon some good work, his appreciation of the services rendered to the division of Orissa by the late Commissioner, Mr. Ravenshaw. The Maharajah suggested that the money might be advantageously devoted to the encouragement of female education; but at the same time expressed his readiness to acquiesce in any scheme which the Lieutenant-Governor might consider to be better suited to the present wants of the division.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor, after consulting the present Commissioner and the Director of Public Instruction, was of opinion that the time had not yet arrived for the successful introduction into the Orissa Division of any general scheme of female education, and thought it would be preferable if the money could be applied to helping to secure the permanent establishment of the Cuttack College, an object in which Mr. Ravenshaw has always taken a lively interest.

3. This view has been fully accepted by the Maharajah, who now requests that his donation of Rs. 20,000 may be invested for the permanent establishment of the Cuttack College, begging further that the College may in future be designated the "Ravenshaw College, Cuttack," in commemoration of Mr. Ravenshaw's long and good service in Orissa, and that this fact be engraved on a marble slab to be placed in the hall of the College, and separately paid for by the Maharajah.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor accepts with pleasure the very liberal gift of the Maharajah, and desires that the thanks of Government may be conveyed to him through the Commissioner of Orissa. The donation will be invested in Government Promissory Notes in the names of the Accountant-General and the Financial Secretary to this Government, and the proceeds be disbursed through the Director of Public Instruction for the benefit of the Cuttack College, which will henceforward be designated the "Ravenshaw College, Cuttack."

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for communication to the Maharajah of Mohurbhunj through the Commissioner of the Orissa Division, who should at the same time be requested to convey the thanks of Government to the Maharajah.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Accountant-General, Bengal, for information and needful action in reference to paragraph 4.

Ordered further that this Resolution be published in the next issue of the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. MACKENZIE,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTE.

Barometric Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page, by adding the weight of a column of air of the temperatures given in column 18. For stations above 500 feet elevation the reduction is made by Captain Allan Cunningham's table, "Prof. Papers on Indian Engineering, No. CXIII." The temperatures at the sea-level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 18 on the preceding page, by adding 1° Fahrenheit for every 450 feet.

Wind Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and its comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance in the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Cloud.—This column gives the average proportion of clouded sky, a cloudless sky being indicated by o, and one completely overcast by 1*o*.

The above, being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which will show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.; the maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; t, thunder; p, passing temporary shower, lr, lightning reflection, w, dew; f, foggy.

Report on the Fluctuations in traffic on the Northern Bengal State Railway for the month of January 1879.

GENERAL REMARKS.

ALTHOUGH, as will be seen on reference to the comparative statement at foot, there has been a large falling off during the month in one or two staples, notably in jute, gunny, and tea, the total weight lifted for the period under review shews an increase over December's traffic of 6,126 maunds.

INCREASES.

Food-grain ... ... Mds. 15,983

The crops are nearly all in, and business, which for a time has been almost entirely suspended in the staples carried under this head, except for local consumption, is now reviving.

The paddy crop is everywhere reported a bumper one; but until there is a greater margin than at present exists between the prices demanded by growers on the spot and the Calcutta market, no great movement towards the port can be expected.

Railway materials ... ... Mds. 8,365

The machinery for the Saidpur Workshops continues to go forward in large quantities, and several batches of material for the Darjeeling Tramway and for the extension beyond Rungpore have been despatched during the month.

Salt ... ... Mds. 172

The reason given for the increased weight carried under this head in my last month's report applies here We may, I think, look forward to a steady traffic in this staple until the rains open up water communications again to our stations.

Seeds ... ... Mds. 315

The movement in this staple has as usual been almost entirely local.

Tobacco ... ... Mds. 117

No transaction in the Calcutta market in this article is reported during the month. The small increase is due to a demand for home consumption.

All other goods ... ... Mds. 7,479

The traffic carried under this head has been particularly brisk during the month, 18,614 maunds being carried, against 12,000 maunds last month.

There was also a slight increase in the downwards miscelleneous consignments, the figures standing at 3,941 maunds, against 3,075 maunds in December.

DECREASES.

Ale ... ... Mds. 18

This is a mere trade fluctuation. There was no commissariat beer despatched during the month.

Cotton ... ... Mds. 6

The movement in this staple has up to the present time been unworthy of consideration.

Ginger ... ... Mds. 41

This article in the dry state is still being sent forward for shipment. The demand, however, is not brisk, and the slight falling off noticed is the result.

Gunny-bags ... ... Mds. 2,364

The market for gunnies of all descriptions was very dull at the beginning of the month, and although there was no decided decline in prices, sales were with difficulty effected. This was especially the case with hand-made gunnies, and for a time despatches almost ceased.

Hides ... ... Mds. 1,167

The demand for hides has been active during the month and prices have been fully maintained, yet the quantity despatched has, as is shewn, considerably fallen off. This traffic, as I have in previous reports observed, does not appear to be influenced by the ordinary rules of trade.

Jute ... ... Mds. 12,074

This large falling off is due entirely to a sudden decline of 2 annas per maund in the Calcutta market. In dealing with this decrease, however, it must be borne in mind that the traffic in this staple last month was exceptionally heavy There was a sudden jump from 18,432 maunds in November to 40,112 maunds in December, and although the result of the present month's working shews a falling off of 12,074 maunds, the total weight lifted, 28,833 maunds, would, had it not been for the exceptional traffic of December, have been considered satisfactory.

Piece-goods ... ... Mds. 348

The large despatches under this head since the cessation of the rains has resulted in the bazars becoming over-stacked.

Sugar ... ... Mds. 135

This results from a falling off in the demand for supplying the local bazars owing to the holders standing out for better prices.

Tea ... ... Mds. 10,152

As anticipated in my last report, we have now come to the end of the tea season.

Gilchrist Scholarships.

No. 19, dated India Office, London, the 31st December 1878.

From—The Secretary of State for India,
To—His Excellency the Right Honorable the Governor-General of India in Council.

MY LORD,—I forward herewith, for the information of your Excellency in Council, and for such circulation as you may deem necessary, copy of a letter* received from the Secretary to the Gilchrist Trustees, which transmitted the papers for the scholarship examinations to be held next month at Calcutta, and at the same time announces certain changes decided upon by the Trustees with respect to the languages to be brought up by candidates, and the duration of the tenure of the scholarships, which changes are to commence about a twelve-month hence.

* 4th December 1878, with printed enclosure.

2. The papers for the scholarship examinations of next month were forwarded to your Government by the mail of the 6th instant vid Brindisi.

Dated London, the 4th December 1878.

From—WILLIAM B. CARPENTER, ESQ.,
To—SIR LOUIS MALLET, C.B., &c., &c., &c.

I HAVE the honor of forwarding to you, on the part of the Gilchrist Trustees, the papers for the scholarship examinations to be held next month in the three Presidential Capitals of India.

(Sent vid Brindisi, 6th December 1878.)

At the same time, I am to inform you that as the Senate of the University of London have now admitted Sanskrit and Arabic as alternative subjects with Greek and German for their matriculation examination, the Trustees have decided that this shall henceforth be the examination by which the Indian scholarships shall be awarded, as it has been from the beginning in the case of the Colonial scholarships.

I shall accordingly cause to be forwarded to you early in December 1879 the papers for the University matriculation examination, of the regulations for which I herewith enclose three copies. It is in almost every respect identical with that hitherto conducted, except that two languages (one of which may be either Sanskrit or Arabic) must be brought up in addition to Latin. I believe that candidates will have no difficulty in obtaining instruction in French, though it is not, I believe, taught in the Presidency Colleges.

As those who pass this examination will be prepared, if they obtain the scholarship and come to England, at once to enter upon the course of study for a degree in one of the Faculties of the University, instead of requiring twelve or eighteen months for qualifying themselves to pass the matriculation examination, the Trustees have determined to shorten the tenure of the Indian scholarships from five to four years (they will still be held for a year longer than the Colonial scholarships, which are limited to three years), and the Trustees will be prepared to give favourable consideration to the case of any Indian scholar who, having taken his Bachelor's Degree with honors, is desirous of obtaining an additional year for the purpose of proceeding to the Degree of Master or Doctor. They have already granted this privilege in two cases.

I have to request that you will make these changes known in the three Presidencies.

RESOLUTION.

IN 1867 the Secretary of State communicated to the Government of India the scheme of the Gilchrist Educational Trustees for awarding two scholarships, each of the value of £100 a year and tenable for five years, to candidates born in India, who should be selected by competitive examination. The Trustees reserved to themselves the power of altering the conditions of the scholarships, or of withdrawing them altogether: provided that no change should affect the interests of existing scholarship-holders, or should be introduced without twelve months' notice.

2. The scheme as originally promulgated has since been modified in two points:

(i.) The competition, originally confined to persons of whose parents one at least belonged to one of the Native races, was extended so as to admit "all persons born in India, except those of pure European descent."*

(ii.) Shortly after the publication of the scheme in India, the Secretary of State, in accordance with a request from the Trustees, agreed to grant the sum of £100 for passage to each of the successful candidates proceeding to England, and to allow the same amount for a return passage to India to such of them as might forfeit their scholarships by failing to pass the prescribed University examinations, or from any other cause.

* Enclosure of Secretary of State's despatch to the Government of Bombay, No. 8, dated 16th December 1867.

It was subsequently represented to the Trustees that under this arrangement a concession was made to unsuccessful scholars which was not, as a rule, granted to successful scholars; and it was suggested to them that as the passages of all scholars to England and the return passages of unsuccessful scholars were provided from the Indian revenues, it might be proper that successful scholars should receive their return passage to India from the funds of the Trust. On this, the Trustees consented to assign a sum not exceeding £50 for the return passage of each successful scholar whose passage should not have been otherwise provided for, and the Secretary of State decided to reduce the allowance made to unsuccessful scholars for their return passage from £100 to £50 †

† Secretary of State's despatch to the Government of India, No 1, dated 18th January 1877.

3. The Secretary of State now forwards‡ a letter from the Gilchrist Educational Trustees announcing important changes in—

‡ Secretary of State's despatch No. 19, dated 31st December 1878.

(i) the subjects in which candidates are examined, and
(ii) the term for which the scholarships are tenable.

Hitherto the subjects in which candidates have been examined have been Latin, the English Language and History, Arithmetic and Algebra, Geometry, Natural Philosophy, and Chemistry. In every respect, except as regards languages, the course for the Gilchrist Scholarships has been substantially the same, in point of character and difficulty, as the course laid down for matriculation at the London University. But as certain additional languages are required by the latter course, successful candidates, on their arrival in England, have found themselves compelled to study for twelve or eighteen months before passing the matriculation examination.

4. The Senate of the London University have recently admitted Sanskrit or Arabic as alternative subjects with Greek, French, and German for their matriculation examination, and the matriculation course now stands as follows:—

Candidates shall not be approved by the Examiners unless they have shewn a competent knowledge in each of the following subjects according to the details specified under the several heads:—

(1) Latin;
(2) Any two* of the following languages: Greek, French, German, and either Sanskrit or Arabic;
(3) The English Language, English History, and Modern Geography;
(4) Mathematics;
(5) Natural Philosophy;
(6) Chemistry.

The following are the particulars of the foregoing subjects of examination:—

The paper in Latin shall contain passages to be translated into English, with questions in History and Geography arising out of the subjects of the book selected. Short and easy passages shall also be set for translation from other books not so selected. A separate paper shall be set containing questions in Latin Grammar, with simple and easy sentences of English to be translated into Latin.‡

GREEK.§

One Greek subject, to be selected by the Senate one year and a half previously from the works of the under-mentioned authors.‖

The paper in French shall contain passages for translation into English, and questions in Grammar, limited to the Accidence.

GERMAN.

The paper in German shall contain passages for translation into English, and questions in Grammar, limited (except when German is taken as an alternative for Greek) to the Accidence.

5. In consequence of the introduction into the language test of Sanskrit and Arabic, the Gilchrist Educational Trustees have decided that the matriculation course of the London University shall henceforth be the standard for the Indian Gilchrist Scholarships, as it has been from the first for the corresponding Colonial Scholarships. And in view of the fact that candidates who gain scholarships by this examination will be qualified on their arrival in England at once to enter upon the course of study for a degree in one of the Faculties of the University, the Trustees have further determined to reduce the tenure of the Indian Scholarships from five to four years, as set forth in the following extract from the Regulations of the University of London:—

III. INDIAN SCHOLARSHIPS.—Two scholarships, each of the value of one hundred pounds per annum, and tenable for four years, are annually awarded to the two candidates who pass highest in the examination carried on at the three presidential capitals, and corresponding with the matriculation examination: provided that such candidates pass either in the Honors or in the First Division, and are desirous of prosecuting their studies, either at the University of Edinburgh or at University College, London, with a view to graduation in one of the four Faculties of the University of London.

Even with this reduction the Indian Scholarships will still be held for one year longer than the Colonial Scholarships, and the Trustees will be prepared to give favourable consideration to the case of any Indian scholar who, having taken his Bachelor's Degree with

* The questions in Natural Philosophy will be of a strictly elementary character.

Honors, is desirous of obtaining an additional year's tenure of his scholarship for the purpose of proceeding to the degree of Master or Doctor. This privilege has already been granted in two cases.

6. The changes now sanctioned will take effect at the examination to be held in the three Presidency towns during the second week of January 1880. Candidates who present themselves at that examination will be examined in the full matriculation course of the London University; and the winners of the scholarships will hold them for four years only, unless they are admitted to the special privilege of retaining their scholarships in order to proceed to a further degree. It will also be observed that Acoustics, which has hitherto formed a part of the examination for the Gilchrist Scholarships, is not included in the matriculation course of the London University.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution and of the Secretary of State's despatch to the Government of India, No. 19 of 1878, dated 31st December, and of its enclosure, be forwarded to local Governments and Administrations for information and for republication in the local gazettes.

We have considered a memorial on the provisions of the Bill signed by the manufacturing firms noted in the margin.

We have empowered the Lieutenant-Governor to make rules for appointing, suspending, and removing Inspectors, and for determining the time for which certificates are to be in force.

We have provided that the rules must be published three times in the Calcutta Gazette before they take effect.

In section 7 we have substituted for "not so exposed as to be likely to cause injury to any person" the words "not so exposed as to be likely to be dangerous."

We have provided that the Inspector shall make his inspection within fourteen days from the receipt of notice from the owner.

The Bill empowered the Inspector to order any alteration or addition to be made if he thought that the boiler or prime-mover required it. We have allowed an appeal against an order of this kind to a person authorized by the Lieutenant-Governor to hear such appeal, either sitting alone, or assisted by two experts.

We have also allowed a like appeal in case of revocation or suspension of a certificate.

The Lieutenant-Governor is empowered to make rules for regulating the procedure on the hearing of appeals, and for securing the attendance of assessors.

We have provided that if the appellant is successful, the expenses incurred by the Government in the appeal shall be paid by the Government. If the appeal is dismissed, the appellant will have to pay these expenses.

We have authorized Inspectors to enter any place where they have reason to believe that a boiler or prime-mover is used, and have provided a penalty for obstruction of such entry.

We have re-arranged some sections of the Bill, and have made some verbal alterations.

AMENDED BILL.

A Bill to provide for the periodical inspection of Steam Boilers and Prime Movers attached thereto in the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta and in Howrah.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the periodical inspection of steam boilers and prime movers attached thereto in the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta and in Howrah; It is enacted as follows:—

Extent and commencement of Act.

1. This Act extends to the Town of Calcutta, to the Suburbs of Calcutta, and to Howrah, as from time to time defined in the Calcutta Gazette under the provisions of any law for the time being in force; and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor General.

Lieutenant-Governor may extend it further.

The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may, by notification published in the Calcutta Gazette, extend this Act to any place or district, and it shall come into force accordingly from the date which may be named in such notification.

It shall not apply to any locomotive engine used upon any railway, or to any steam vessel in the port of Calcutta.

Repeal of Bengal Acts VI of 1864 and III of 1875.

2. Bengal Act VI of 1864 and Bengal Act III of 1875 are hereby repealed.

But all certificates and rules in force at the commencement of this Act, which were granted or made under either of the said Acts, shall be deemed to have been granted and made respectively under this Act.

Interpretation.

3. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context,—

"Boiler."

"Boiler" includes any cylinder or vessel for generating steam under pressure.

"Prime Mover."

"Prime Mover" includes any steam engine, fly wheel, first driving shaft and pulley attached to any such engine.

"Owner."

"Owner" includes any agent or hirer using any boiler or prime mover.

Power to make rules.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time make, and when made, revoke, add to, and alter, rules for all or any of the following purposes, that is to say,—

(1) for appointing and, when appointed, suspending or removing Inspectors under this Act;

(2) for determining the powers and duties of such Inspectors;

(3) for fixing the fees payable on account of certificates granted under this Act;

(4) for determining the time for which certificates granted under this Act shall be in force;

(5) for securing the attendance of assessors and affixing a penalty for non-attendance;

(6) for regulating the procedure on hearing appeals;

(7) for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

Such rules shall be published three times in the Calcutta Gazette, and shall come into operation at the date of the last publication or at any later period mentioned in the order.

On notice from owner an Inspector to examine boiler or prime mover.

5. The owner of any boiler or prime mover in respect of which a certificate is not in force in the manner hereinafter described shall, before using the same, give notice to an Inspector appointed under this Act of his intention to use or continue to use the same. The Inspector to whom such notice is given shall appoint a time between sunrise and sunset, and within fourteen days from the receipt of such notice, for the inspection of such boiler or prime mover, and at such time shall carefully examine such boiler or prime mover, and every part thereof, and the owner or person in charge thereof shall afford to such Inspector all reasonable facilities for such examination, and all such information as may reasonably be required.

Inspector may order owner to alter boiler or prime mover.

6. If on making the inspection the Inspector is of opinion that the boiler or prime mover requires any alteration or addition, he shall serve on the owner or person in charge thereof a written notice requiring him to make such alteration or addition, and no certificate shall be granted in respect of such boiler or prime mover until such alteration or addition has been made in the manner required by the Inspector, or the owner has obtained a certificate under section 9 of this Act.

When Inspector to grant certificate.

7. If the Inspector is satisfied that such boiler or prime mover is in good condition, and not so exposed as to be likely to be dangerous, and, in case any alteration or addition in such boiler or prime mover has been ordered under the last preceding section, as soon as he is satisfied that such alteration or addition has been properly made, he shall give to the owner or person in charge thereof a certificate signed by him to that effect in the form in the Schedule hereto annexed, on payment, by the owner or person in charge, of such fees as may be fixed under the rules hereinbefore mentioned; and such certificate shall state the period for which such boiler or prime mover may be used, and shall cease to be in force on the expiration of such period.

Revocation or suspension of certificate.

8. Any person authorized by the Lieutenant-Governor in that behalf may revoke or suspend any certificate granted under this Act when he has reason to believe—

(1) That such certificate has been fraudulently obtained, or has been granted erroneously, or without sufficient inspection;

(2) That the boiler or prime mover in respect of which it has been granted is not in charge of a person competent to have charge of it, or has since the granting of such certificate sustained injury, or is not in good condition.

Appeal against refusal, revocation or suspension of certificate.

9. The owner of any boiler or prime mover dissatisfied with any notice or order under sections 6, 7, or 8 of this Act may, within seven days from receipt thereof, appeal either to some person authorized by the Lieutenant-Governor in that behalf, or to such person assisted by two experts as assessors.

If such person is satisfied that the owner is entitled to a certificate, he shall, on payment of the fee, grant a certificate in the form in the Schedule hereto annexed, or shall allow the former certificate to continue in force, as the case may be, and shall direct that the expenses of the appeal incurred by Government and certified to by him shall be paid out of the fees and penalties realised under this Act.

If such person decides that the owner is not entitled to a certificate, he shall dismiss the appeal, and the expenses of the appeal incurred and certified in manner aforesaid shall be recoverable from the owner as a fine by any Magistrate having jurisdiction in the place where the boiler or prime mover is situated.

Power of entry of Inspectors.

10. Any Inspector appointed under this Act may at any time enter into any place where he has reason to believe that a boiler or prime mover is used, for the purpose of inspecting the same.

Penalties.

11. The owner or person in charge of any boiler or prime mover who shall use, or, after conviction, continue to use the same without a certificate duly obtained and in force in respect thereof under this Act, or having obtained a certificate shall at any reasonable time during the period for which the same may be in force, fail to produce it when called upon to do so by any Magistrate having jurisdiction in the place in which such boiler or prime mover is situated, or by any person authorized in writing by such Magistrate to demand its production, and any person who shall prevent an Inspector from entering any place or building where the Inspector has reason to believe that a boiler or prime mover is used,

shall be punished with a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

Charges within what period to be brought.

12. No charge shall be brought against any person for the recovery of any penalty under this Act before such day as the Lieutenant-Governor shall fix by notification in the Calcutta Gazette; and no charge at all shall be brought without the authority of an Inspector appointed under this Act, or after the expiration of six months from the date of the commission of the offence.

Disposal of penalties.

13. All penalties to be levied under this Act shall, subject to the provisions of section 9, be disposed of in such manner as the Lieutenant-Governor shall from time to time direct.

Fourth Note by the Hon'ble Whitley Stokes, dated 9th January, 1879.
Forms of Instruments taken from a Bengálí book of forms received from Mr. O'Kinealy.

2. The principal objections taken to this Bill in its second form are, first, that, as a whole, it is heterogeneous, and, secondly, that certain parts of it are neither necessary nor expedient. It is said, for instance, that, though the bulk of the Bill deals with transfer of property inter vivos by act of parties, it also treats, in sections 82, 83, of conditions in Wills, and, in section 129, of Succession to a deceased person. It is said, again, that the chapters dealing respectively with the rights and liabilities of owners of limited interests and with property held by several persons belong rather to the subject of the enjoyment, than to that of the transfer, of property. It is urged that settlements (in the conveyancer's sense of the word) are hardly ever made in India, that what are technically called Powers are almost unknown, and that the chapters respectively dealing with those subjects are certainly not necessary and can hardly be said to be expedient. We feel the force of these objections. In fact, we have always felt them. But we were not responsible for the first draft of the Bill, whatever were its excellences or defects. The matters thus objected to, together with others, such as Registration and Trusts, still more foreign to the proper subject of the Bill, are all dealt with by the draft prepared by the late Indian Law Commission, which was sent out in 1870 by the then Secretary of State with instructions to introduce a Bill founded upon it, revised by Sir A. Hobhouse and sent home by the Government of India in January, 1877, i. e., nearly six months before the Bill was introduced and referred to a Select Committee. The great deference due to the Law Commission and to Sir A. Hobhouse has hitherto prevented us from dealing freely with the Bill. Until the opinions of the Local Governments and the results of local experience had been obtained, for us to have altered it would have been to set our individual views against those of the able and learned men who were answerable for the Bill as introduced. But now that the opinions and results above referred to have been obtained, we see that, if the Bill is to go on at all, it must be strictly confined to the subject of transfer of property by act of parties, that is to say, by contract or gift.

3. We have therefore omitted chapters VII to XII both inclusive.

4. We cannot maintain that they are in accordance with one of the canons laid down in our last report, namely, that no additions should be made to the existing law "which are not either necessary or clearly expedient." The chapters dealing respectively with settlements, the rights and liabilities of owners of limited interests, and property held by several persons, are, moreover, very incomplete; and, as Natives are excluded from chapter IX, it would apply to a very limited class of persons. Chapter XI (of Powers) would also be of little use. We believe that among Natives powers are almost unknown. So far as we are aware, the only reported cases in which anything like a power was given by a Native are in 2 Calc. 474, and N.-W. P. (1869) Part II, p. 6, in each of which cases a Hindú bequeathed land to his wife and expressly empowered her to alienate it, and in 5 Beng. 181, where a Hindú testator empowered his sister to appoint a trustee of a religious endowment. Moreover, powers may be created by will and are, as often as not, exerciseable by will. The subject therefore does not properly fall within a measure treating of the transfer of property, that is, as lawyers generally understand the expression, the conveyance of property from one living person to another.

5. As the Bill is, so far as it deals with immoveable property and debts, only a partial measure, we have made the preamble run thus:—"Whereas it is expedient to define and amend certain parts of the law relating to the transfer of property by act of parties." Compare the preamble to the Indian Contract Act, IX of 1872.

CHAPTER I.—Preliminary.

6. In section 2, we have expressly saved all transfers by operation of law (e. g., in case of insolvency, forfeiture, sale in execution of a decree), with which the Bill is not intended to deal.

7. In section 3 we have omitted, as unnecessary, the definitions of "grantor," "grantee," and "grant;" and, for the last paragraph, we have said: "Chapters III, IV, V and VI of this Act shall be taken as part of the Indian Contract Act, 1872."

CHAPTER II.—Of Assurances of Immoveable Property.

8. This chapter should we think be entitled "Of Transfers of Immoveable Property," as it relates to all transfers of such property, whether or not an assurance is employed. We have omitted section 5 and the schedule to which it relates: they do not fitly form part of a Bill dealing with substantive law. Moreover, English experience shews that statutory forms of conveyances are rarely used, and they are dangerous, as tempting unskilled persons to try and be their own conveyancers.

9. Section 6 applies to transfers of immoveable property made by assurance; but it obviously ought to apply also to oral transfers of such property. We have therefore re-drawn it.

10. In section 7, we have provided for the case of a Sebáit, which has twice come before the Judicial Committee. (See 14 Beng. 450, and I. L. R. 2 Calc. 341).

11. As rents and profits of land are 'immoveable property,' we have, after this section, inserted section 1 of Act XI of 1855:—

"No person shall be chargeable with any rents or profits of any immoveable property which he has in good faith paid or delivered to any person of whom he in good faith held the same, notwithstanding it may afterwards appear that the person to whom such payment or delivery was made had no right to receive such rents or profits."

This section now applies only to cases to which the English law is applicable; but there seems no reason why so equitable and useful a rule should not be extended to every one in India.

12. Section 8 of Bill No. III applies not only to cases where land has passed inter vivos by act of parties, but also to cases in which it has been transferred by operation of law. It therefore seems beyond the scope of the Bill.

13. The Bill is silent as to the doctrine of lis pendens, which has in about a dozen reported cases been applied to Native purchasers and mortgagees (see 11 Bom. 24, 29, 30, 139; 8 Beng. 474; 1 O'Kin. 303, 309; 10 W. R. 469; Sev. 808, 951). We have inserted the following:—

"10. During the active prosecution in any Court having authority in British India or established beyond the limits of British India by the Governor General in Council, of a suit in which the right to any immoveable property is directly and specifically in question, the property cannot be transferred by any party to the suit so as to affect the rights of any other party thereto under any decree or order made therein."

14. Section 9 of Bill No. III (as to the effect of payment by one person, of consideration for which a transfer is made to another) properly belongs to the Trusts Bill and should, we think, be omitted from the present measure.

CHAPTER III.—Sales of Immoveable Property.

15. In accordance with a suggestion of Mr. Justice Cunningham we have prefixed to this chapter a section founded on section 78 of the Contract Act; but we do not think with him that the section should provide for part delivery, an expression which, in the sense in which it is used in the Contract Act, section 92, would be inappropriate as applied to land, nor do we consider that, in stating the time at which delivery takes place, the effect of executing and delivering the assurance should be ignored.

The section referred to is as follows :—

Sale how effected. "Sale of immoveable property is effected by offer and acceptance of certain immoveable property for a price, or of a price for certain immoveable property,

"together with payment of the price and delivery of the property, or with tender, part-payment or earnest ; or with an agreement, express or implied, that the payment, or delivery, or both, shall be postponed.

"Where there is a contract for the sale of immoveable property, the ownership of the property passes to the buyer when the whole or part of the price, or when the earnest, is paid, or when the property is delivered.

"If the parties agree, expressly or by implication, that the payment, or delivery, or both, shall be postponed, the ownership passes as soon as the proposal for sale is accepted.

"Delivery of immoveable property takes place—

"(a) if the transfer is made by assurance—when the assurance is executed and delivered by the seller, and (if its registration is required by law) registered :

"(b) if the transfer is not made by assurance, in the case of a reversion or other intangible thing—when the parties consent to its delivery, and in the case of other immoveable property—when the buyer becomes capable of exercising physical control over it and determines to exercise such control on his own behalf or on behalf of the person whom he represents."

This will have the effect of settling a moot point of Hindú law, namely, whether change of possession is necessary to complete a sale of land, whether, in other words, the vendor must, at the time of sale, be in possession of the property sold (I. L. R. 1 Calc. 302 : I. L. R. 1 Bomb. 502 : N. W. P. 1871, p. 2 : contra 7 Bomb. A. C. J. 4 : 10 Bomb. 491). This question is answered in the negative by the Calcutta High Court and Mr. J. D. Mayne, a considerable authority on Hindú law.

16. We have omitted clauses (d) and (i) of section 11 (now 12). The former is, as Mr. Jacob points out, provided for by the Contract Act, section 39 ; the latter by section 10 of the same Act. On the other hand, we have restored clauses (e) and (f) of Bill No. I, modified as follows :—

"Till the ownership of the property passes to the buyer, the seller is entitled to the rents and profits thereof.

"When the ownership of the property has passed to the buyer, he must bear any loss arising from the destruction, injury or deterioration of the property not caused by the seller, and he is entitled to the benefit of any improvement in, or increase in value of, the property and to the rents and profits thereof."

The latter clause corresponds with the provision of the Contract Act, section 86, as to goods.

17. We have recast and abridged section 10 (now 13) as follows :—

Disclosures required from seller and buyer. "The following omissions are fraudulent :—

"(a) an omission of the seller of immoveable property to disclose to the buyer any defect therein of which the seller is, and the buyer is not, aware, and which the buyer could not with ordinary care discover :

"(b) an omission of the buyer of immoveable property to disclose to the seller any fact as to the nature or extent of the seller's interest therein, of which the buyer is, and the seller is not, aware, and which increases the value of such interest."

This will attract section 17, clause (5), of the Contract Act, which declares that "fraud" includes "any such omission as the law specially declares to be fraudulent."

18. As the Bill is now strictly limited to transfers by act of parties, we have omitted section 13, as to the procedure where the buyer becomes insolvent before completion. For the same reason we have also omitted section 73, as to the procedure where, during the continuance of a lease, the lessee becomes insolvent.

19. Section 17 (now 18), as to joint purchases. We have added, as Mr. Field suggests : "In the absence of evidence as to the shares so advanced, such persons shall be presumed to be equally interested in the property."

CHAPTER IV.—Of Exchanges.

20. As this chapter deals with moveable as well as immoveable property, we have placed it after the chapter on leases and we have omitted the first paragraph of section 22 as the matter seems sufficiently provided for by Act IX of 1872, sections 64, 65, and Act I of 1867, sections 25, 37.

CHAPTER V.—Of Mortgages of Immoveable Property.

21. Section 27.—We fear that the abolition of equitable mortgages here proposed by the Law Commissioners would inconvenience the mercantile community. We have thought it better to say that a mortgage by deposit of title-deeds shall be deemed to create a charge on the property comprised therein and to insert the necessary clause in section 68 (now 63).

22. We have provided, in accordance with a suggestion of Mr. Field, that in the case of an usufructuary mortgage, the mortgagor may recover possession of the property, (1) where the mortgagee is authorized to pay himself from the rents and profits of the property the principal and interest of the mortgage-money—when such principal and interest are so paid ; (2) where the mortgagee is authorized to pay himself from such rents and profits the interest of the mortgage-money—when the term (if any) of the mortgage expires and the mortgagor pays or tenders to the mortgagee, or deposits in such Court as last aforesaid, the principal of the mortgage-money."

23. Section 29 (now 24).—We have here declared the duty of a mortgagor to take all legal means to protect his rights in the mortgaged property (Macph. 112).

24. Section 31 (now 27).—This provided only for voluntary waste. We have now provided that the mortgagor is not liable for permissive waste.

25. Section 42 (now 39), clause (c).—We have added, in order to meet the case of patní tenures and saleable under-tenures, "and any arrears of rent in default of payment of which the property may be summarily sold."

We have provided that a mortgagee in possession ought to do such repairs as he can pay for out of the rents received after his interest is paid (see 9 W. R. 488).

We have omitted clause (e). The right which it gives is, as Mr. Field says, part of the mortgagee's right to take possession, which, as a general rule, finds no place in the Bill.

Where sufficient tender is made, the mortgagee in possession is thenceforth accountable for all his receipts from the mortgaged property (9 N.-W. P. 1: Macph. 159—160). We have provided for this.

26. Section 60 (now 57).—When a mortgagor obtains a decree in a redemption-suit and fails to pay the amount due, we think the mortgagee should be entitled either to a foreclosure or a sale. We have altered this section accordingly.

27. Section 61 (now 58).—We have omitted the second paragraph and the schedule to which it refers. It is hardly the function of a Bill codifying substantive law to give forms of decrees. They should, if necessary, be added to schedule IV of the Code of Civil Procedure.

CHAPTER VI.—Of Leases.

28. Section 70 (now 66).—We have substituted a section analogous to that above proposed as a substitute for section 10.

29. Section 71 (now 65).—We have struck out clauses (c) and (g). The former is superfluous, the latter is provided for by the Contract Act, sections 64 and 73.

Clause (l) now (j).—With reference to Couch, C. J.'s, decision in Koegler v. Yule, 5 Beng. 401, 416, we think this clause should run thus: "The lessee may use the property leased and its products (if any) as a reasonable owner would use them, but he must not use the property for a purpose other than that for which it was leased, or fell timber, open mines or quarries, or commit any other act which is destructive or permanently injurious thereto." We have added "The prohibition in this clause does not apply to mines which were open when the lease was granted."—See 8 Chan. Div. 526.

Clause (q) now (o).—We have inserted words in the proviso to shew that the lessor's transferee is not entitled to arrears of rent due before the transfer.

Clause (r) now (p).—We have made (in accordance with a suggestion of the Government of the North-Western Provinces) the second paragraph to run thus: "Nothing in this clause shall be deemed to authorize a tenant having a right of occupancy, the farmer of an estate in respect of which default has been made in paying revenue, and the lessee of an estate under the management of a Court of Wards, to assign his interest as such tenant, farmer or lessee."

30. Section 76 (now 70).—We have completed the list of events on which a lease determines.

31. We have redrawn the clause as to waiver of forfeiture and notice. It is now numbered 71, 72.

32. We have inserted a section (74) as to the effect of surrender and forfeiture of a lease, on sub-lessees.

33. We have made some other comparatively unimportant omissions, additions and alterations in wording and arrangement. We have added on the margins references to the reported decisions of the Indian Courts and the Judicial Committee, which justify the rules contained in the Bill. It will be seen that but few of these rules are devoid of this valuable support. The assertion that the Bill would introduce a mass of new law into India must therefore be due to ignorance of the extent to which English law (under the name of justice, equity and good conscience) is actually administered to the Natives by the Anglo-Indian Courts. The object of the Bill, like that of all our Codes, is to strip our own law of all that is local and historical, and to mould the residue into a shape in which it would be suitable for an Indian population and could be easily administered by non-professional Judges. But the Bill will introduce hardly any new substantive law, and it will not (except in the case of the procedure relating to mortgages) displace any existing enactment. The rules, for instance, as to the relation of landlord and tenant contained in the local Acts, X of 1859, XVIII of 1873, XIX of 1868, XXVIII of 1868, Bengal Act VIII of 1869, and Madras Act VIII of 1865, will all remain untouched.

34. To the body of local usages and contractual incidents which in India, as in other countries, exists as to the transfer of land the tenderest care is shewn by the Bill. Not only is local usage expressly saved in sections 62, 65 and 68, but the effect of section 1, clause (a), will be to maintain intact the statutory force which the legislature has given to local usage in those two pays de coutumes the Panjáb and Oudh; and throughout India all the many incidents of a mortgage or a lease, which are not inconsistent with the provisions of the Bill, will remain wholly unaffected.

35. The Bill, and preliminary report of the Select Committee have been published in English in the Presidency-towns, the Panjáb, the Central Provinces and British Burma.

From the North-Western Provinces no report of publication has been received. Publication of the Bill and Report in the vernacular has been reported only by the Government of Bengal. We recommend that the Bill as now altered be published in the Gazette of India and sent to the various Local Governments for opinion. And we think that no further steps should be taken upon the Bill until it has been reported on by the new Indian Law Commission.

CALCUTTA;
The 19th February, 1879.

I concur in all the omissions and amendments made by the Committee and in their final recommendation; but I believe the Bill to be capable of further simplification and regret to notice the almost entire absence of illustrations.

T. H. THORNTON.

I have not had time to consider either the provisions of the Bill or the changes now made thoroughly; but I agree that the chapters on Powers, Settlements, &c., should be omitted, and think these omissions necessitate republication with a view to elicit fresh criticism to be laid before the new Commission.

I would modify the new section 11 by requiring a written instrument in all cases where the value of the property sold is Rs. 100 or upwards. This will involve registration and get rid of the inconvenience and anomaly which would arise from oral sales of valuable land with deferred possession and no registration. Subject to the above remarks, I approve of the additions now made to the Bill.

G. H. P. EVANS.

I concur in all the omissions and agree that there should be a further publication.

G. C. PAUL.

I am opposed to the republication of this Bill at the present time. I believe that there is a great deal still left in the Bill which it will be desirable to omit, as relating to matters on which legislation is not called for; and I think that there should be no further publication until the Law Commission have reported on the measure.

A. J. ARBUTHNOT.

I am inclined to think that there can be no harm in republishing the Bill in its present form (though I must say that I believe it admits of further improvement), inasmuch as the republication will elicit public criticisms which may be of some use to the Law Commission.

4. Chapters III, IV, V and VI of this Act shall be construed as one with the Indian Contract Act, 1872.

Chapters III, IV, V and VI to be part of Act IX of 1872.

OF TRANSFERS OF IMMOVEABLE PROPERTY.

5. Every person competent to contract may make a transfer of immoveable property: but subject to the law for the time being in force as to the circumstances and extent in and to which he may dispose of such property.

Persons competent to make transfers of immoveable property.

Bill, s. 4. Report, s. 4.

6. Unless a different intention is expressed or necessarily implied, a transfer of immoveable property vests in the transferee all the interest which the transferor is then capable of passing therein and in the legal incidents thereof.

Operation of transfer.

Bill, s. 10: Report, s. 10. v. last clause, Report, s. 6: 2 W. R. 125 (buildings): 14 W. R. 379.

Such incidents include (where the property is land) the easements annexed thereto, the mines and minerals thereunder, and the standing trees, and all other products of the soil, and (where the property is machinery attached to the earth) the moveable parts thereof, and (where the property is a house) the easements annexed thereto and its locks, keys, bars, doors, windows, pankhas, half-doors, mats and blinds.

7. The transferor of immoveable property cannot give to another a title thereto better than his own, and where he has only a restricted power of alienating the property, he cannot give to another a title thereto valid as against third parties, except upon an alienation within the restriction:

Title which transferor of immoveable property can give.

9 Moo. I. A. 303.

Provided that where the transferor is (a) the manager of the property of a minor, an undivided family, or an endowed temple, (b) a sonless Hindú widow in possession of her deceased husband's property, or (c) a trustee, benámídár or other ostensible owner, the transferee's title shall not be impeached if the transfer has been made for a consideration and the transferee has acted in good faith and used due care and diligence to ascertain that the transferor had power to make the transfer.

Protection to innocent transferees for value.

11. Sale of immoveable property is effected by offer and acceptance of certain immoveable property for a price, or of a price for certain immoveable property,

Sale how effected.

together with payment of the price and delivery of the property, or with tender, part-payment or earnest; or with an agreement, express or implied, that the payment, or delivery, or both, shall be postponed.

Where there is a contract for the sale of immoveable property, the ownership of the property passes to the buyer when the whole or part of the price, or when the earnest, is paid, or when the property is delivered.

If the parties agree, expressly or by implication, that the payment, or delivery, or both, shall be postponed, the ownership passes as soon as the proposal for sale is accepted.

Delivery of immoveable property takes place—

14 Beng. 307, 312: N.-W. P. 1866, p. 87. Consider 12 W. R. P. C. 6: as to delivery of assurance, W. R. 1864, p. 222: 5 W. R. 248: Morley N. S. 358.

(a) if the transfer is made by assurance—when the assurance is executed and delivered by the seller, and (if its registration is required by law) registered:

Right to redeem, N.-W. P. 1868, p. 376.

(b) if the transfer is not made by assurance, in the case of a reversion or other intangible thing—when the parties consent to the delivery, and in the case of other immoveable property—when the buyer becomes capable of exercising physical control over it and determines to exercise such control on his own behalf or on behalf of the person whom he represents.

Bill, s. 11: Bill II, s. 11: Report, s. 14.

12. In the absence of a contract to the contrary, the buyer and the seller of immoveable property respectively have the rights, and are subject to the liabilities, mentioned in the ten rules next following, or such of them as are applicable to the property sold:

Rights and liabilities of buyer and seller.

(a). The seller must produce to the buyer, for examination, all documents of title relating to the property which are in his possession or power, and must inform the buyer of all facts not apparent thereon of which the seller is aware and which affect the seller's power to fulfil his contract, and must answer to the best of his information all relevant questions put to him by the buyer in respect to the property or the title thereto.

Desai Gheldi v. Jiváráj Mukundás, Bom. 432 (right to have good title shewn). Abstract of title, Bom. 78.

(b). Till the ownership of the property passes to the buyer, the seller is entitled to the rents and profits thereof.

Bill, 11 (c).

(c). When the ownership of the property has passed to the buyer, he must bear any loss arising from the destruction, injury or decrease in value of the property not caused by the seller, and he is entitled to the benefit of any improvement in, or increase in value of, the property, and to the rents and profits thereof.

Cf. Act IX of 1872, s. 86. Bill, 11 (f).

(d). When the buyer has been let into possession of the property before payment of the whole of the purchase-money, the seller has a charge upon the property for the amount of the purchase-money, or any part thereof, remaining unpaid, and for interest on such amount or part; but as soon as the assurance, if any, is registered, such charge shall cease except as against the buyer.

3 Bom. A. C. J. 102. 2 Hay 577.

(e). Unless the buyer has improperly declined to accept delivery of the property, he has, against the seller, a charge on the property, to the extent of the seller's interest therein, for the amount of any purchase-money properly paid by the buyer in anticipation of the delivery, and for interest on the amount of such payment; and, when the buyer properly declines to accept the delivery, also for the earnest (if any) and for his costs (if any) of a suit by himself or the seller to compel specific performance of the contract or to obtain a decree for its rescission.

3 Beng. O. C. J. 79.

(f). When the buyer has been let into beneficial possession of the property before payment of the price, and the price is not paid owing to defects in the seller's title, the buyer is not liable to pay for such possession.

(g). The seller must discharge all incumbrances on the property existing at the date of the contract. The buyer may retain, out of the unpaid purchase-money, the amount of such incumbrances, and shall pay the amount so retained to the parties entitled thereto.

(h). On payment or tender of the amount due in respect of the price, the seller is bound to execute a proper assurance of the property when the buyer tenders it to him for execution at a proper time and place.

(i). On delivery of the property, the buyer is entitled to all documents of title relating thereto which are in the seller's possession or power.

Provided that (1) where the seller retains any part of the property comprised in such documents, he is entitled to retain them all, and (2) where the whole of such property is sold to different buyers, the buyer of the lot of greatest value is entitled to such documents. But in case (1) the seller, and in case (2) the buyer of the lot of greatest value, is bound, upon every reasonable request by the buyer, or by any of the other buyers, as the case may be, or by any person claiming under him, and at the cost of the person making the request, to produce the said documents and furnish such true copies thereof as he may require; and, in the meantime, the seller or the buyer, as the case may be, of the lot of greatest value, must keep the said documents safe, uncancelled and undefaced, unless prevented from so doing by fire or other inevitable accident.

s. 41 (1) altered. W. P. 1867, P. 99: 7 W. R. 196: 6 W. R. 152: 25 W. R. 46.

(j). Unless the sale is made by a person in a fiduciary character, the seller shall be deemed to contract with the buyer, first, that notwithstanding anything done by the seller or any person through whom he claims, the seller has power to transfer the property to the buyer, free from incumbrances;

secondly, that the seller and all persons claiming any interest in the same through or for him, or any person through whom he claims, will on demand execute and deliver to the buyer at his expense any further assurance of the same that may reasonably be required; rther assurance, 5 W. R. P. C. 111.

and, where the property is leasehold, thirdly, that the lease is valid and subsisting and that the rent reserved thereby, the conditions contained therein and the contracts binding on the lessee have been paid, performed and observed down to the delivery.

When the sale is made by a person in a fiduciary character, the seller shall be deemed to contract with the buyer that the seller has done no act whereby the property is incumbered or whereby he is hindered from transferring it.

Bill II, s. 10.

Disclosures required from seller and buyer.

13. The following omissions are fraudulent:—

7 W. R., 258. Cf. Act IX of 1872, ss. 17, clause (5), 19.

(a) an omission of the seller of immoveable property to disclose to the buyer any defect therein of which the seller is, and the buyer is not, aware, and which the buyer could not with ordinary care discover:

(b) an omission of the buyer of immoveable property to disclose to the seller any fact as to the nature or extent of the seller's interest therein, of which the buyer is, and the seller is not, aware, and which increases the value of such interest.

Bill, s. 12. Bill II, s. 12: Report, s. 15: 7 W. R. 38.

Contract for sale not of itself to create interest in property.

Bill II, s. 14.

Liability of buyer of leasehold.

15. As between the seller and buyer of leasehold property, the buyer is, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, bound to pay the rent reserved by the lease and accruing due after delivery of the property, to perform the contracts entered into by the lessee, and to indemnify the seller against all claims arising after the delivery in respect of non-payment of such rent or breach or non-observance of such contracts.

Bill II, s. 15.

Liability of buyer of right to redeem.

16. As between the seller and buyer of a right to redeem mortgaged property, the buyer is, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, bound (a) to pay to the mortgagee the principal sum which, on delivery of the right, is due on the mortgage, and all interest from time to time due for the same, when payment thereof, respectively, is lawfully demanded, and (b) to indemnify the seller against the payment thereof, and against all claims for non-payment thereof, respectively.

Bill II, s. 16.

Money received by seller under fire-policy.

Bill II, s. 17.

Joint purchases.

18. When two or more persons purchase any immoveable property, with separate funds belonging to them respectively, they shall, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, be interested in such property in proportion to the shares of the purchase-money which they respectively advanced.

In the absence of evidence as to the shares so advanced, such persons shall be presumed to be equally interested in the property.

Bill II, s. 18: 7 W. R. 483.

Right of buyer of one of two properties subject to common charge.

19. When two properties are subject to a common charge, and one of the properties is sold, the buyer is, as against the seller, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, entitled to have the charge satisfied out of the other property, so far as such property will extend.

Bill II, s. 19: 2 Hay 549: 1 W. R. 14: XXXI of 1854, s. XXVIII of 18[illegible] 31.

Bonâ fide buyer not bound to see to application of purchase-money.

20. When any property is sold, the proceeds of which are subject to any trust, the buyer in good faith of the property is not bound to see to the application of the purchase-money to the purposes of the trust nor is he answerable for the misapplication of such money.

CHAPTER IV.

OF MORTGAGES OF IMMOVEABLE PROPERTY AND CHARGES.

Bill II, s. 25: Bill, s. 14: Act XXVIII of 1866, s. 19: Mortgagor need not have present ownership, N.-W. P. 1872, p. 11. Macph. 4. Fulton 36. Purchaser of right of redemption, 11 Bom. 41.

21. When, for the purpose of securing money advanced or to be advanced by way of loan or an existing or future debt, or the performance of an engagement, one person transfers to another a right over specific immoveable property, the transfer is called a mortgage of immoveable property, the transferor is called a mortgagor, the transferee a mortgagee, the money of which payment is secured is called the mortgage-money, and the assurance by which the transfer is effected is called a mortgage-deed.

Mortgage, mortgagor and mortgagee defined.

For the purposes of this chapter, any person entitled as heir, legatee, assignee, lessee or otherwise than as a mortgagee to the interest of the transferor in the property subject to the mortgage, or any part of such interest, is a mortgagor; and any person entitled as heir, legatee, assignee or otherwise to the interest of the transferee under the mortgage, or any part thereof, is a mortgagee.

5 Beng. 393: 5 W. R. 280.

Where the mortgagor transfers the property to the mortgagee with a proviso that, upon payment of the mortgage-money at a certain date, the property shall be retransferred, the transaction is called a mortgage in the English form.

English mortgage.

Macph. 8, 12, 59: R. B. Ghose, 218, 219: 2 Moo. I. A. 487.

Where the mortgagor delivers possession of the property to the mortgagee, and authorizes him to retain such possession and to pay himself from the rents and profits of the property the interest, or the mortgage-money and interest, or to take such rents and profits in lieu of interest, or of the mortgage-money and interest, the transaction is called an usufructuary mortgage.

Usufructuary mortgage.

Macph. 10, 12.

Where the mortgagor binds himself personally to repay the mortgage-money, and pledges the property as collateral security for the repayment, but does not contract that, on default of payment of the mortgage-money and interest at a certain date, the property shall pass to the mortgagee, the transaction is called a simple mortgage.

Simple mortgage.

Macph. 11, 12.

Where the mortgagor not so binding himself, contracts that, on default of payment of the mortgage-money and interest at a certain date, the property shall pass to the mortgagee, the transaction is called a mortgage by conditional sale.

Mortgage by conditional sale.

Bill II, s. 26: See Macph. 53: R. B. Ghose 64.

22. A mortgage can be effected only by assurance signed by the mortgagor and attested by at least two witnesses.

Mortgage to be by assurance.

Rights and Liabilities of Mortgagor.

Right of mortgagor to redeem, tender or deposit.

23. A mortgagor has the following rights as against the mortgagee:—

Bill II, s. 28: Bill, s. 15: 5 Beng. 450: 6 B... 562: 2 Mad. 42... Mad. 395: In ... Provs. 13 Beng. ...

(a) at any time after the mortgage-money has become payable, or has been paid, the mortgagor has a right on payment or tender, at a proper time and place, of the mortgage-money and interest remaining due on the mortgage, to require the mortgagee to re-transfer the mortgaged property to him, or to execute an acknowledgment in writing that any right in derogation of his ownership or other interest transferred to the mortgagee has been extinguished:

6 Bom. A. C. J. ... N.-W. P. 186... 128.

The right conferred by this clause is called a right to redeem and a suit to enforce it is called a suit for redemption:

(b) at any time after the mortgage-money has become payable and before such suit is barred, the mortgagor may deposit in any Court in which he might have instituted a suit for redemption of the mortgaged property, to the account of the mortgagee, the mortgage-money and interest remaining due on the mortgage:

Beng. Reg. I of 17... s. 2: Macph. 171.

(c) in the case of an usufructuary mortgage, he may recover possession of the property (1) where the mortgagee is authorized to pay himself from the rents and profits of the property the mortgage-money and interest thereof,—when such money and interest are so paid, (2) where the mortgagee is authorized to pay himself from such rents and profits the interest of the mortgage-money,—when the term (if any) of the mortgage expires and the mortgagor pays or tenders to the mortgagee the mortgage-money, or deposits it in such Court as last aforesaid.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to authorize a person interested in part only of the mortgaged property to institute a suit for the redemption of his own part only, on payment of a proportionate part of the amount remaining due on the mortgage, except where there is but one mortgagee and the mortgagor's interest in part of the property becomes vested in such mortgagee, in which case the person so interested may institute such suit.

Implied contracts by mortgagor.

first, that the mortgagor has power to grant the mortgaged property to the mortgagee, free from incumbrances; secondly, that the mortgagor will take all legal means to protect his rights in the property:

thirdly, that the mortgagor and every person claiming any interest in the property will on demand (at the cost, until foreclosure or sale, of the mortgagor and afterwards of the person requiring the same) execute every such assurance of the same that may reasonably be required; and, where the property is leasehold, fourthly, that the lease is valid and subsisting, that the rent reserved thereby, the conditions contained therein, and the contracts binding on the lessee have been paid, performed and observed down to the execution of the mortgage-deed; and that the mortgagor will, so long as the security exists, pay the rent reserved by the lease, perform the conditions contained therein and observe the contracts binding on the lessee and indemnify the mortgagee against all claims sustained by reason of the non-payment of the said rent or the non-performance or non-observance of the said conditions and contracts.

25. If after the date of the mortgage any accession is made to the mortgaged property, the mortgagor, upon redemption, shall, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, and subject to the law relating to alluvion for the time being in force, be entitled to such accession.

Accession to mortgaged property.

Illustration.

A mortgages to B a field the trees on which are the property of Government. B enters into possession of the field and as occupant thereof buys the trees. A redeems the field. He is entitled to the trees.

26. Where the mortgaged property is a lease for a term of years, and the mortgagee, while in possession of the property, obtains a renewal of the lease, the mortgagor, upon redemption, shall, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, have the benefit of the new lease.

Renewal of mortgaged lease.

27. A mortgagor in possession of the mortgaged property is not liable to the mortgagee for allowing the property to deteriorate; but he must not commit any act which is destructive or permanently injurious thereto, if the security is insufficient or will be rendered insufficient by such act.

Waste by mortgagor in possession.

Explanation.—A security is insufficient within the meaning of this section unless the value of the mortgaged property exceeds by one-third, or, if consisting of buildings, exceeds by one-half, the amount for the time being due on the mortgage.

28. A mortgagor proposing to make a second or other subsequent mortgage of the mortgaged property shall, before effecting the mortgage, give the second or other subsequent mortgagee notice in writing under his hand of the prior mortgage or mortgages, and a mortgagor effecting a second or other subsequent mortgage of the mortgaged property shall, as soon as may be, give the prior mortgagee or mortgagees like notice of such mortgage.

Notice to mesne incumbrancers.

A mortgagor failing to give any notice required by this section shall, when the accounts are taken in pursuance of a decree made under this chapter, be debited with the loss, if any, occasioned by such failure, in addition to any other liability resulting therefrom.

29. If the owner of two or more properties creates separate mortgages on them by separate assurances, each mortgage may be dealt with irrespectively of the other, though the mortgages are created in favour of the same mortgagee.

Right to redeem one of two properties separately mortgaged.

Illustration.

A, the owner of farms Z and Y, mortgages Z to B for Rs. 1,000. A afterwards mortgages Y to B for Rs. 1,000, making no stipulation as to any additional charge on Z. A may institute a suit for the redemption of the mortgage on Z alone.

Rights and Liabilities of Mortgagee.

30. In the absence of a contract to the contrary, the mortgagee may, at any time after the mortgage-money has become payable to him, and before a decree has been made for the redemption of the mortgaged property, or the mortgage-money has been paid, institute against the mortgagor (1) a suit for a declaration that he has lost his right to redeem the property, or (2) a suit for a sale of the property.

Right to sue for foreclosure or sale.

A suit for a declaration that a mortgagor has lost his right to redeem the mortgaged property is called a suit for foreclosure.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed—

(a) to authorize a simple mortgagee to institute a suit for foreclosure, or an usufructuary mortgagee to institute a suit for foreclosure or sale, or a conditional mortgagee to institute a suit for sale;

(b) to authorize a mortgagor who has become a trustee of the mortgaged property or legal representative of the mortgagee, to institute a suit for foreclosure;

(d) to authorize a person interested in part only of the mortgage-money to institute a suit relating only to a corresponding part of the mortgaged property: but he may institute any suit which, under this Act, he is authorized to institute, relating to the whole of the mortgaged property, making the other mortgagees, if they cannot or will not join as plaintiffs, defendants.

31. When the mortgagor deposits money in Court under section twenty-three, and pays the fee leviable for the service next hereinafter mentioned, the Court shall forthwith cause written notice of the deposit to be served on the mortgagee, and the mortgagee may, on depositing the mortgage-deed in the same Court and on filing a written statement (verified in manner prescribed by law for the verification of plaints) of the amount then due on the mortgage, apply for and receive in payment of such amount the money so deposited.

The surplus, if any, shall be paid to the mortgagor;

(i) when the mortgagor tenders, or deposits in court under section twenty-three, the amount for the time being due on the mortgage, the mortgagee must, notwithstanding the provisions in the other clauses of this section, account for his gross receipts from the mortgaged property from the date of the tender or from the earliest time when he could take such amount out of court, as the case may be.

CHAPTER V.

OF LEASES OF IMMOVEABLE PROPERTY.

Bill II, s. 71.

Rights and liabilities of lessor and lessee.

65. In the absence of a contract or local usage to the contrary, the lessor and the lessee of immoveable property, as against one another, respectively possess the rights and are subject to the liabilities mentioned in the sixteen rules next following, or such of them as are applicable to the property leased:—

(2) altered: cf. IX of 1872, s. 93: W. R. 278: 12 W. R. 149: Beng. Appendix 44, (3): 15 W. R. 230: W. R. 121.

(a.) The lessor is bound on the lessee's request to put him in possession of the property leased:

(b.) The lessor shall be deemed to contract with the lessee that the latter paying the rent reserved by the lease and performing the contracts binding on the lessee may hold the property leased during the time limited by the lease without interruption by the lessor or his transferees, or any person lawfully claiming through him or them:

I. R. 314.

(c.) The lessee is entitled to the enjoyment of all easements annexed to the property leased at the time when the lease was made until the lease determines or such easements are extinguished, whichever event first happens:

23 W. R. 34.

(d.) The lessee is bound to keep, and on the termination of the lease to restore, the property leased in as good condition as it was in at the time when he was put in possession, subject only to reasonable wear and tear, and to allow the lessor and his agents, at all reasonable times during the term, to enter into the property leased and inspect the condition thereof, and to give or leave notice of any defect in such condition and to make good all such defects within three months after such notice has been given or left:

ng. 73.

(e.) If during the continuance of the lease any accession is made to the property leased, such accession (subject to the law relating to alluvion for the time being in force) shall be deemed to be comprised in the lease:

(f.) If by fire, tempest or flood, or violence of an army or of a mob, or other superior force, any part of the property leased be wholly destroyed or rendered substantially unfit for the purposes for which it was let, the lease shall be void as to that part, and any rent or fine payable under the lease shall proportionately abate, and a proportionate part of any fine paid by the lessee shall be returned by the lessor:

If the injury be occasioned by the wrongful act or default of either party, such party shall not be entitled to avail himself of the benefit of this provision:

(g.) If the lessor neglects to make, within a reasonable time after notice, repairs which he is bound to make to the property leased, the lessee may make the same himself, and deduct the expense of such repairs with interest from the rent, or otherwise recover it from the lessor:

(h.) If the lessor neglects to make any payment which he is bound to make, and which, if not made by him, is recoverable from the lessee or against the property leased, the lessee may make such payment himself, and deduct it from his rent, or otherwise recover it from the lessor:

(i.) Every lessee who becomes aware of any proceeding to recover the property leased or any part thereof, or of any encroachment made upon, or any interference with, the lessor's rights concerning such property, is bound to give notice thereof to the lessor with reasonable diligence; and, in default of so doing, he is liable to make compensation to the lessor for any loss or expenses occasioned by such omission:

(j) The lessee may use the property leased and its products (if any) as a reasonable owner would use them; but he must not use the property for a purpose other than that for which it was leased, or fell timber, pull down or damage houses, open mines or quarries, or commit any other act which is destructive or permanently injurious thereto.

5 Beng. 401, 416: 8 Beng. Appendix 70: 10 Beng. Appx. 41, sed. v. 5 S. D. A. 205. 15 W. R. 360: 17 W. R. 416: 23 W. R. 298: W. R. Sp. (1864) 36

The prohibition in this clause does not apply to mines which were open when the lease was granted:

(k.) No lessee shall, without the lessor's consent, erect on the property leased any permanent structure, except for agricultural purposes; and no such lessee who erects thereon any building, engine or machinery for agricultural purposes shall remove the same without first giving to the lessor or his agent one month's previous notice in writing of his intention so to do, and thereupon the lessor or his agent may elect to purchase the thing so proposed to be removed, and the lessee's right to remove the same shall thereby cease, and the same shall belong to the lessor, and the value thereof shall in case of dispute be ascertained and determined by two referees, one to be chosen by each party, or by an umpire to be named by such referees, and shall be paid or allowed in account by the lessor:

t XIX of 1868, 36. XVIII of 1873, 42.

(n.) When a lease of uncertain duration determines by any means except the fault of the lessee, he or his legal representative is entitled to all the crops planted or sown by the lessee and growing upon the property leased for the season current when the lease determines, and to free ingress and egress to reap and carry them:

7. R. 83: 7. R. 68.

(o.) If the lessor transfers the property leased, or any part thereof, or any part of his interest therein, the transferee shall possess all the rights and, if the lessee so elects, be subject to all the liabilities, of the lessor as to the property or part transferred so long as he is the owner of it; but the lessor shall not by reason only of such transfer cease to be subject to any of the liabilities imposed upon him by the lease, unless the lessee elects to treat the transferee as the person liable to him: Provided that the transferee is not entitled to arrears of rent due before the transfer, and that if the lessee pay rent to the lessor without having reason to believe that such transfer has been made, the lessee shall not be liable to pay such rent over again to the transferee:

1 of 1855, s. 1: ..., c. 16, s. 10.

Where only a part of the property leased is transferred by the lessor, he may determine what proportion of the rent reserved by the lease is payable in respect of the part so transferred:

(p.) The lessee may transfer, absolutely or by way of mortgage, the whole or any part of his interest in the property leased, and any transferee of such interest or part may again transfer it. The lessee shall not, by reason of such transfer, cease to be subject to any of the liabilities attaching to the lease, unless the lessor elects to treat the transferee as the person subject to such liabilities. Subject as aforesaid, each successive transferee, so long as he is entitled to the property leased, possesses all the rights, and is subject to all the liabilities, of the lessee as such.

. R. 449.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to authorize a tenant having a right of occupancy, the farmer of an estate in respect of which default has been made in paying revenue, or the lessee of an estate under the management of a Court of Wards, to assign his interest as such tenant, farmer or lessee.

...II, s. 70, altered.

Disclosures required from lessor and lessee.

66. The following omissions are fraudulent:—

...g. A. C. J. 277.

(a) an omission of the lessor of immoveable property to disclose to the lessee any defect therein of which the former is, and the latter is not, aware, and which the latter could not with ordinary care discover;

(b) an omission of the lessee of immoveable property to disclose to the lessor any fact as to the nature or extent of the lessor's interest therein, of which the lessee is, and the lessor is not, aware, and which increases the value of such interest.

67. A tenancy begins when the lessee enters, under the lease, into possession of the property leased, and until he so enters, he cannot sue for compensation for an unlawful entry thereon.

Duration of certain leases in absence of written contract or local usage.

68. In the absence of a contract in writing or local usage to the contrary, a lease of immoveable property for purposes of cultivation shall be a lease from year to year terminable on the part of either lessor or lessee, by six months' notice expiring with the end of a year of the tenancy; and a lease of immoveable property for any other purpose shall be a lease from month to month, terminable, on the part of either lessor or lessee, by fifteen days' notice expiring with the end of a month of the tenancy.

Every notice under this section must be in writing signed by or on behalf of the party giving it and tendered or delivered to the party who is intended to be bound by it, or affixed on a conspicuous part of the property.

Exclusion of day on which term commences.

69. Where the time limited by a lease of immoveable property is expressed as commencing from a particular day, in computing that time such day shall be excluded. Where no day of commencement is named, the time so limited begins from the making of the lease.

(d) where the lessor holds the property leased for the term of the life of another person—by the death of such person;

(e) on the expiration of a notice to determine the lease duly given in pursuance of a power therein contained:

(f) in case the interests of the lessee and the lessor in the whole of the property leased become vested at the same time in one person in the same right:

3 O'Kin. 159. But see per Peacock, C. J. 10 W. R. 15.

(g) by express surrender, that is to say, in case the lessee yields up his interest under the lease to the lessor, by mutual agreement between them:

Bill II, s. 77, cl. 1: W. R. F. B. 10: Marshall 25.

71. A forfeiture under section seventy, clause (i), is waived by acceptance of rent which has become due since the forfeiture, or by distress for such rent, or by any other act on the part of the lessor showing an intention to treat the lease as subsisting:

Waiver of forfeiture.

Provided that the lessor is aware that the forfeiture has been incurred:

2 Bom. 73.

Provided also that, where rent is accepted after the institution of a suit to eject the lessee on the ground of forfeiture, such acceptance is not a waiver.

72. A notice given by the lessor under section seventy, clause (j), is waived, with the express or implied consent of the lessee, by acceptance of rent which has become due since the expiration of the notice, or by distress for such rent, or by duly giving to the lessee a second notice to quit, or by any other act on the part of the lessor shewing an intention to treat the lease as subsisting.

Waiver of notice to quit.

74. The surrender, express or implied, of a lease of immoveable property does not prejudice an under-lease of the property or any part thereof previously granted by the lessee: but, unless the surrender is made for the purpose of obtaining a new lease, the rent payable by, and the contracts binding on, the under-lessee shall be respectively payable to, and enforceable by, the lessor.

Effect of surrender and forfeiture on under-leases.

The forfeiture of such a lease annuls all such under-leases.

Bill II, s. 78: Bill, s. 47: Report, s. 41: 3 Bom. A. C. J. 27: 12 Beng. 269: N.-W. P. 1870, p. 204.

THE LAST COMPETITIVE ENTRANCE EXAMINATION FOR ADMISSION TO THE DEHREE TRAINING SCHOOL.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL—IRRIGATION ESTABLISHMENT.

Calcutta, the 28th February 1879.

NOTIFICATION.

THE following papers are published for general information.

D. B. HORN,
For Joint-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,
P. W. Dept., Irrigation Branch.

Note by D. B. HORN, Esq., Assistant Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, Irrigation Branch, on the last Competitive Entrance Examination for admission to the Dehree Training School.

THE examination was held at Calcutta, Allahabad, Lahore, and Sanawar, on Monday the 2nd September and following days.

The number of candidates was 94, of whom 7 did not present themselves. The remaining 87 were distributed as follows:—

Calcutta	53
Allahabad	29
Lahore	3
Sanawar	2
Total ...	87

Of the 87 who presented themselves, 26 failed in dictation and were therefore excluded from taking any further part in the examination. The numbers left to be examined at each of the above centres were—

Calcutta	41
Allahabad	15
Lahore	3
Sanawar	2
Total ...	61

The 61 who were examined in all the subjects are arranged in order of merit in Statement A accompanying this report.

The first 13 were selected, and have since joined the school with the exception of the 2 natives.

The native lad Dass wrote the day before he should have left for Dehree saying that he had fever and could not go. Since then two letters have been sent to him from this office asking why he had not joined, but no replies have been received. His appointment has consequently been cancelled.

The other (Banerjee) joined the school, but left two or three days after saying that the work was too hard, and being a Brahmin he had difficulty in arranging for getting his food. Since then his father has applied for permission to send him back to Dehree. He has been allowed to do so, but he has not yet reported his having gone. The appointment has since been cancelled.

Of the above 18 admissions, 4 were free, viz. McDonald, Sheels, Bates, and Smith.

Besides these, however, 4 more have joined the school agreeing to pay Rs. 20 per month during the whole of their four years' apprenticeship.

The following statement gives the names of the apprentices admitted, with the names of the schools at which they were educated, and the marks gained in each subject, arranged in order of merit. The subjects of examination were, an easy piece of dictation, simple arithmetic, including vulgar and decimal fractions, the first 26 propositions in Euclid, and Algebra up to simple equations :—

On looking over the marks gained in each subject by the first 13 boys, the average percentage is very satisfactory. The averages are as follow :—

Dictation	89 per cent.
Arithmetic	79 ,,
Euclid	74 ,,
Algebra	60 ,,

Of the 34 schools who sent up candidates for the appointments, 7 of the 13 vacancies were obtained by the following up-country schools :—

Cawnpore Memorial	3
St. Peter's, Agra	2
Lawrence Asylum, Sanawar	2
Total ...	7

Twelve Calcutta schools sent up candidates, but only three of the vacancies were obtained by them—

La Martinière	1
Free School	1
St. James'	1
Total ...	3

The other three vacancies were gained by candidates from country schools—

Baduria School	...	...	...	1
Utterpara School	...	...	...	1
Palaveram School (Madras Presidency)		...	...	1

Appended to this report are two Statements (B and C) showing the names of the schools which sent up candidates, and the percentages gained by each in the different subjects of examination.

The statements speak for themselves, so I shall only state the names of the different schools which seem to have classes reading up to the standard required.

(1.)—In Calcutta the schools are—

La Martinière.	St. James'.
St. Joseph's.	Free School.
Doveton.	Armenian Philanthropic Academy.

(2.)—Around Calcutta—

Baduria School.	Serampore College.
Utterpara School.

(3.)—In Northern India—

Memorial School, Cawnpore.	Lawrence Asylum, Sanawar.
St. Peter's, Agra.	Lucknow Martinere.

I have mentioned schools which have sent up candidates who gained over 300 marks; but the papers being exceedingly simple, and supposing the boys who appeared for examination to be among the senior boys in the schools, I consider the list of schools whose standard is up to what is required for the Dehree Entrance to be restricted to the following:—

Cawnpore Memorial.	Free School, Calcutta.
St. Peter's, Agra.	Doveton, Calcutta.
Lawrence Asylum, Sanawar.	Utterpara School.
Martinière, Calcutta.	Baduria School.
St. James', Calcutta.	Palaveram School.

If I am right in my supposition that the candidates were among the senior boys in the schools they represent, I think the conclusion to be drawn from the results of the above examination is that, for boys of 16 years of age, the standard of education in our Indian schools is not a particularly high one.

D. B. HORN,

Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,
P. W. Dept., Irrign. Branch.

December 1878.

P. S.—Since the above was written another lad, named Burnie, has been admitted on payment of Rs. 20 monthly. No other boys have been sent up in place of the two whose appointments have been cancelled.

Memorandum by COLONEL F. T. HAIG, R.E., Chief Engineer, Bengal, Irrigation Branch, on Mr. Horn's Note on the last competitive Entrance Examination for admission to the Dehree Training School.

THE general result of Mr. Horn's analysis of the figures seems to be this.

First.—Out of 87 boys who went up for examination, 26 failed to obtain a qualifying number of marks in dictation, that is to say, they appeared to be so utterly deficient in this subject that they were on this account alone considered unfit for admission to the school, and were therefore not allowed to proceed further in the examination. The numbers were as follows :—

Schools represented	Place of education not mentioned	Examined at	Number that went up.	Qualified in dictation	Failed.
22	1	Calcutta	53	41	12
9	2	Allahabad . . .	29	15	14
1	1	Lahore	3	3	0
1	0	Sanawar	2	2	0
		Total ...	87	61	26

Of the 22 schools which sent up candidates for examination at Calcutta, five were district schools (as Assensole, Utterpara, Bhagulpore, &c.), one a Madras school, one at Rangoon, and one at Nynee Tal; 14 out of the 22 were thus Calcutta schools. The nine schools which sent candidates to Allahabad were as follow :—

Cawnpore	2
Lucknow	1
Agra	1
Allahabad	1
Benares	1
Chunar	1
Sitapore	1
Shajahanpore	1

There was but one school represented at Lahore, Bishop Cotton's, and one at Sanawar, the Lawrence Asylum.

In only one school out of the whole 33 * was the result of the dictation "very good" In six schools it was "good." In three "very fair;" the rest shaded off from "pretty fair" to "bad."

* Lawrence Asylum

Only two out of the 14 Calcutta schools obtained "good," a distinction which was awarded to five boys† out of the whole number, 41.

† 4, St. Joseph's School 1, Old Church Day-school

As regards handwriting, not a single school obtained "very good."

To four schools only was "good" awarded, and then to 13 boys out of a total of 87. One of these is a Calcutta school, and the number of boys four.

Three schools out of the whole number are adjudged "very fair," five are "fair," seven are "rather bad," and three "bad."

I do not think these results can be considered satisfactory, or altogether creditable to the educational institutions of the country; for it must be remembered that the above descriptions—"good," "fair," "bad," &c., apply only to the boys who passed in dictation, and not to those also who were rejected.

Secondly.—Of the 61 boys who passed in dictation and went on to the examination in the remaining subjects, 29 obtained more than 300 marks out of a total of 550. Out of these 29, the first 13 were selected to fill the vacancies in the school. The first two of these obtained 455 marks each, and the last two 385 each, out of the total number. The average percentage of marks gained by the whole 13 in each subject was—

	Per cent.
Dictation	89
Arithmetic	79
Euclid	74
Algebra	60

I think these results must be considered very fair.

Out of the 13 boys selected—

		Out of a total number of candidates of
3	were from Calcutta schools ...	34
2	ditto Bengal district schools	5
1	ditto a Madras school ...	1
7	ditto North-Western Provinces, Punjab and Hill schools... ...	20

The first three and sixth boys in the order of merit were from Upper India schools, the 5th from Madras.

The first, third and sixth boys were from the Cawnpore Memorial School.

Both the candidates from the Lawrence Asylum are among the number selected, The three Calcutta boys were in the 4th, 7th and 11th places. On the whole, it would seem that, as far as these examinations may be held to afford a fair test of the comparative efficiency of the Bengal and Upper India schools, in educating up to the standard required for entrance to the Dehree School, the North-Western Provinces and Punjab schools take the first place, and the Calcutta schools, by a long way, the last.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.; the maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, INDIA,
The 3rd March 1879.

HENRY F. BLANFORD,
Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India.

Reports of Fluctuation of Traffic on the East Indian Railway from 1st to 25th January 1879.

EAST INDIAN RAILWAY, TRAFFIC MANAGER'S OFFICE, JAMALPORE, THE 21ST FEBRUARY 1879.

Remarks on Traffic of East Indian Railway from 1st to 25th January 1879.

THE approximate figures for the period are as follow:—

	Coaching.		Goods.		Total.
	No.	Rs.	Mds.	Rs.	Rs.
1879	526,470	7,83,028	55,22 921	20,20,633	28 03,661
1878	454,058	6,51,456	54,48,574	20,87,735	27,39,191
Increase	72,412	1,31,572	74,347	.....	64,470
Decrease	.....	.....	.....	67,102	.....

The comparison is for 26 days of 1878, against 25 days of 1879; so that, if the daily average earnings is taken, an increase is apparent in 1879 of about Rs 1,76,000, and this may be taken as very satisfactory, looking at the fact that in 1878 we were earning more than in 1877.

The increases and decreases in staples are—

Increases.

Coal, up.	Government stores.	Piece-goods.
Cotton.	Jaggree.	Salt.

Decreases.

Edible grains and pulses.	Iron.	Saltpetre.	Sugar.
Indigo.	Opium.	Seeds.

Increases.

	Mds.	Rs.
Coal, up	+41,074	—15 179
Down	—25,536	— 3,042
Increase	15,538	12,137

The increase in upwards coal is in despatches from the Kurhurballee fields to Gazeeabad, Agra, and Benares, principally for foreign lines.

The decrease in downwards coal is due to the difference of a day in the periods under review—

1879.	1878.
10,90,044 mds.	11,15,580 mds.
25 days,	26 days,

or an increase of 695 maunds per day.

Cotton ... ... Mds. 83,868 Rs. 1,53,327

This staple has been in more active demand than usual during the period in Calcutta for the London market, and it is satisfactory to note that business has again been done in Indian cotton for the home markets.

Government stores ... ... Mds. 5,886 Rs. 24,369

Jaggree ... ... Mds. 1,20,966 Rs. 26,578

The demand in Bombay probably for Guzerat has been good during the period, and supplies have been sent from the North-West and Oudh.

Piece-goods ... ... Mds. 13,901 Rs. 15,812
Salt ... ... ,, 56,694 ,, 12,453

The principal traffic is from the Salt Lakes in Rajpootna vid Agra and viâ Delhi, and a good deal of this finds its way into Oudh and Rohilkund.

Decreases.

FOOD-GRAINS.

The following table shows the increases and decreases in each item coming under this head:—

	Increases.		Decreases.
	Tons.	Rs.	Tons.	Rs.
Barley	.....	.....	3,149	10,907
Rice	.....	.....	1,061	82,952

Pulses	.....	.....	12,775	33,707
Total ...	15,994	4,537	20,645	1,30,701

Net decrease in weight . Tons 4,651 | Net decrease in earnings .. Rs 1,26,164

The decrease in barley is entirely from the Punjab viâ Gazeeabad. Last year there was great scarcity of food-grains in Rohilkund and Oudh, and all descriptions were poured into those districts. This year there was no demand, as the bumper kharif crops amply provided for local consumption and allowed of large exports as well.

The decrease in rice also may partly be set down to above causes, as a good deal of rice was despatched from Bengal to the North-West last year; but the principal cause of the falling off appears to be the high prices ruling in Calcutta during January. An improvement is now apparent.

In wheat the exports to Europe are worse than last year, which was exceptionally a bad one. Up to the 5th February the exports to United Kingdom were—

1878 ... .. Tons 6,881 | 1879 ... ... Tons 1,137

Cawnpore shews an increase of about 1,000 tons over last year for Howrah, probably for local consumption, and this will account for the earnings being in excess. At nearly all other stations there has been a falling off, and the traffic in this staple is practically at a standstill.

In other grains there is a large increase in the weight carried, but a decrease in earnings This is caused by the lead over the main line being so short, but, if taken in connection with the Jubbulpore line, a large increase in receipts is apparent.

In pulses nothing is doing at present. In fact the remarks under the head of barley apply equally to this item, the traffic last year being principally from the S. P. and D. to O. and R. Railway, which does not require any help this year.

Indigo ... ... Mds. 26,542 Rs. 30,433

The falling off is in Tirhoot indigo, the outturn not having been so large this year as last The figures for 1879, however, compare favourably with 1877, thus—

1879	Mds. 16,178	Rs. 23,071
1877	„ 14,481	„ 19,617
Increase, 1879	„ 1,697	„ 3,454
Iron	„ 6,595	„ 22,715

This is an ordinary fluctuation.

Opium ... ... „ 22,117 „ 25,664

This is a matter beyond our control.

Saltpetre ... ... „ 44,852 „ 12,367

Last year, during this period there was a sudden demand for export; this year the exports are next to nothing, while the stocks in Calcutta are reported as being very large, consequently no supplies have been forwarded.

Seeds ... ... Mds 42 358 Rs. 31,690

The difference of a day will diminish this decrease by one-half.

Sugar ... . „ 30,339 „ 8,838

The falling off is principally from the Gazeepore district, where the crops failed to some extent last year, and the new season's crop is not yet in.

Train mileage for the period has been—

	Coaching.	Goods	Total.
1879	168,284	358,340	526,624
1878	174,290	394,319	568,609

1878	3 11 10	5 4 8	4 13 1
Decrease	.....	.....	... .

It is satisfactory to note that, while the increase in receipts, taking the figures as they stand, is nearly 2½ per cent, and the numbers of passengers and weight carried is largely increased, the train mileage is down 7½ per cent.

Shunting mileage; decrease—742 hours.

This is attributable to less work on the Howrah and Toondla districts.

Jubbulpore line traffic—

Increase	4,279	38,571	5,13,913	1,26,283	1,64,854
Decrease	.....	.....	.....	.....	.. ...

The coaching increase is in extra troop trains and mêla passengers.

In goods the principal item is food-grains for Bombay and Guzerat, but this traffic is now rapidly falling.

Report of Fluctuation of Traffic on the Eastern Bengal Railway for the four weeks ending 25th January 1879.

Eastern Bengal Railway Company, Traffic Superintendent's Office, Sealdah Terminus.

Report on Goods Traffic for the four weeks ending 25th January 1879.

Dated Calcutta, the 17th February 1879.

From—W. Innes, Esq., Acting Traffic Superintendent,
To—The Agent, Eastern Bengal Railway, Sealdah.

The total weight of goods carried over this railway during the above period was 4,32,065 maunds, which, as compared with the corresponding period last year, shows a decrease of 2,57,547 maunds in grain, including rice, jute turmeric, piece-goods, foreign railway material, and sugar, over-balancing increases in gunny of 17,351 maunds, seeds, 14,074, miscellaneous 10,127 maunds, salt 7,473 maunds, hides 5,012, tea 4,791 maunds, tobacco 1,080, cotton 853 maunds, ale, wine, &c., 630 maunds.

This serious decrease in traffic cannot be otherwise than expected owing to the present serious depression of trade.

Decreases.

Grain, including rice ... ... Mds. 1,78,008

This traffic necessarily will not bear comparison with the abnormal traffic of last year, owing to the demand for famine-afflicted districts, but as compared with the previous month, shows an increase of 28,194, and with the corresponding period of 1876, an increase of 22,592.

Jute ... ... Mds. 1,17,150

Although, in spite of the small stocks held, the market prices are and have been very low for this fibre, there is little or no demand.

Turmeric ... ... Mds. 10,737

This decrease is owing to the lateness of the season this year as compared with last, and the traffic may therefore be expected to improve.

Piece-goods ... ... Mds. 5,404

This decrease is owing to the general depression of trade and poverty of the people.

Foreign Railway material ... ... Mds. 5,563

The construction of the Northern Bengal State Railway drawing near completion accounts for this decrease, which would have been larger, only we have commenced to despatch material for the Darjeeling Tramway Company.

Sugar ... ... Mds. 1,636

This is mainly owing to the lateness of the crop this season

Increases.

Gunny ... ... Mds. 17,351

This is owing to British demand, preference apparently being given to this country article over the local manufactures.

Seeds .. . . Mds. 14,074

The season is just commencing and demand is good ; so that this traffic may be expected to improve.

Miscellaneous ... ... Mds. 10,127

This is satisfactory, although, owing to its nature, the traffic may be held as capricious.

Salt ... ... Mds. 7,473

This is owing to the rise in prices caused by the increased demand from both Europe and the United States.

Hides ... ... Mds. 5,012

Last year Bengal hides were in small demand owing to the abnormal supply of a cheaper article from Madras, the mortality amongst cattle in the famine districts having created an extraordinary stock.

Tea .. .. Mds. 4,791

This increase is brought down by the Northern Bengal State Railway.

Tobacco ... ... Mds. 1,080

This small increase is satisfactory, but the traffic may now be expected to decrease, large quantities being in stock.

I append the statement of increases and decreases.

RULES.

TRANSPORT, IMPORT, AND EXPORT.

1. No cannon, articles designed for torpedo service, war-rockets, or machinery for the manufacture of arms and ammunition, shall be imported into British India, or transported over any part of British India without a license granted by the Governor-General in Council under the signature of the Secretary to the Government of India in the Home Department. The license shall be in Form I. appended to these rules, and a copy shall be at once communicated to the Magistrate of the District, or to the Political Officer of the State, to which the articles are consigned.

2. No arms, or ammunition, or military stores, shall be transported in any part of British India without a license in Form II. appended to these rules. If the articles are despatched from Calcutta, Madras or Bombay, the license will be granted by the Commissioner of Police; in all other cases the license will be granted by the Magistrate of the District. If the articles are to be consigned to a place beyond the jurisdiction of the officer granting the license, the consent of the Magistrate of the District to which the consignment is made must be obtained before the license is issued. Such consent may be obtained by the person applying for the license; or the Police Commissioner, or District Magistrate, to whom application for the license is made, may forward the proposed license to the officer whose consent is required; and on receiving reply should either issue the license to the applicant, or inform him that his application for a license to transport arms, &c., had been refused.

3. Persons lawfully entitled to possess arms, or to go armed, are permitted to transport, in any part of British India, arms or ammunition in reasonable quantities for their own use. Any person abusing this exemption and transporting such articles otherwise than in reasonable quantities for his own use will be held to have contravened this rule, and will, on conviction, become liable to the penalties under Sections 18 and 19.

4. A license to transport arms or ammunition or military stores is void if the consignment breaks bulk at any place short of the district for which it may be granted. A license to transport shall ordinarily not be made valid for more than twice the period actually required for the conveyance of the articles to their destination by the intended route.

5. No license shall be granted, save by the special order of the Governor-General in Council certified under the signature of the Secretary to the Government of India in the Home Department for the importation into British India by sea or river or land, or for exportation from British India by sea, of any cannon, or of any rifles, except rifles of such quality or in such quantity as may reasonably be held to be intended for bonâ fide sporting purposes.

6. Licenses to import or export arms, other than cannon or rifles not excepted as in the next foregoing rule, ammunition or military stores by sea, may be granted at the ports of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon, Calicut, Kurrachee, Aden, and for no other ports. They shall be granted by the Commissioners of Police in respect of each Presidency Town, and by the Magistrate of the District in respect of Rangoon and Kurrachee. The fee payable in respect of each such license shall be ten rupees, and the licenses shall be in the Forms III and IV appended to these rules. It shall be a condition of such licenses that the arms and ammunition imported shall either be deposited in a warehouse sanctioned in this regard under Section 7 of the Indian Arms Act, or that they shall be at once despatched to their destination under a separate license to transport.

7. Licenses to export arms or ammunition or military stores by land or by river to any place beyond the frontier of British India, or to any place within the limits of the feudatory State, and licenses to import arms or ammunition or military stores into, or to export the same out of, the District of Ajmere, may be granted by the Secretary to the Government of India in the Foreign Department, or by any other officer specially empowered by the Government of India to grant them.

Licenses to export arms or ammunition or military stores by land or by river to any place within the political jurisdiction of the Governments of Madras and Bombay may be granted by the Secretaries to the Governments of Madras and Bombay, respectively; copies of such licenses being sent to the Foreign Department of the Government of India for information. These licenses will be valid only for the State named in them, and no export beyond the limits of that State can be permitted under them

Licenses granted under this rule will be prepared in Form V., and be charged with a fee of rupees five.

8. Persons desirous of transporting arms, ammunition, or military stores, must apply in writing to the officer authorised to grant transport licenses from the place of despatch. The application must specify—

(a) the place to which the articles are to be transported, the route of transport, and the probable time occupied in the journey;

(b) the quantity, description, average price, and the purpose of each kind of arms or ammunition; or

(c) whether the applicant desires that the officer to whom he applies should obtain the consent of the Magistrate or Political Officer of the place of consignment [if the applicant has obtained such consent, the evidence of such consent must be produced].

9. Persons transporting arms, ammunition, or military stores under a license must write legibly on the cases or packages containing such articles an account of their contents.

10. Within six days of the articles reaching their destination the consignee must deliver the transport license to the Magistrate of the District, or to the Political Officer; and, in the case of articles crossing the external frontier of British India, to the Magistrate of the District where the consignment crosses the external frontier. The officer to whom the transport license shall be delivered must satisfy himself that the articles transported to his district correspond with the entries in the pass, and that any deficiency is properly accounted for.

MANUFACTURE AND SALE.

11. Licenses to manufacture, convert, keep and sell arms or ammunition or military stores, may be granted by Commissioners of Police in the Presidency Towns, and by the Magistrate of the District outside those towns. They shall be in Forms VI. and VII. appended to these rules. The fee payable in stamps shall be twenty rupees in respect of licenses to manufacture and sell, &c., and ten rupees in respect of licenses to keep and sell, &c. Every license-holder under this rule shall keep, in such form as the Local Government may from time to time direct, a record and account of all stock, and of all sales of arms and ammunition or sulphur, which he may keep or sell. He shall exhibit his stock and his record, or accounts, of stock and sales to any Magistrate, or to any police officer not below the rank of Inspector. Magistrates and all police officers not below the rank of Inspector are hereby empowered to enter and inspect any premises within their several jurisdictions in which arms or ammunition or sulphur are manufactured or kept, and to examine the stock and accounts of receipts and sales of arms, ammunition and military stores. Any person licensed to sell arms and ammunition shall affix a board on a conspicuous part of his shop, or usual place of business, and shall cause to be painted thereon in large letters in English, or in the vernacular of the district, his name and the words "licensed to manufacture," or "licensed to deal in arms, ammunition and military stores," as the case may be. He shall also have a copy of Section 28 of the Indian Arms Act posted up in the vernacular of the district or in English, on some conspicuous part of his usual place of business.

POSSESSION OF ARMS AND GOING ARMED.

12. Licenses to possess cannon shall not be granted, save under the special order of the Governor-General in Council, certified under the signature of the Secretary to the Government of India in the Home Department. A copy of such license, so certified, must be sent immediately on its issue to the District Magistrate of the place where the cannon is to be kept.

13. Licenses to possess arms and ammunition in reasonable quantities and to go armed for purposes of sport, of protection, or of display, may be granted by the Commissioner of Police in the Presidency Towns, and by the Magistrate of the District outside those towns, in Form VIII. Such licenses shall be liable to a fee of eight annas for each weapon in disarmed districts, and to a fee of four annas for each weapon in districts which have not been disarmed. Such a license will authorise its holder to carry the arms described in the license, on occasions when they may be reasonably required for the purposes named in the license. But the holder, unless specially authorised by the Magistrate, must not go armed in railway carriages, to fairs, religious processions, or other public assemblages Licenses granted under this rule shall, on countersignature by the Commissioner of the Division, or other officer authorised in this regard by the Local Government where there are no Commissioners, shall be valid for all the districts of the Local Government within the territories of which the license may have been granted.

14. Any Commissioner of Police or Magistrate of the District may grant a license in Form IX. for a journey, specifying the direction of the journey and the period it will occupy. Such license will be valid in other jurisdictions only for such journey and for such period, and will be liable to a fee of four annas for each weapon. Political Agents may grant licenses under this rule to natives of the States where they may be serving, and such licenses granted for journeys by Political Agents shall be liable to no fee. Holders of licenses under this rule, unless specially authorised by the officer granting the licenses, must not go armed in railway carriages, to fairs, religious processions, or other public assemblies.

15. Licenses to possess fire-arms or ammunition or military stores in districts which have not been disarmed may be granted in Form X. without fee. Such licenses will not authorise the holders to go armed, or to carry arms. In districts which have not been disarmed, as well as in disarmed districts, licenses to possess and carry arms (Form VIII.) will be liable to fees as stated in Rule 13.

16. Licenses for possession of arms and ammunition may be granted in Form XI. without fee, and for a term of five years, to persons who require arms for the destruction of wild animals which do injury to human beings, cattle, or crops. Such license will be valid only in or on the immediate confines of the district for which it is granted. It will be subject to the conditions that the license and the weapon it covers is shown once a year, between the 15th November and the 31st December, to the nearest Magistrate; that the weapon becomes confiscated to Government directly it is sold or seized in execution of any debt; and that such weapon is carried only on occasions when it is to be used bonâ fide for the destruction of wild animals Holders of licenses under this rule must not go armed in railway carriages, to fairs, religious processions, or other public assemblages.

GENERAL.

17. Applications for licenses, or renewals of licenses, under these rules, shall be written on "impressed stamps" of value equal to the amount of fee leviable in respect of such licenses.

18. Applications for licenses in respect of which no fee is leviable, or regarding licenses on which the full fee has been paid, shall be considered to be applications within meaning of Schedule II., Article 1, clause (a) of "the Indian Stamp Act, 1879," and shall bear a court fee stamp of one anna.

19. All licenses under Rules 11 and 13 shall expire on the 31st December of the year for which they may be issued; licenses under Rule 15 shall expire on the 31st December of the 5th year of their currency. Licenses under Rules 13 and 16 may be granted subject to the observance of a close season in the pursuit of game birds or animals that do not injure either men, or cattle, or crops. The limits of the close season will be decided by the Local Government, and the condition regarding such close season, if imposed, shall be endorsed on the reverse of the license.

21. Any person holding a license, or acting under a license, granted in accordance with these rules, shall be bound to produce the same, when called upon to do so by any Magistrate, or by any police officer in charge of a police station, or by any police officer of higher rank.

22. Licenses granted for use within a district shall be written or printed in the vernacular language of such district. Licenses granted in a Presidency Town, or for use beyond the district where they may be granted, shall be in English and may be in the vernacular as well.

23. The Assistant Resident at Aden shall exercise the powers of a Magistrate in respect of the grant of licenses under these rules.

24. 25. Any officer empowered to grant a license under these rules may at his discretion refuse to grant, to renew, or to consent to the issue of, a license, or may refer any application for the orders of the Local Government.

The 7th March 1879.

No. 13 of 1879.—The following Notice to Mariners is published for general information :—

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

AUSTRALIA—EAST COAST.

BURNETT RIVER ENTRANCE.

(1) Alteration in position of Beacons and Leading Lights.

The Government of Queensland has given Notice, that consequent on the extension southward of the spit on the northern side of Burnett river entrance, the beacons have been moved to the south side of the river and carry the leading lights. These kept in line bearing W. S. W. lead over the bar in the deepest water, and clear of the end of the spit; which having been passed, the leading marks in the bend of Sea reach may be steered for.

PIONEER RIVER—ROCKY ISLETS.

(2) Fixed Light on Flat-Top Islet.

Also, with reference to British Admiralty Notice to Mariners, No. 26 (1) of 4th March 1874, on the exhibition of a temporary light on Flat-top islet, off the entrance of Pioneer river—

Further Notice has been given, that on 26th September 1878, the permanent light would be exhibited—

The light is a fixed white light, elevated 174 feet above high water, and should be visible from seaward in clear weather between the bearings N. W. and S. by W. (except where intercepted by Round-top islet between N. 58° W. and N. 64° W.), from a distance of 19 miles. A sector of red light is shown between the bearings N. W. and N. by E.

The illuminating apparatus is dioptric, or by lenses of the fourth order.

Position: Latitude 21° 10′ 20″ S.; longitude 149° 17′ 30″ E.

NOTE.—The light bearing S. S. W. leads eastward of Llewellyn shoal, Singapore rock, and the foul ground extending off Shoal point, also clears the ledge off Rocky islet and the dangerous reef northward of Flat-top islet. The reef off Hay point will be avoided by keeping within the southwest limit of the white light.

Llewellyn shoal (recently discovered by Staff Commander E. P. Bedwell, conducting the Admiralty Survey, Queensland), with 3 fathoms water on it, lying N. E. of Slade point distant 6½ miles, being within the limits of the white light; it is intended shortly to show a sector of red light through an arc of 10°, on the western side of the sector, so that with the white light in sight, vessels will be clear of danger.

TRINITY BAY.

(3) Revolving light on Low Isles.

Also, with reference to British Admiralty Notice to Mariners, No. 38 (2), of 14th March 1878, on the exhibition of a temporary light, pending the construction of a lighthouse, on the westernmost Low islet, Trinity bay :—

Further Notice has been given, that on 17th September 1878, the permanent light would be exhibited :—

The light is a revolving white light, attaining its greatest brilliancy every minute, elevated 65 feet above the sea, and should be visible in clear weather from a distance of 14 miles.

The illuminating apparatus is dioptric, or by lenses of the third order.

The lighthouse, painted white, is situated in the centre of the islet.

Position, lat. 16° 23′ S., long. 145° 35′ 15″ E.

On the exhibition of this light, the temporary light was discontinued.

ENDEAVOUR RIVER ENTRANCE—COOK HARBOUR.

Also, that on 14th September 1878, two leading lights would be exhibited from above the sheds on Nos. 1 and 2 wharves, at Cook town, Endeavour river entrance :

The lights are fixed red lights, and kept in line lead over the bar in the deepest water, and through the channel towards wharf No. 1.

Approximate position of outer light, lat. 15° 27′ 30″ S., long 145° 15′ E.

NOTE.—Vessels entering Cook harbour at night, should steer with the leading lights in line, until near wharf No. 1, when any available berth at the wharves will be seen.

The bearings are Magnetic. Variation { Burnett river 9¼° / Pioneer river 7¾ } Easterly in 1879.

PART IV.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for making Laws and Regulations on the 8th March 1879, and was referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon in three weeks :—

A Bill to amend Bengal Act III of 1878.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is necessary to amend Bengal Act III of 1878 (an Act to define and limit the powers of settlement officers with respect to enhancement of rent), and further to define the powers of settlement officers in respect of the determination of rents: It is enacted as follows :—

Proviso added to section 2.

1. To section 2 of the said Act the following proviso shall be added :—

Provided always that notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this or any other Act, any rent which may have been recorded as demandable from an under-tenant or ryot in accordance with rates confirmed under the provisions of section 3 of this Act, and in respect of which notice shall have been served or published as provided in section 4 of Bengal Act III of 1878, shall by every court having cognizance of rent suits be deemed to be fair and equitable, and, if such rent be higher than the rent previously paid by such under-tenant or ryot, to have been correctly enhanced, unless it be proved that such recorded rent is higher than the rent which would be demandable from such under-tenant or ryot according to the calculations mentioned in section 5 as substituted by this Act.

New proviso in section 8.

2. The following proviso shall be substituted for the first proviso in section 3 of the said Act :—

"Provided that where in the course of any settlement proceedings conducted under Regulation VII of 1822, the general rates of rent to be adopted in such settlement shall have been confirmed by the revenue authorities from time to time empowered in this behalf by the local Government, and, in accordance with such rates, a higher rent shall have been recorded as demandable from any under-tenant or ryot than was previously paid by him, such rent shall be deemed to have been correctly enhanced until the contrary be proved."

New section substituted for section 5.

3. The following section shall be substituted for section 5 of the said Act :—

"In any notice served, or in any general notice published as provided in the last preceding section, it shall not be necessary to specify the area which was held, or the amount of rent which was paid by any under-tenant or ryot at any previous time, but it shall be sufficient to state that the rents recorded in the proceedings as demandable from the under-tenants or ryots named in such notice, or in the jummabundi appended thereto, on account of the land now held by them respectively, are calculated on rates which do not bear a higher proportion to the general rates which were taken as the basis of the last previous settlement of the estate than the average value of produce, prevailing at the time of the present settlement, bears to the value of similar produce which prevailed at such last settlement as recorded in the papers of such settlement, or otherwise ascertained, or (if the value of produce at the time of such previous settlement has not been recorded in the papers of such settlement or cannot be otherwise ascertained) than the average value of produce prevailing at the time of the present settlement bears to the average value of similar produce calculated on any period of three consecutive years since the date of the last previous settlement."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

BENGAL Act III of 1878 provides that enhanced rents recorded as demandable by a settlement officer in the course of proceedings under Regulation VII of 1822 shall be deemed to have been correctly enhanced until the contrary be proved. But in order that this validity may attach to rents so recorded, it is necessary that a notice of enhancement be served on each ryot, or a jummabundi published under section 4; and section 5 requires that the grounds of the enhancement shall be specified in any such notice or jummabundi.

Section 2 further requires that the grounds of enhancement must be one or more of those specified in Section 18, Bengal Act VIII of 1868. Where the ground of enhancement under that section is a rise in the value of produce, the decisions of the Civil Courts indicate that they will require a specific comparison to be made, on the one hand, between the rates on which the proposed enhanced rent is calculated, and the value of the produce at the time being, and, on the other, between the rates on which the rent previously paid was calculated, and the value of the produce at the time when the rent of the holding was last adjusted, or at some other period during the tenancy of the ryot.*

* In the celebrated case of Thakooranee Dassee (III W. R. 29), decided on the 19th June 1865, Mr. Justice Macpherson, while concurring with Mr. Justice Trevor on the principle that the enhanced rent should bear to the present value of the produce the same proportion as the old rent bore to the value of produce at the time taken for comparison, wrote in his judgment—

"Let the zemindar go back to any year he chooses; let him go back to the last adjustment if he can; if not, to any year which he thinks will suit his purpose."

Experience has shewn that these conditions practically frustrate the object of the Act. In most cases of resettlement of large estates the Collector is unable to obtain from the zemindars anything like complete papers, from which it can be shown in what year, or on what area (and therefore on what rates), the existing arrangement as to rent was made with each separate ryot, such arrangement having in most cases been made, and the holding itself created, at some time after the last general settlement of the estate, the records of which therefore contain no mention of it.

It is against the interest both of the zemindar and of the ryot to furnish the information, and not only so, but in many cases, even in estates the property of Government, the information does not exist in such a systematic shape as to make it available. In the absence of it, it is impossible for the settlement officer to set out the grounds of enhancement in the notices, or eventually to establish them in Court, if called on to do so, in the specific manner required.

As the assessment of the land revenue demand on the zemindars must depend in great measure on the aggregate of the rents which are paid by the under-tenants and ryots, the effect of the difficulty above explained is to debar the settlement officer, on the expiration of the term for which an estate has been temporarily settled, from assessing on it such a demand of land revenue as fairly represents the share of the unearned increased value of the produce of the soil to which the State is fairly entitled as public revenue.

The object of the Bill is to remove this difficulty, while securing the ryot against arbitrary and excessive enhancement.

PART VI.

Bill of the Indian Council.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 5th March, 1879, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 4 OF 1879.

A Bill to amend the Presidency Banks Act, 1876.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Presidency Banks Act, 1876, in manner hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title. Commencement.

1. This Act may be called "The Presidency Banks Act, 1879;" and it shall come into force on the first day of May, 1879.

Amendment of Act XI of 1876, section 28.

2. To the first clause of section 28 of the Presidency Banks Act, 1876, the following proviso shall be added, that is to say:

"Provided that no person shall be chosen to be President or Vice-President twice in succession."

Amendment of section 34 of same Act.

3. In the same Act, section 34, before the words "no Khazánchi," the words "without the previous sanction of the Board" shall be inserted.

Amendments of section 36.

4. In the same Act, section 36, clause (a), sub-clause (4), after the words "municipal body," the words "or any body of Commissioners for making improvements in any port or of trustees of any port" shall be inserted.

In the same section, the words "in the case of the Bank of Madras" shall be omitted in both the places in which they occur.

In the same section, after clause (m), the following clause shall be inserted, that is to say, "(m m) the borrowing of money in India for the purposes of the Bank's business and the giving of security for money so borrowed by pledging assets or otherwise."

Amendment of section 37.

5. In section 37 of the same Act, for clause (d), the following shall be substituted, that is to say,

"(d) Nor shall they (except upon the security mentioned in section 36, paragraph a, Nos. 1 to 5 inclusive) discount bills for any individual or partnership-firm for an amount exceeding in the whole at any one time such sum as may be prescribed by the bye-laws for the time being in force, or lend or advance in any way to any individual or partnership-firm an amount exceeding in the whole at any one time such sum as may be so prescribed."

Amendment of section 63.

6. In section 63 of the same Act, clause (a), for the words "lent by discount of bills or otherwise to," the words "lent to or for which bills may be discounted for" shall be substituted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

1. THE necessity for this Bill has arisen chiefly from a doubt which has been expressed as to whether the Presidency-banks have power under the Presidency Banks Act, 1876, to borrow money for the purposes of their business by pledging assets or otherwise. The need of such a power is obvious.

As observed in a memorial recently submitted to the Governor General in Council by the banks, "it is an ordinary incident of banking-business to obtain funds for temporary purposes by pledging assets. If banks are prohibited from raising money by pledge of assets when occasion arises, they may, on a sudden requisition for cash, be obliged to make forced sales of property at a disadvantage; and this applies with great force to the Presidency-banks of India whose action in forcing Government or other securities on the market might cause a public panic."

The power required will be conferred by a new clause which the Bill (in the last clause of section 4) proposes to add to section 36 of the Act; but it is limited to borrowing in India, because so long as the Government balances are in the custody of the Presidency-banks, it is not considered expedient that the banks should engage in foreign exchanges or have the power of creating a foreign agency in England, which would be the necessary results of conceding a power to borrow out of India.

2. The other sections of the Bill provide for certain minor amendments of the Act which it has been thought desirable to take this opportunity of making.

Section 2 provides that no person shall be, in two successive years, chosen as President or Vice-President of a Presidency-bank.

3. Section 3, which admits of a khazánchi, cashier or shroff at the principal office of a bank engaging in business with the previous sanction of the Board, has been introduced at the instance of the Bank of Bengal, who represent that the absolute prohibition contained in the present law makes it difficult to secure the services of a suitable person, and that the necessity for any such absolute prohibition has ceased to exist, now that the khazánchi has no longer any concern with the discount business in Native Bills, and is, in fact, a mere cashier.

4. Lastly, clauses have been added to clear up an ambiguity which, in the opinion of Counsel, attaches to section 37, clause (d), and section 63, clause (a), of the Act; to include in the securities on which loans may be made, and in which the banks may invest, debentures and other securities issued by the Port Trusts under Acts of the Indian legislatures, and to concede to the Banks of Bengal and Bombay the power already possessed by the Bank of Madras of drawing and dealing in negotiable instruments, and issuing bank-post-bills and letters of credit, payable in Ceylon.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c, are deduced from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.; the maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 80, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 8 feet higher at Alipore, and other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 1° or 1½° lower; and finally, the thermometer, which has furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during the last 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0·6° higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

PART I A.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India, &c.

[Reprinted from the Gazette of India.]

The following order, issued by the Government of India in the Financial Department, is republished for general information :—

ACCOUNTS AND FINANCE.

The 13th March 1879.

No. 1270.—His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council has resolved to borrow Five Crores of Rupees for the Public Service in the following manner.

2. Promissory Notes will be issued for the said amount in the Form annexed to this Notification, being the Form of the Notes of the Transfer Loan 1879, of which Loan the Notes to be now issued will form a part. All the conditions which apply to Notes of the first Form of the Transfer Loan 1879 will apply to the Notes to be now issued.

3. Tenders for the whole or any part of the said amount of Five Crores of Rupees will be received by the Comptroller General from this date to noon of Monday the 12th of May 1879.

4. Each tender must be addressed, in the Form annexed to this Notification, to the Comptroller General, Treasury Buildings, Calcutta, and enclosed in a sealed cover superscribed "Tender for Four-and-a-Half Per Cent. Loan, 1879." If the tenderer is not resident in India, he must name an Agent resident in India to whom a Letter of Allotment may be issued, if any part of the Loan is allotted to such tenderer.

5. Each tender must be accompanied by a receipt from one of the Banks of Bengal, Madras or Bombay, or one of their Branches, or from an Officer in charge of some Government treasury, or by a cheque on a banker in Calcutta, Madras or Bombay, or by Government Promissory Notes made payable to the Comptroller General, for not less than one-hundredth, or, if the tender be for less than five lakhs of Rupees, then, for not less than one-fiftieth part of the tender: this deposit of one or two per centum will be forfeited if the allotment is not fully taken up, and, if it is in cash, will be treated as in part payment of the last instalment: a cash deposit may, after acceptance of the tender in support of which it is made, be replaced by a Government Promissory Note.

6. The rate at which each tender is made must be specified in Rupees, or Rupees and Annas: a tender in which no rate is thus specified, but a subscription is offered at the Recorded Minimum, or at some specified percentage in addition to the Recorded Minimum, will be rejected as null and void.

7. The rate at which a tender is made must not contain a fraction of an anna; if a rate containing a fraction of an anna is inserted in any tender, such fraction will be struck out, and the tender treated as if the rate did not contain such fraction of an anna.

8. The Minimum Rate at which tenders will be accepted will be recorded under the signature of the Comptroller General, and, when the tenders are opened, placed upon the table in a sealed envelope, but will not be declared unless some tender is rejected only because it is below the Recorded Minimum.

9. Tenders will be opened, publicly, at the Office of the Comptroller General in Calcutta, at noon on Monday the 12th of May 1879: but the contents of the tenders will not be disclosed otherwise than as provided in Clause 11.

10. Tenders at the Recorded Minimum Rate, and at rates above the Recorded Minimum Rate, will be accepted in the order of the rates tendered, beginning with the highest rate: the amount allotted at the lowest rate at which tenders are accepted, will be divided amongst those who have tendered at this rate, in proportion, as nearly as may be found convenient, to the amounts of their tenders.

11. As soon as possible after the said 12th May 1879, Letters of Allotment will be issued to those persons whose tenders are accepted in whole or in part, or to their Agents; and an alphabetical list of the names of those to whom such Letters of Allotment are issued will be posted, for general information, at the Head-Offices of the Banks of Bengal, Madras and Bombay.

12. Payment of any accepted tender may be made to the account of the Government in the Head-Office of one of the Banks of Bengal, Madras or Bombay or in any Branch of any of these Banks, or into any Government treasury or treasuries in India which may be named in the tender.

13. Accepted tenders must be paid, in five equal instalments, as follows:—

One-fifth on or before Friday the 30th May 1879,
One-fifth on or before Monday the 30th June 1879,
One-fifth on or before Wednesday the 30th July 1879,
One-fifth on or before Saturday the 30th August 1879,
One-fifth on or before Saturday the 13th September 1879, but the whole or any part of any accepted tender may be paid at any time after receipt of the Letter of Allotment.

14. Interest upon each payment will be promptly paid in advance at the rate of four-and-a-half per centum per annum, from the date of such payment to the Fourteenth day of September 1879.

15. Scrip receipts for instalments paid will be given by the Banks of Bengal, Madras and Bombay or their Branches, or by the Officers in charge of the Government treasuries at which payment is made. These receipts will, as soon as possible, be exchanged for Promissory Notes issued under this Notification.

POST OFFICE.

The 7th March 1879.

No. 1170.—Ordered that the following Resolution be published in the Gazette of India :—

It has been brought to the notice of the Government of India that articles liable to sea customs duty are frequently imported into India through the Letter Post, and thus escape the duty to which they are liable. Such importations are in direct contravention of the Indian Post Office Act, 1866, section 60 of which Act declares that any cover supposed to contain articles subject to customs duty may be opened by the Post Office authorities after due notice to attend has been given to the addressee.

His Excellency the Governor-General in Council desires to remind the public that the importation through the Letter Post of goods liable to duty is illegal, and to notify for general information that the provisions of section 60 of Act XIV of 1866 will be strictly enforced.

Ordered that this Resolution be communicated to the several local Governments and Administrations, and for information and guidance to the Director-General of the Post Office of India.

STEAM BOILERS AND PRIME-MOVERS.

THE HON'BLE MR. O'KINEALY moved that the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the periodical inspection of steam boilers and prime-movers attached thereto in the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta and in Howrah be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill, and that the clauses of the Bill be considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee. His Honor the President would remember that the Bill, as it originally stood, was in charge of their colleague Mr. Cockerell, who, on his departure to Europe, placed the Bill in MR. O'KINEALY's hands. The principle which he understood guided Mr. Cockerell in dealing with the Bill was to limit Government interference to an extent that would be necessary to the proper inspection of boilers and prime-movers attached thereto. He trusted the Council would see that the Select Committee had dealt with the matter in the same spirit. Under Section 4 the Lieutenant-Governor had power to make rules and to change them from time to time to suit circumstances. Under Section 9 any person dissatisfied with the orders passed in connection with any boiler or prime-mover might appeal from such order. The appeal might either be on matters of detail or of considerable importance. The Committee had therefore provided that the appellant be authorized to elect the tribunal that should hear his appeal. In small matters the appeal might be laid before an expert appointed by the Government; in matters of importance, the question would be tried by a trained Judge, assisted by two experts. So that in every way facility was given for the fair determination of the matters to be decided. One provision in the amended Bill seemed somewhat novel. If the Inspector made an unjust order, and the order was set aside on appeal, the Government must pay the cost of the appeal. On the other hand, if a person preferred an appeal from an order without just cause, and the appeal was dismissed, the appellant must bear the cost. The members of the Committee considered it fair and just that such a clause should be framed to prevent the passing of ill-considered and hasty orders on the one part and needless appeals on the other.

The motion was agreed to, and on the motion of MR. O'KINEALY the Bill was passed.

ENHANCEMENT OF RENT BY SETTLEMENT OFFICERS.

THE HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said Act III of 1878 was so lately passed by this Council that its legal history would probably be fresh in the minds of hon'ble members. They would remember that up to twenty years ago the determination of the share of the public in the produce of the land, that is, the State's demand of land revenue, and the determination of the share of the produce which should be paid by the cultivator, that is, rent, went hand in hand. The settlement officer, before assessing the amount of revenue to be demanded, ascertained and recorded what would be the fair rental of the estate, and what might fairly be demanded from the ryot, and the Settlement Regulation of 1822 recognised these rents as determined by the settlement and required the civil courts to respect them. Under this arrangement the practice went on smoothly enough, and some persons would say that all parties were contented and happy. Twenty years ago Act X of 1859 was passed. Nothing was further, he believed, from the intention of the framers of that Act than to interfere in any way with the right of the executive Government to determine the share of the produce or land revenue demand which it should take. But while passing clauses for the protection of the ryot, the Legislature laid down that the ryot's rent should not be enhanced except by a certain procedure and upon certain specific grounds. Hon'ble members were aware that Act X of 1859 was answerable for a good many things which were never contemplated. An officer the other day, while conducting a survey in Durbhunga, was having a conversation with the ryots, who were giving him the history of what had passed of late years. They said that everything was going on quietly. But about ten years ago disturbances took place in which a manager's bungalow was burnt down, and so on, and this they described as "Act das utha." Now the officer to whom they were speaking knew that Act X had been in force many years before the occurrences to which they referred, so he asked them what they meant by "Act das utha." His interlocutor explained that "Act das bulwa hai"—"Act X means a general row." Another bystander, however, condescendingly corrected the first speaker by explaining: "Act das yih hai kih hum malguzári nahin denge!" Act X is this, that "I won't pay my rent!"

The ryots generally had now discovered that this phase of Act X applied to settlements of land revenue. They had gradually found out, or it had been found out for them, that the effect of these protective clauses of Act X of 1859 was to deprive of all validity the rents which had been recorded as demandable by settlement officers. Having found out that, they proceeded to act on the principle, and refused to pay where a higher rent than they had previously paid was recorded by the settlement officer as being fairly demandable from them. Then this followed; the zemindars whose estates were under re-settlement said—"You ask us to pay a higher amount of revenue because the value of the land and the produce has increased. But how are we to pay increased revenue unless we can get the ryots to pay us in proportion, and they won't do that unless we go through the dilatory process of the courts. We get no help from the settlement officer's finding, and without it it takes us two or three years to establish enhanced rents, if we succeed even then: you cannot expect us, under these circumstances, to enter into engagements to pay higher revenue for our estates." Then they threw the management of their estates on the hands of the revenue officers, standing aloof themselves, and receiving only a stipulated cash payment as proprietary allowance. Here was a deadlock approaching. Recognizing that, this Council last year passed Act III of 1878, the object of which was to throw, as it were, the dead weight on the side of the settlement officer's finding as to the proper rents to be paid. No finality was given to their finding, but it was to be presumed that the rent fixed by a settlement officer was fair and equitable, the onus being thrown on the ryot, who was bound to institute a suit to contest the finding within two months if at all. Mr. Dampier was now speaking entirely in the public interests, and not in those of any one class of the public. This Act III of 1878 was passed entirely in the interests of the public revenues, which were being endangered. Since the Act was passed some very large settlements had been brought to a conclusion, the rates had been confirmed, and it only remained to get the ryots to agree to the enhanced rents. The general ground for enhancement was the very great general rise in the value of produce. When the settlement officer began to take advantage of the provisions of Act III of 1878, and to write out notices of enhancement, he found that according to the conditions imposed upon him by the Act, he was pulled up short. He found that in order to draw up such notices of enhancement as would be admitted as valid by the civil courts, he must do what was practically impossible, namely, analyse the holding and rent of each individual ryot and its origin, and in his enhancement notice say—"The rent you are now paying was fixed in such a year; at that time it represented such a proportion of the value of the produce of the land (say one-fourth); now the value of the produce has since then doubled, and I call upon you to pay double your present rent, which will bear the same proportion to the present value of produce as your rent when last fixed bore to the then prevailing value of produce." Well, where was the settlement officer to find these facts? The zemindar, at that particular moment, was against him. Until the ryot's rents were established, the demand of Government revenue could not fairly be raised upon him. And it was obviously the ryot's interest not to give any information at all. And even if the zemindar were inclined to act on the best faith, he was not in a position to furnish the required information. The zemindars generally did not keep their papers so systematically as to enable the Collector to pick out from them the required specific information regarding each ryot's holding. Here was another deadlock. Every expedient had been tried to get over it without legislation, but they had failed, and nothing remained but for Mr. Dampier, as representing the Revenue Department, to ask the permission of the Council to introduce this measure.

Amongst other things, Act III of 1878 limited the grounds upon which settlement-officers may record enhanced rents, to those specified in Act X of 1859. The provisions of Act III of 1878 having thus been found absolutely unworkable, and the public revenues seriously endangered thereby, a remedy had been devised in the present proposal. The settlement officer had in his hands in most cases the record of the last settlement, and found recorded in them what proportion of the value of produce then prevailing was taken as the basis of the rates on which the rents were calculated. It was therefore proposed, while adhering to the general idea of a rise in rents proportionate to the rise in value of produce (which had sprung out of the Rent Law of 1859), that the proportion which would be taken as the basis of comparison should be the general proportion between the rates of rent as fixed at the preceding settlement, and the value of produce then prevailing; instead of applying the comparison separately to the rent of each individual ryot. Under the proposed Bill it would not be necessary to specify that each individual ryot's rent was fixed in such a year, at such an amount, which then bore such a proportion to the value of the produce

The Bill also provided that it should not be necessary to specify the previous area of the holding in an enhancement notice. It might be said, if you have the settlement papers, why not specify the area as it was at the last settlement and compare it with that now held? In fact holdings as they were now, were in 9 out of 10 cases actually unidentifiable with those which existed about 30 or 40 years ago at the time of the last settlement. The holdings of the last settlement had been divided by inheritance, added to by purchase, diminished by sale, and changed in every possible way; so that a holding as it was now held by one individual man, although he might be the son of a father who was recorded as the ryot at the last settlement, was not the same as the holding at that time. Nevertheless the last changes might have taken place more than 12 years ago, and so the ryot might have acquired an occupancy right in what he now actually held. These were the reasons on which the Government was obliged to ask the Council to pass a measure which would allow a settlement officer to enhance rents on calculations founded on the general rates adopted at the previous settlement, and not in proportion to the particular rent which was fixed for any particular holding at the last settlement.

With these remarks he begged to move for leave to bring in a Bill to amend Bengal Act III of 1878 (an Act to define and limit the powers of settlement officers with respect to enhancement of rent).

The Hon'ble Kristodas Pal said he generally concurred with the remarks of the hon'ble mover of the Bill. He fully recognised the difficulty which under the existing law existed in the way of the settlement of rents, whether as regards Government estates or private estates. But there were one or two points in connection with the Bill which he wished to bring to the notice of the Council. He observed that under section 1 of the Bill the rules of enhancement, as laid down in Act X of 1859, would be practically abrogated. He fully admitted that those rules as interpreted by the High Court had now become to all intents and purposes unworkable; and that consequently the enhancement of rent under the guidance of those rules had come to a deadlock. But if the Council thought it necessary to abrogate those rules, he was of opinion that it ought to be done openly and not in a covert way; for while this Bill retained section 2 of Act III of 1878, it introduced a proviso which practically superseded that section. He for one would fully and absolutely recognise the principle laid down in the Bill without reference to the specific ground contained in section 17 of Act X of 1859. Then, with regard to the principle on which rent was to be enhanced or settled under the Bill, he observed that the mover had adopted the principle of proportion of the gross value of produce. He for one considered that a fair and equitable principle. He thought it was a step in advance towards the solution of the great Rent problem, but he would take the liberty to suggest that in no case should the increase of rent be more than double the existing rent. Proceeding upon the principle laid down in the section, the rent might in any case be trebled or quadrupled. But he did not think it would be fair to enhance rent to more than double the current rent. It might be said, as indeed it was pointed out by the hon'ble mover in his opening remarks, that a settlement having been made 30 or 40 years ago, the ryots had been gradually encroaching on other lands not belonging to them, and thus possessed more lands than they were lawfully entitled to, and consequently the old rent bore no fair relation to their liability. In that case Baboo Kristodas Pal would suggest, for the consideration of the hon'ble mover, the propriety of defining a share of the produce as the measure of the rent payable by the ryot, whether it be one-third or one-fourth, just as the hon'ble council might consider fair and equitable.

Once this share was declared, the gross value of the produce might be calculated and made the basis for the settlement of rent. But whatever course might be followed, Baboo Kristodas Pal thought that in no case should the enhanced rent be more than double the existing rent, or more than one-third or one-fourth of the gross value of produce. And, lastly, once the rent was settled, the ryot should be allowed rest or immunity from the pains and troubles of an enhancement suit for a reasonable period. The settlement, in his opinion, should be allowed currency for ten years, and the ryot protected from molestation or interference for enhancement of his rent during that period.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier applied to the President to suspend the rules for the conduct of business to enable him to move that the Bill be read in Council.

His Honor the President observed that generally he objected to suspend the rules of the Council, but he thought that in this case it was desirable that they should try and get the Bill forward one stage. There appeared to be no objection to the principle of the Bill, and objections to the detail he thought would better be considered in Committee. He therefore suspended the rules.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier then moved that the Bill be read in Council, and in doing so he would proceed to remark on the form of the Bill. It had been suggested that the Act which this Bill proposed to amend was such a short one, and the amendments in proportion were so long, that it would be better to repeal the Act at once and re-enact it in an amended form. He quite agreed to that himself, but he deliberately did not frame the Bill in that shape because, in the form in which he had drawn it, the points of change were more prominently brought to notice. But he did think, if the Select Committee agreed, that it would be better to pass this measure as an entirely new Act.

With reference to the remarks of the hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Kristodas Pal), who said that the Bill abrogated section 2 of Act III of 1878, Mr. Dampier would not say "abrogated," because it left those grounds of enhancement in full force which were contained in Act X of 1859. But the Bill undisguisedly laid down a new ground of enhancement which would be held to be sufficient for the purposes of settlement officers. It made a fourth ground as it were of enhancement, and in doing so the Government had tried to follow the spirit of the Rent Law and of the decisions passed on it. The idea of the proportion between the rent and the produce of the land to be retained in enhancing rents was altogether the child of Act X of 1859. It was not proposed to let the settlement officer do as he liked. Then the hon'ble gentleman said that under the Bill a ryot might be called upon to pay four times the rent he was previously paying. As a matter of principle, Mr. Dampier thought that this objection could not be supported. If the ryot now had the use of land of which the value was fourfold the value of the land which he held at the last settlement, why should he not pay four times the former amount for the use of it? But in reducing principles to action allowance must be made for friction. Say the rents of ryots on an estate were fixed 30 or 40 years ago. Perhaps they pressed a little hardly when they were fixed; but gradually, as the value of produce rose, the pressure had been getting lighter and lighter. With that the ryot's habits of life, his wants, and his social status had been gradually rising; and it would be a hardship suddenly to reduce him to his old status. Any ordinary settlement officer would give full weight to that and many similar considerations before raising the ryots' rents to the full extent of the rise in the value of produce: whether a Civil Court Judge might properly exercise any such mitigating discretion when called on to apply the legal rule of proportion against the ryot was more doubtful.

Then as to paying one-fourth or one-third of the value of the produce, and enacting that the amount of rent should in no case exceed that proportion. Speaking for himself individually, as he had no opportunity of learning what His Honor's views on this point might be, he should have no objection to some such specified limit being introduced in the Bill.

As to the next suggestion, that the ryot's rent once fixed should not be liable to enhancement until after the expiration of ten years, or some other fixed period, every one to whom he had ever spoken on the subject agreed to the expediency of adopting such a rule.

The Hon'ble Syed Ameer Ali said that it seemed to him that this Bill changed the entire spirit of Act III of 1878, which was passed only a year ago. He was therefore inclined to agree with the hon'ble member on his left (Baboo Kristodas Pal) in thinking that it would be better to rescind the Act altogether, and pass the Bill as a substantive measure. With reference to the Bill itself, he was not prepared to offer any objection to its principles, but he was of opinion that section 3 would certainly press heavily upon the ryots. The ryots, as a general rule, were poor and ignorant, and not always in a position to express their views and feelings respecting any legislation affecting them as a body, and therefore it was especially necessary that any objection from their point of view should be submitted to the Council. Now, section 3 of this Bill declared that the enhancement of the rent should be in proportion to the increase in the value of produce, as it seemed to him, not with reference to any particular holding, but generally in and about the adjacent lands. If he remembered rightly the provisions of section 17 of Act X of 1859, and section 18 of the Bengal Act VIII of 1869, the enhancement could be claimed if the value of the produce, or the productive powers of the land held by the ryots, had increased. It might so happen that in a particular case the land with reference to which enhancement was attempted to be made might have deteriorated since the time of the last settlement, whilst the productive capacity of the adjacent lands might have increased. In that case the settlement officer, proceeding on the basis of a general increase in the value of produce, would enhance the rates of the particular holding in question, and the unfortunate ryot would be thereby materially prejudiced. He thought, therefore, that some restrictions ought to be imposed on the discretion of the settlement officers regarding the standard which should be taken for the enhancement of rent with reference to the value of produce. The increase in the value of produce should be with reference to the particular holding in respect of which enhancement was claimed. He hoped this principle might be borne in mind in Select Committee.

The Hon'ble Mohini Mohun Roy said it appeared to him that under the existing law, as contained in Bengal Act VIII of 1869, it was not necessary, in cases of enhancement on the ground that the value of the produce had increased, to show that the value of the produce of a particular holding had increased. It was quite sufficient to prove that the value of a particular article of produce had increased in the locality. So far as the principle was concerned, he did not think the provisions introduced in this Bill in amendment of section 5 of Act III of 1878 did in effect alter the law of enhancement as contained in Act X of 1859 or Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869. There was another reason for which he thought he ought to lend his support to the Bill. Before the passing of Act X of 1859 there was a provision in the Regulation VII of 1822 that the proceedings of the settlement officer should be final and binding on all parties, and some time after Act X of 1859 was passed that was considered to be the law. It was not till 1869 or 1870 that the question was first raised that Act X of 1859 having introduced a provision that in all cases of enhancement of rent it was necessary to serve notice of enhancement before enhancement could be demanded, the rates fixed by settlement officers in the settlement of Government estates could not be final. And he thought that in this matter the question of the enhancement of rents of ryots in Government estates should be placed on a more practical basis than what had been laid down in Act X of 1859 and Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier said in reply that the hon'ble member opposite (Syed Ameer Ali) considered that the value of produce should be compared with the value of the produce of the actual holding. That was really objecting to the whole principle of the Bill. The principal reason for the introduction of this Bill was that it could not be found what the holding was at the time of the last settlement, that there was no means of tracing the land of each ryot, but if it were possible to compare holding with holding, that comparison would of course be taken into consideration.

The motion was then agreed to, and the Bill referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Mackenzie, the Hon'ble Mr. O'Kinealy, the Hon'ble Mr. Syed Ameer Ali, the Hon'ble Kristodas Pal, the Hon'ble Mohini Mohan Roy, and the Mover, with instructions to report in three weeks.

DRAINAGE IN BENGAL.

THE HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved for leave to bring in a Bill to facilitate drainage in Bengal on the model of Bengal Act V of 1871, "the Hooghly and Burdwan Drainage Act." That Act was well known to officials and landholders in this neighbourhood, and the object of the Bill was to take advantage of the experience which they had had in the working of the Act in Hooghly and Burdwan, and to have a measure applicable to any part of Bengal for the carrying out of any drainage scheme which might be considered necessary by the Lieutenant-Governor, to be worked out by the engineering officers of the Government, with the consent of not less than one-half of the proprietors whose lands would be reclaimed and improved, and who would eventually have to pay the cost of the work.

The motion was put and agreed to.

MANAGEMENT OF INLAND STEAM VESSELS.

The HON'BLE MR. INGLIS begged to move for leave to bring in a Bill to provide for the proper management of certain inland steam vessels. Although the Bill stood in his name, he ought to explain that Government accepted the responsibility of introducing the measure, and that he took charge of it at the request of His Honor the President. He understood that the need for such a Bill partly arose out of the intention to make pilotage on the Hooghly compulsory. Until lately, the public were under the impression that all vessels navigating the Hooghly were bound to employ a pilot. The High Court, however, in a recent case, decided that this view was incorrect. It was the intention of Government to remove all doubt on the subject by extending the provisions of section 38 of the Indian Ports Act, 1875, making pilotage compulsory on the river Hooghly below Calcutta, and therefore a special enactment, such as he now moved for leave to bring in, was needed to meet the case of inland steamers. It was proposed that commanders of such steamers, if duly certificated, should be held to be pilots for the purposes of section 38 of the Indian Ports Act, in respect of their own vessels. The alternative to this would be for Government to provide for such vessels a special establishment of pilots at Channel Creek, where inland steamers enter and leave the Hooghly. Apart, however, from the question of expense, which was a sufficient obstacle in itself to the adoption of such a plan, inland steamers being by law subject to the Carriers Act, their commanders and owners, with due regard to the interests of the public, should be relieved of responsibility in the same way that commanders of sea-gonig vessels were when a pilot was on board. Fears had been expressed that the examination of commanders of inland steamers, with a view to the granting of certificates, might be so strict as to prevent some of them, who had much practical experience, from passing. This fear he believed to be quite groundless, but in any case, he was assured that length of service and character would be taken into account in granting certificates, quite as much as a man's ability to answer any questions that might be put. The Bill would provide for the trial and punishment of certificated commanders when guilty of incompetency or misconduct; and in view of the fact that no law short of the Penal Code could at present reach them, this seemed to be necessary. It was proposed to put commanders of inland steamers on the same footing in this respect as commanders of sea-going steamers; so that both would be subject to the jurisdiction of the Marine Court empowered under the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1875, to enquire into charges of incompetency or misconduct. This would not, he believed, be objected to by the parties affected.

He should think, indeed, that owners of inland steamers, as well as commanders, would, in the end, derive benefit from the measure. The Council would doubtless be glad to receive any suggestions regarding the Bill from those who had a special knowledge of the subject. Government, he was sure, wished to frame a measure that would work satisfactorily, and he had little doubt that if leave were given to bring in this Bill, the Council would be able so to frame it.

The motion was put and agreed to.

COURT OF WARDS.

The HON'BLE MR. BUCKLAND said he had not had time to give notice of the motion he was about to make, the object of which was to move that the Bill to amend the law relating to the Court of Wards, as revised by the Select Committee, be referred back to the Committee for further consideration and report. The fact was that the amended Bill was published in last week's Gazette with the view of giving information as quickly as possible to the officers in the mofussil of the proposed changes in the law. At that time his hon'ble colleague Mr. Dampier was on duty out of Calcutta, and since his return to Calcutta he had expressed a wish to give the Committee the benefit of his practical experience in the administration of the Wards' Department in the further consideration and amendment of the Bill, and the Select Committee were equally desirous of having his valuable experience. MR. BUCKLAND therefore moved that the Bill be referred back to the Select Committee, and that the Hon'ble Mr. Dampier's name be added to the Committee.

The motion was agreed to.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 15th instant.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.; the maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

The 17th March 1879.

Reports of Fluctuation of Traffic on the East Indian Railway for four weeks ending 22nd February 1879.

EAST INDIAN RAILWAY, TRAFFIC MANAGER'S OFFICE, JAMALPORE, THE 13TH MARCH 1879.

Remarks on Traffic of East Indian Railway for four weeks ending 22nd February 1879.

THE approximate figures for the period are as follow:—

	Coaching.		Goods.		Total.
	No.	Rs.	Mds.	Rs.	Rs.
1879	631,547	8,07,189	67,91 958	22,77,328	31,44,515
1878	611,434	8,57,018	66,25,434	22,28,739	30 85,757
Increase	20,113	10,171	1,66,524	48,587	58.758
Decrease	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....

The coaching traffic has been improved by the movement of pilgrims throughout the month of February. Very large numbers have travelled to and from Baidyanath—Bankipore for Gya and Benares.

In merchandise there is a slight increase of 2 51 per cent in weight lifted and 2 per cent. in earnings.

With the exception of grain seeds and downwards coal, there has been an increase in the generality of staples carried.

The principal items which call for remarks are—

Increases.

Coal, up.	Government stores.	Piece-goods.
Cotton.	Juggree.	Foreign Railway materials.

Decreases.

Coal, down.	Hides.	Seeds.
Edible grains and pulses.	Opium.

Increases.

Coal, up ... ... Mds. 1,97,152 Rs. 68,791

Increased demand from foreign lines to replenish stocks has caused this improvement.

Large despatches have been made from the Kurhurballee collieries to Benares, Gazeeabad, and Jubbulpore.

Cotton ... ... Mds. 1,25,431 Rs. 2,16,536

Enquiry for this staple continued during February, and it will be seen that the amount of freight earned is large.

Government stores ... ... Mds. 10,746 Rs. 27,954

This includes both Ordnance and Commissariat stores, which continue to be despatched for the troops on the frontier.

Juggree ... ... Mds. 1,03,722 Rs. 1,843

The increase in weight as compared with the small increased earnings is accounted for by the short lead over the main line this year, the bulk of this traffic has gone in the direction of Bombay

Piece-goods ... ... Mds. 36 304 Rs. 36,257

The up-country markets have been more active during the month, and despatches have continued from Howrah principally to Patna, Cawnpore, and Delhi.

Foreign Railway materials ... ... Mds. 1,05,864 Rs. 46,057

This increase has arisen from the carriage of material from Howrah to the Nalhati and Gya State Railways.

Decreases.

Coal, down ... ... Mds. 69,295 Rs 8,983

This represents 2,500 tons or about five train-loads during the month, and is only a decrease of 4½ per cent. on the weight carried in some period of 1878

Edible grains and pulses—

In tons the increases and decreases are as follow:—

	Increase.		Decrease.
	Tons.	Rs.	Tons.	Rs.
Barley	.....	.....	5,781	20,275
Oats	.....	.....	300	3,409
Rice	.....	.....	13,310	1,83,007
Wheat	.....	.....	2,800	10,285
Pulses	.....	.....	24,125	1,07,873
Other grains	40 000	1,29,366	.....	.....
Increase	40,000	1,29,366	.....	.....
Decrease	.....	.....	46,316	3,24,849

The net decrease being tons 6,316 (Rs. 1,95,483); but this is more than counterbalanced by the increase in cotton traffic, amounting to Rs. 2,16,536.

In "other grains" the improvement has arisen from the large quantity of edible grain carried this month towards Rajpootana and the Punjab, where scarcity was expected. This would have been considerably increased but for the inability of the Rajpootana State Railway to cope with the traffic which we were offering for Rajpootana early in February. The through booking of edible grain and all special class goods either viâ Delhi or viâ Agra is still prohibited, and this action on the part of the Rajpootana State Railway authorities has had a most depressing influence on the principal marts in the north-west and as a natural consequence on our receipts

Hides	Mds.	26,345	Rs 23,539
Opium	,,	54,781	,, 63,927
Seeds	,,	1,29,884	,, 75,485

The seed traffic has fallen off considerably owing to the crops last year having partially failed and the new crop not having yet come in. Cawnpore and Patna are the principal stations where this traffic has declined.

The train mileage for the period has been—

	Coaching.	Goods.	Total.
1879	101,615	428,309	619,924
1878	186,620	447,795	634,416

Jubbulpore line traffic—

Increases	.....	.....	5,54,872	1,22,382	1,14,538
Decreases	2,168	7,844	.....	.....	.....

In coaching the decrease is owing to fewer troop trains running this year as compared with last.

The increase in merchandize is in edible grains to Bombay.

The train mileage for the period has been—

	Coaching.	Goods	Total.
1879	21,500	77,069	98,569
1878	21,503	42,030	63,533

No. 207.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA—FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

MINT AND CURRENCY.

Fort William, the 17th January 1879.

READ again—

(1) Resolution No. 3733, dated 12th December 1873, to withdraw from circulation all copper coin issued before Act XXI of 1835 came into force, which finds its way to the Government treasuries, or on Government account, to the Presidency Banks and their Branches.

Read the following papers :—

(2) A letter from the Government of Fort Saint George, submitting a proposal made by the Accountant-General, Madras, that some date be fixed, by notification or otherwise, after which "uncurrent copper coin of the old mintage shall not be received by the Government." The Government of Madras considers that sufficient notice should be given to the public, and the coins duly called-in before they are declared illegal.

(3) A telegram to the Accountant-General, Madras, No. 1493, dated 25th February 1878, forbidding the withdrawal of copper coins of British Mints, in good condition, of whatever date.

(4) A circular, No. 19, dated 1st March 1878, issued by the Accountant-General, Madras, to give effect to the instructions recited in para. (3).

(5) A letter from the Comptroller-General, No. 2382, dated 15th March, asking for copy of the orders justifying the circular by the Accountant-General, Madras, recited in para. (4).

(6) (a) A letter from the Accountant-General, Madras (enclosing one from the Secretary and Treasurer of the Bank of Madras), reporting that copper coins, bearing on one side the device of a pair of scales, and certain four-pie pieces, are not readily received by the public; and repeating his suggestion, recited in para. (2), that copper coin which is not legal tender under the Indian Coinage Act, 1870, should cease to be received in the public treasuries.

(b) A further letter from the same officer, calling attention to the foregoing letter, and pointing out that the Comptroller-General, in clause 4 of his circular No. 21 of the 6th March 1878, has already forbidden the receipt at public treasuries of any copper coin which is not legal tender under the Indian Coinage Act, 1870.

(c) A further letter from the same officer, calling attention to his letters hereinbefore recited, and submitting, as a specimen, a report from the Treasury Officer of Madura, to the effect that there is uncurrent copper coin (chiefly, it would appear, the aforesaid scale coins) to the value of Rs. 800-4-0 in his treasury which the public refuse to receive.

(7) A letter from the Accountant-General, Bombay, No. 1757R., dated 8th May, enquiring whether the orders upon which the circular instruction by the Accountant-General, Madras, recited in para. 4, was issued, are applicable to the Bombay Presidency.

(8) A demi-official letter to the Mint Master, Calcutta, No. 921, dated 24th July 1878, and his reply, containing particulars of the copper coins issued from time to time by the Bengal Mints.

(9) A demi-official letter to the Mint Master, Bombay, No. 922, dated 24th July 1878, and his reply, containing particulars of the copper coinage of the Bombay Mints.

(10) A demi-official to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Madras, No. 923, dated 24th July 1878, and replies by the Accountant-General, Madras, containing details of the copper coinage of the Madras Mints.

(11) A demi-official letter to the Mint Master, Bombay, No. 47, dated 1st October, and his reply, showing the loss incurred by withdrawing copper coins.

Read again—

(12) Letter to the Comptroller-General, No. 2295, dated 16th August 1878, authorizing the receipt for full value from Mysore of Rs. 9,343 worth of copper coins of British coinage prior to 1835.

Read—

(13) Letter from the Accountant-General, Madras, No. 172N., dated 20th September, inviting attention to his letters recited in para. (6), and observing that, pending orders upon those letters, he will not move the said copper coin from Mysore.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor-General in Council is not prepared to call in any copper coin, the produce of British Mints, however old its date. Such a copper coin may not unreasonably be regarded as a metallic token equivalent to a promise on the part of the British Government to accept the coin at the value placed on it when it was originally issued.

2. Any copper coin which can be recognized as the produce of a British Mint should therefore, be received freely as legal tender against the Government, or by the Presidency Banks in payment of Government dues—

(1) if it bears the designation of any existing legal-tender copper coin, or multiple, or sub-division thereof—then at its nominal value;

(2) if it bears some obsolete designation, such as "cash," "dabs," or "faluses" —then at the rate of a-quarter-of-an-anna for every hundred grains troy of its weight.

3. But His Excellency in Council is pleased to resolve, in supersession of all previous orders to the contrary, that, for the present, as an experimental measure, no copper coin coined before Act XXI of 1835 came into force shall be re-issued either by the Presidency Banks or from any Government treasury. The Comptroller-General should keep himself informed of the operation of these orders, and report if the quantity of copper coin withdrawn under them becomes inconveniently great. Meanwhile all such coins which come into the ex-officio possession of any Government officer or of the Presidency Banks, should be returned into store at the nearest depôt, or sub-depôt, established under Resolution No. 884, dated 14th June 1878.

4. The Comptroller-General will issue such orders as he may think fit for the effectual destruction of all such copper coins received at such depôts and sub-depôts; determining, in consultation with the Mint Masters, whether their destruction can be safely entrusted to the local officers, or whether the coin must be carried to the nearest Mint and there destroyed. In either case, the metal should be sold as old copper.

5. The Comptroller-General will also report, for the approval of the Government of India, the measures which he proposes to adopt for passing through the public accounts the cost of withdrawing such obsolete coins.

6. The Comptroller-General will also report annually the amount and particulars of copper coin of the coinages before 1835 withdrawn under these orders.

7. For the convenience of the Banks and Treasury Officers in giving effect to these orders, it is observed that only the following copper coins will henceforth be re-issued from any Presidency Bank or Government office:—

(1) Double-pice or Half-an-anna.
(2) Pice or A-quarter-of-an-anna.
(3) Half-pice or One-eighth-of-an-anna.
(4) Pie or One-twelfth-of-an-anna.

The coins to be thus re-issued are of two descriptions:

1*st*.—The device upon the obverse of those coined under Acts passed before Act XIII of 1862 is the armorial bearings of the East India Company with a year of the Christian era. Upon the reverse is a laurel wreath surrounding the designation of the coin in English and (except the older half-pice, which only bear the date 1853) Persian, and the words "East India Company" in English.

2*nd*.—The device upon the obverse of those coined under Act XIII of 1862 and later Acts is the effigy, name, and title of the reigning sovereign. Upon the reverse is a laurel wreath surrounding the designation of the coin in English over the word "India" and a year of the Christian era.

ORDERED, that this Resolution be distributed for information and guidance as follows:—

1.—To the several Departments of the Government of India.
2.—To the several Local Governments and Administrations.
3.—To the Comptroller-General and to the several Accountants-General and Deputy Accountants-General in independent charge.
4.—To the several Chiefs of Departments administered by the Government of India in the Financial Department.
5.—To the Presidency Banks.

R. H. HOLLINGBERY,
Assistant Secretary to the Government of India.

The 24th March 1879.—The following Rules proposed for the lease of Waste Lands in the Sundarbans are published for general information. They will take effect from the 1st of May 1879, but will be subject to modification up to that date:—

DRAFT RULES FOR THE LEASE OF WASTE LANDS IN THE SUNDARBANS OF THE 24-PERGUNNAHS, JESSORE, AND BACKERGUNGE.

I.—LANDS AVAILABLE FOR LEASE.

Definition of waste lands.

1. The "waste lands" to which these rules apply include all ungranted and unoccupied land at the disposal of Government in the Sundarbans of the 24-Pergunnahs, Jessore, and Backergunge, which has not been declared reserved forest under the Forest Act.

Waste land available for grant.

2. In respect of the granting of leases for such lands the Commissioner of the Sundarbans shall exercise all the powers of a Collector of Land Revenue under Act XXIII of 1863, provided that before acting on an application for the lease of any land the Commissioner of the Sundarbans shall refer the application to the Conservator of Forests and ascertain that there is no objection in his department to the application being granted.

Government may by special order withhold lands from lease.

3. The Government reserves to itself the right of withholding any land from being leased by special order made at any time before the lease is finally given by the Sundarban Commissioner; in such cases all expenses deposited by the applicant for demarcation, survey, and advertisement under the following rules shall be refunded to him, together with the reasonable expenses of clearing any lines and erecting any temporary boundaries which he may have incurred with the permission of the Sundarban Commissioner, as provided in rule 10.

II.—APPLICATION AND PROCEDURE BEFORE ADVERTISEMENT.

Applications what to contain

4. Applications for leases shall be written on paper bearing a court fee stamp as required by law, and shall contain the following particulars:—

First.—The estimated area of the land applied for in standard bighas of eighty cubits square, with its character and description.

Second.—The situation of the land accurately ascertained, and described as fully as possible.

Third.—A rough sketch map of the lands applied for.

A form of application marked A is annexed to these rules.

Register of applications.

5. All applications shall be entered at once in a register, of which the form shall be prescribed by the Board of Revenue.

5(a). In the portion of the Sundarbans which has been declared "Protected Forest" under the Forest Act, no blocks of waste land which are altogether surrounded by ungranted and unoccupied land shall be leased under these rules. No block shall be given on lease which is not adjacent to land which has already been granted for the purpose of cultivation. All applications which do not comply with this rule shall be rejected.

Lots to be compact.

6. Every lot applied for must be compact, including no more than a single tract of land such as might be enclosed in a ring fence. If the land touches a navigable river, the river frontage must not exceed one-half the depth of the lot; but for special reasons the Board of Revenue may relax this condition.

Limitation of area of each lot.

7. No greater area of land than 5,000 standard bighas will be included in one lease except under special orders of Government. Nor will a smaller area than 200 bighas be leased unless the lot has distinct water boundaries on all sides. The sanction of the Board of Revenue shall be necessary to the lease of more than one lot to one applicant, or to the lease of a second lot to an applicant who already holds one. The Board may at its discretion allow such further leases to be given on being satisfied that the applicant is in a position to begin clearing and cultivating at once, and that he bond fide means to do so, provided that each application shall comprise no more than the prescribed maximum area.

Applications to be rejected if rules are not complied with.

8. On receipt of an application the Sundarban Commissioner shall satisfy himself that it complies with all requirements of these rules, and that the land is such as can properly be leased. Should he find that the lands are not available for lease, or that for any reason they ought not to be leased, or that the application does not fulfil the requirements of the rules, he shall reject the application, or in the latter case allow it to be amended. In no case shall any application be admitted without special sanction of the Board of Revenue for any land which any persons are found to be occupying or using.

Sundarban Commissioner to determine whether survey is required.

9. When no objection is known to exist against the lease being made, the Sundarban Commissioner shall determine whether a survey of the lands is required, or whether the maps and records of previous surveys available in his office are sufficient for the ready identification and demarcation of the boundaries on the ground.

Cost of demarcation of boundaries.

10. If no survey is required, and it is only necessary to demarcate the boundaries on the ground, the Sundarban Commissioner shall estimate the cost of such demarcation as well as the cost of clearing the lines and erecting temporary boundary marks, and shall call upon the applicant to deposit the same before a certain day, which shall be fixed with reference to the time at which the demarcation can conveniently be made. Provided, however, that it shall be optional with the said Commissioner to allow the applicant himself to clear the jungle and construct such temporary boundary marks as may be considered sufficient for the ready identification of the land, until the permanent marks prescribed by article XIII of the "Terms of lease" shall be erected. If the applicant is allowed to clear the jungle and erect temporary landmarks, he shall enter into an agreement to do so within such reasonable time as shall be fixed by the Sundarban Commissioner.

Cost of survey.

11. Should the Sundarban Commissioner decide that a survey of the land is necessary, he shall call upon the applicant to deposit, before a day fixed for that purpose, the cost of survey in addition to the cost of demarcation, &c., as provided in the preceding rule. The cost of survey shall be calculated at the rate of four annas an acre on the area estimated in the application, or at such higher rate as may for special reasons be fixed in any case. The sum payable for survey shall be adjusted at the rate fixed per acre according to the actual area which may be ascertained by survey, a further payment being made by the applicant, or a refund being made to him, as may be necessary for adjustment.

Cost of notices to be deposited.

12. In addition to the cost of survey, demarcation, &c., the applicant shall be required to deposit a sum of Rs. 16 to cover the cost of issuing the notice prescribed by rule 17.

Application to be struck off on failure to deposit.

13. Should the applicant fail to deposit any amount required by the foregoing rules before the date fixed for that purpose, or should he fail to clear the lines or to demarcate the boundaries by the date fixed under rule 10, the application shall be struck off the file; an application so struck off may be re-admitted, but in that case the application shall be considered to have been made on the date of the application for such re-admission, and not on the date of the original application.

Refund of deposit.

14. After the deposit of fees, if for any reason the application should be struck off, or the survey abandoned, the applicant shall not be entitled to a refund of the sum deposited, except when lands are withheld from lease under rule 3. Refund may, however, be made at the discretion of the Sundarban Commissioner of any balance remaining in deposit after meeting all expenses incurred on the objects for which the deposit was made.

Agency for survey.

15. Surveys shall ordinarily be made by Government surveyors; if made by other agency temporarily employed for the purpose, they shall be tested by Government officers.

Surveys need not be minute.

16. Surveys need not be more minute or detailed than is necessary to ensure approximate ascertainment of area, but the boundaries must be very accurately and clearly defined.

III.—Issue of Notice of Lease.

Issue of notice.

17. When the land has been surveyed and demarcated, and the Sundarban Commissioner is satisfied that it may be leased, he shall issue a notice in the form B annexed to these rules announcing that an application has been made, and calling upon all persons who may have objections to make to appear before a date to be specified, which date shall not be less than three months from the date of the notice as provided in section I, Act XXIII of 1863.

Publication of notice.

18. The notice shall be published at the office of the Sundarban Commissioner, the office of the Board of Revenue, the office of the Collector of the District, at the Court of the District Judge, at the Sub-divisional Office, at the Moonsif's Court, and at the Police Station within the limits of which the lands are situate. A copy shall also be published in the Government Gazettes in English and in Bengali.

Notice to contain certain reservations.

19. In framing the notice the Sundarban Commissioner must be careful to state, as precisely as possible, all rights which will be reserved, such as water-ways and the strips of land along the banks of rivers and nullahs for towing-paths (vide article XI of the annexed terms of lease), which will be held available for the use of Government and the public use.

Disposal of claims to the land.

20. If, after the issue of the notice and before the lease has been sold, any claim be preferred or objection taken, the Sundarban Commissioner must proceed as directed in Act XXIII of 1863.

Action if claim is established.

21. If the Sundarban Commissioner shall consider that any claim or objection is established, he shall stay his proceedings for selling the lease as directed by section IV, Act XXIII of 1863, and make a special report to the Board of Revenue.

Arrangement may be made.

22. If the objection be such as can be got over by an arrangement without proceeding to formal trial under section VI of the Act, the Sundarban Commissioner may, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, order the arrangement to be made, and in such case, or in case the claim or objection is eventually withdrawn or pronounced invalid, the Sundarban Commissioner may proceed, on the date specified in the notice, to sell the lease of the land.

IV.—Sale in case of more than one Application.

Sale to applicant.

22(a). If there is but one applicant for the land, it shall be sold to him at the upset price of one rupee an acre.

When more than one application is received for the same land.

23. Should there be more than one application for the same lands before the survey or demarcation fees have been deposited, and should the second application comprise the whole of the lands contained in the first, the Sundarban Commissioner shall put the lease up to auction on the day named in the notice, and shall sell it to the highest bidder; but no person shall be allowed to bid who has not made such application; and no bid shall be accepted which is not bond fide on behalf of such person. If the second application comprise a portion only of the land contained in the first, it shall be rejected.

Lease sold subject to conditions.

24. The lease, whether sold to the only applicant or by auction, shall be sold subject to the conditions contained in the terms of lease annexed to these rules and to those contained in the notice issued in form B.

Sale.

25. The purchaser of the lease shall be required to pay down at once a sum of 500 rupees, or the full amount bid for the lease if such amount be less than 500 rupees. In default of immediate payment the lease may be put up to re-sale at once or may be reserved for future sale.

Cancelment of sale in case of default of full payment of purchase-money.

26. The purchaser shall be required to pay in the balance of the purchase-money, if any, together with all fees for demarcation, survey, and advertisement which may be demanded by the Sundarban Commissioner, within one month of the day of sale. If he fail to do so, the sale shall be cancelled by authority of the Sundarban Commissioner, and the amount deposited under rules 11 and 12 shall be forfeited, and the land shall be available for lease to any other applicant.

V.—MISCELLANEOUS.

Lease to be granted.

27. After the conditions of this sale are fulfilled, the Sundarban Commissioner shall grant a lease of the lands in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Board of Revenue. He shall forward the lease for registration in the office of the Board, and will also cause it and its counterpart to be duly registered by the Registrar of Assurances.

Registers.

28. All leases of waste lands shall be recorded in a register to be kept in such form as the Board of Revenue may prescribe.

Board to issue certain orders.

29. The Board of Revenue shall as soon as possible after the publication of these rules—

I.—Prescribe forms of the register of applications as required by rule 5, and for the register of leases as required by rule 28.

Provided that, if the lessee shall give up the said lease to the Sundarban Commissioner within one month of the date on which notice of such forfeiture shall be given to him, and shall demand a fresh lease, such fresh lease shall be given to him on the following conditions, namely, that the lessee shall forfeit all claim to continued revenue-free possession of the land, and shall at once pay revenue at the lowest rate fixed in the original lease, and shall continue to pay revenue at such rate for the remaining free term of the lease, and shall also pay revenue at a rate 20 per centum higher than that which was fixed in the original lease for each period up to the termination of the settlement.

Boundary marks.

XIII.—On being put in possession of a lot which has not been previously defined by permanent marks, the lessee shall, except where the boundary runs along a river or well-defined nullah or water-course, within three months, erect masonry pillars or platforms or such other landmarks as may be required, to the satisfaction of the Sundarban Commissioner, at each point where more than two lots or patches of waste or other properties meet, and large earthen mounds at every angle and at intervals of a hundred yards of the boundary line between such masonry pillars or platforms.

Neglect of lessee to erect boundary marks.

XIV.—If the lessee neglect to demarcate the lands as prescribed in the preceding rule, the Commissioner of the Sundarbans shall have the right of entry on the lands, and shall erect the landmarks hereinbefore described, and all costs incurred in that behalf, whether the actual costs of the landmarks, or the expenses incurred for clearing any jungle, or for supervision, or travelling expenses; and all charges whatsoever shall be recovered from the lessee by the law in force for the time being for the recovery of Government demands or the recovery of arrears of land revenue, as shall be decided upon by the Commissioner of the Sundarbans.

Land subsequently required for public purpose.

XV.—If any land leased under these rules should hereafter be required for any public purpose, such land, whether cultivated or uncultivated, may be resumed by Government on exempting the lessee from payment of the revenue assessed on the area required, and in the case of cultivated land by further payment of the reasonable cost of bringing the land under cultivation, and on payment of reasonable compensation for the value of any building, &c., which may stand on the lands.

The form of account prescribed by the local Government, in accordance with section 17(c) of Act XI of 1878 and Rule 11 of the rules of the Governor-General in Council is a simple debtor and creditor account, showing the number and quantity of each article in stock at the commencement of each month, the additions made to the stock during the month, and the sales effected in the month, with the names and addresses of the purchasers.

2. By rule 11 of the rules of the Governor-General in Council, Magistrates and police officers not below the rank of Inspector are empowered to enter and inspect any premises within their several jurisdictions in which arms or ammunition or sulphur are manufactured or kept, and every license-holder shall exhibit his stock and accounts to the inspecting officer. These inspections shall be made once a month, unless the license-holder shall voluntarily submit to the local (i.e. district or sub-divisional) Magistrate a monthly return in the form of account prescribed above. When the prescribed monthly return is regularly submitted, the inspections shall not necessarily be more frequent than once a quarter. The inspections shall be made without previous intimation being given to the license-holder, and a report of the inspection shall be made by the inspecting officer to the district or sub-divisional Magistrate.

The inspections prescribed in this rule shall ordinarily be made by police officers, but district and sub-divisional Magistrates should themselves frequently inspect the premises of licensed manufacturers and dealers in arms and ammunition.

In Calcutta the premises of each licensed manufacturer or dealer shall be inspected once a month, and the reports of the inspecting officers shall be submitted to the Deputy Commissioner of Police.

3. Monthly returns of the stock and sales of each license-holder shall be submitted by sub-divisional Magistrates to the District Magistrate in the form prescribed above. From these monthly returns quarterly statements shall be submitted by District Magistrates to Commissioners of divisions and the Inspector-General of Police. The Inspector-General of Police will submit to Government a complete quarterly return for the entire province, excluding the town of Calcutta. A similar quarterly return for Calcutta shall be submitted by the Commissioner of Police.

4. All arms, ammunition, or military stores deposited at a police station in accordance with the provisions of sections 14 and 16 of the Act, shall be at once sent to the Magistrate of the district in which the police station is situated, and in Calcutta to the Commissioner of Police. The Magistrate or Commissioner of Police shall then store the arms, &c., in a place of safety.

5. By section 25 of the Act, a search for arms, &c., may be made by or in the presence of a Magistrate, or of some officer specially empowered in this behalf. Police officers not below the grade of an Inspector are hereby empowered to conduct searches for arms under section 25.

6. All arms, ammunition, military stores, vessels, carts, baggage, animals, boxes, packages or bales, or other articles forfeited or confiscated in accordance with the provisions of the Act shall be disposed of by the District Magistrate at his discretion in one of the following ways:—

(a).—By sale by auction at the district head-quarters, provided that no arms, ammunition, or military stores shall be sold to any person or persons not exempted under section 27 of the Act, or licensed to deal in or possess the articles sold;

(b).—By breaking them up and then selling them if their value is below Rs. 20 and they cannot be otherwise disposed of;

(c).—By forwarding them to the arsenal at Calcutta.

In Calcutta the same discretion as to the mode of disposal of articles forfeited or confiscated shall rest with the Commissioner of Police.

7. When any person is convicted of an offence punishable under the Act, the court may grant rewards to those officers and persons who actually arrested the offender and seized the property in respect of which the offence was committed, and also to those who gave the information that led to the conviction of the offender. The rewards granted to the person or persons who arrested the offender and seized the property shall not ordinarily exceed one-half the sale proceeds of the confiscated articles, or one-half of their value when they are forwarded to the arsenal instead of being sold, together with half the fine realized from the offender. The rewards granted to the informer or informers shall not ordinarily exceed the other moiety of the sale proceeds or value of the articles confiscated, together with the other moiety of the fine realized. In special cases, when the seizure is important, or when the value of the articles confiscated and the amount of the fine realized are small, the Commissioner of the division, or in Calcutta the Commissioner of Police, may grant a sum not exceeding Rs. 200 as a reward or rewards to those persons through whose information or by whom the offender was arrested or convicted, or the articles seized. The articles confiscated by the court should be disposed of by the District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police, and the rewards paid as soon as possible after the period within which an appeal can be preferred expires, or the order of the court of first instance is confirmed, whichever may first happen. Fines imposed by the courts for offences punishable under the Act shall be realized according to the ordinary procedure of the criminal courts.

8. By section 28 of the Act every person employed upon any railway or by any public carrier is bound, in the absence of reasonable excuse, the burden of proving which shall lie upon such person, to give information to the nearest police officer regarding any box, package, or bale in transit which he may have reason to suspect contains arms, ammunition, or military stores in respect of which an offence against this Act has been or is being committed. Such persons, although legally bound to furnish the information required, are eligible for the rewards mentioned in the preceding rule.

9. All officers empowered to grant licenses under the Act and rules will be supplied with registers, and those registers must be kept written up to date. The registers will correspond with Forms II to IV and VI to XI appended to the rules issued by the Governor-General in Council. The license forms will be attached to counterfoils in the registers, and when granted the forms will be removed and the counterfoils alone will remain in the registers. Each page of registers Nos. II and IV will consist of three forms, one to be given to the license-holder, another to be forwarded to the place of consignment or to the place from which the articles covered by the license are to be exported, and the third for record in the register. Similarly each page of the register of licenses to go armed (IX) on a journey will consist of three forms, one for the license-holder, another to be forwarded to the Magistrate of the district where the journey ends, and the third for record in the register. On the back of the license to go armed on a journey should be an endorsement that the license is to be given up to the Magistrate of the district where the journey ends.

A general register shall also be kept for facility of reference, showing the name of each license-holder, his father's name, his residence, the form of the license, the date of issue, and the date on which the license expires.

10. Before any license is granted the Magistrate of the district or Commissioner of Police shall cause such enquiries as he may consider necessary to be made as to the character of the applicant and his fitness to receive a license. A fresh license shall not be granted to any person who has previously received a license unless he shall either return the old license or shall satisfy the Magistrate or Commissioner of Police that it has been destroyed.

11. The warehouse at Moyapore is hereby declared to be a warehouse for the deposit of ammunition under section 7 of Act XI of 1878. The premises of any licensed dealer in arms in Calcutta, licensed also as a private warehouse under section 16 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, and approved of in writing by the Commissioner of Police, may be used as a place for the deposit of arms under section 7 of Act XI of 1878.

12. Rule 5 of the rules of the Governor-General in Council provides that no rifles, except rifles of such quality, or in such quantity as may reasonably be held to be intended for bonâ fide sporting purposes, shall be imported, save by the special order of the Governor-General in Council certified under signature of the Secretary to the Government of India in the Home Department. Whether a rifle is or is not intended for bonâ fide sporting purposes will be decided in each case by the Commissioner of Police.

POST OFFICE.

The 7th March 1879.

No. 1170.—Ordered that the following Resolution be published in the Gazette of India :—

It has been brought to the notice of the Government of India, that articles liable to Sea Customs duty are frequently imported into India through the Letter Post and thus escape the duty to which they are liable. Such importations are in direct contravention of the Indian Post Office Act, 1866, Section 60 of which Act declares that any cover supposed to contain articles subject to Customs duty may be opened by the Post Office authorities after due notice to attend has been given to the addressee.

His Excellency the Governor General in Council desires to remind the public that the importation through the Letter Post of goods liable to duty is illegal, and to notify for general information that the provisions of Section 60 of Act XIV of 1866 will be strictly enforced.

Ordered, that this Resolution be communicated to the several Local Governments and Administrations, and for information and guidance to the Director General of the Post Office of India.

REVENUE—SEPARATE REVENUE—POST OFFICE.

The 21st March 1879.

No. 1403.—The International Postal Convention signed at Paris on the 1st of June 1878, having necessitated various changes in the postal rates and conditions respecting correspondence with places abroad, the Hon'ble the President in Council, in exercise of the powers conferred on him by the Indian Post Office Act, 1868, is pleased to sanction the following revised rules, conditions, and postage rates in respect of articles transmitted by Foreign Post.

The new postage rates, rules and conditions shall have effect from the 1st April 1879, excepting those relating to Post Cards, regarding which a further Notification will be issued on the Cards in course of manufacture becoming available for use.

RATES OF POSTAGE AND CONDITIONS OF TRANSMISSION BY FOREIGN POST.

Definition of term "Foreign Post."

1. The term "Foreign Post" includes the posts under the control of the Government of India named below :—

India and the Straits	British India Steam Navigation Company viâ British Burmah. Opium Steamers direct to and from Calcutta.
India, China, and the United States of America viâ Hong-Kong ...	Opium Steamers viâ the Straits.
India and Ceylon ...	British India Steam Navigation Company. Coasting Steamers between Calcutta and Bombay.
India and Persia ...	British India Steam Navigation Company viâ Kurrachee and Persian Gulf.
India and Aden ...	British India Steam Navigation Company viâ Kurrachee.

It also includes the land post between India and Ceylon. Also all mails sent by private ships or vessels, whether from one Indian Post Office to another, or to and from places abroad. Also all mails sent by Her Majesty's British packets (Peninsular and Oriental Company), or by Colonial packets, or by the French mail packets, whether from one Indian Post Office to another, or to and from places abroad.

Foreign Correspondence by private Vessel.

2. Mails can be sent by any private vessel leaving a port in India, but only such classes of mails are forwarded as can be received under the postal regulations of the country of destination. Banghy parcels cannot be sent to any foreign country by private vessel.

Letters, &c., intended for despatch by private vessel should be marked as such by the sender, the name of the vessel being given if transmission by a particular vessel is desired. Letters, &c., not so marked may be forwarded by private vessel if there be no regular mail communication with the country of destination.

Letters, &c., intended for despatch by private vessel must be fully prepaid by stamps at the ordinary Indian inland rates, and they will be liable on delivery in any foreign country to such postage as may be chargeable under the regulations of that country. This rule does not, however, apply to correspondence sent by private vessel to Ceylon, Hong-Kong, Mauritius, Seychelles or the Straits, for which see those entries in the Foreign Post Schedule.

Letters, &c., cannot be registered by private vessel.

Route by which forwarded.

3. The route by which an article is intended to be sent should be marked on the upper left-hand corner of the address side, and when possible the instructions so given will be followed. An article marked for a particular route, but not fulfilling the conditions of that route (e. g., in respect of compulsory prepayment of postage), will be treated as if not marked for any particular route. Articles not marked for any particular route will, as a general rule, be sent by the route which stands first in the Schedule, except where there is a quicker despatch by some other route, or where the first route may involve special expenses (e.g., by special train viâ Brindisi); or where it may require the compulsory pre-payment of a higher rate of postage than that which has been prepaid, or where the amount of postage paid may leave no doubt as to the route intended.

Correspondence from or to Aden or Zanzibar.

4. Correspondence passing direct between Aden and places abroad is ordinarily governed by the same conditions and is conveyed by the same routes as correspondence between India and places abroad: in cases where there are special conditions or routes applicable to correspondence from Aden, special mention thereof is made in the Schedule.

Correspondence from Aden to India or any Indian Post Office is charged at the rates shewn in the Schedule for correspondence from India to Aden. Zanzibar stands in the position of a branch office to Aden: correspondence to Zanzibar is governed by the conditions mentioned in the Schedule: and correspondence from Zanzibar is governed by the same conditions as if it were posted at Aden, unless it be addressed to Aden itself, when it is subject to ordinary inland rates and conditions.

Letters for Erzeroum and the interior of Armenia, West Arabia, Persia, Turkey, Asia Minor, Kashmir, Gilgit, Ladakh, Cabul, &c.

5. It is recommended that letters for Erzeroum and other parts of the interior of Armenia be addressed to the care of some agent at Samsoun or Trebizond.

Letters for Hodeida, Jedda, Mecca, Mocha or other places in West Arabia and Massowah (in Abyssinia) should be prepaid as far as Suez at the rate of postage prescribed for letters to Suez. From Suez they are forwarded to destination by Egyptian Post, or such opportunity as may offer. Any letter for Jedda or Mecca which may be specially marked by the senders for transmission through Aden, and prepaid at the rates of postage prescribed for letters to Aden, will be forwarded direct from Aden by the first private vessel.

Letters for Kiermanshah and Hamadan in Persia should be sent by the Indian inland post to the Indian Post Office at Bagdad, addressed to the care of some agent there: and letters for Teheran, Ispahan, Shiraz, Julfa or other places in Persia will be sent to the Persian Post Office at Bushire, which will forward them to destination.

Letters for such places in Turkey and Asia Minor or Syria, as have no British, Austrian or French Post Offices (see list of British, Austrian and French Offices in Turkey given in the Schedule), should be addressed to the care of an agent at the nearest port at which a British, Austrian or French Office has been established.

Letters and other articles for Kashmir are forwarded during the summer months (15th April to 1st November) through the Indian Post Office at Murree, and thence by Kashmir Post to Srinagar, where an Indian Post Office is maintained temporarily. During the summer, letters, &c., sent by this route are subject to the ordinary Indian inland rates of postage and to the ordinary rules as respects prepayment; but additional postage equal to half Indian postage is levied on delivery on behalf of the Kashmir Government. During the winter months, letters for Kashmir are forwarded to the Indian Frontier Post Office at Sialkot, and thence by Kashmir Post to Jummoo. This route is closed during the summer, when the Murree route is open.

Letters and other articles for Gilgit and Leh (Ladakh) are forwarded during the summer months (15th April to 1st November) through the Indian Post Office at Murree, and thence by the Kashmir post. During the winter months, letters for Gilgit and Leh are forwarded through the Indian Post Office at Sialkot, and thence by Kashmir post. The delivery at Leh is effected through an Indian Office at that place: but the transit to Leh is under the control of the Kashmir post. By either route, letters, &c., are charged on delivery by the Kashmir Government with postage equal to half Indian postage, in addition to ordinary Indian inland rates.

Letters for Cabul, if fully prepaid with ordinary Indian inland postage, are forwarded to the Indian Frontier Post Office at Peshawar, and there made over to the Postal Agent appointed by the Ameer of Cabul for delivery under local conditions and rates of charge. Mails are forwarded by the Agent towards Cabul about three times a week.

Addresses on Foreign Articles.

6. In the case of letters for places abroad, the name of the country (written clearly in large, well-formed characters), as well as the town or city, should be given in full. Attention to this rule will often assist in deciphering the name of the town or city, and will prevent the letter from being mis-sent when there are towns of the same name in different countries. The address of every letter to a place abroad should end with the name of the country. Names of foreign towns, cities or countries should be spelt in the address in the same way as in the Foreign Post Schedule: and the attention of foreigners is particularly directed to this point, as many of them are in the habit of spelling foreign names according to the foreign method. If the route by which the article is intended to be sent be given by the sender, it should be written on the upper left-hand corner, and if the name of the sender be given, it should be written on the lower left-hand corner.

Addresses on letters for Russia.

Letters, &c., for Russia should have, besides the name of the town, the name of the Province or Government in which they are situated; and further, the address must be plainly written. If these conditions be not complied with, the Russian Post Office declines to undertake the delivery of the correspondence.

Registration to places abroad.

7. Letters may be registered to those places abroad to which registration is available (vide Foreign Post Schedule), provided that the postage is fully prepaid, as well as the full amount of the registration fee shewn in the Schedule. Letters for places mentioned in clause 5 cannot be registered, except in the cases of those addressed to Srinagar and Leh, where Indian Post Offices have been established, or to Persia.

It is to be understood that registration to places abroad applies only to letters or packets prepaid at letter rates, except in respect of the United Kingdom and other countries belonging to the Universal Postal Union (marked I in column 2 of Schedule), to which correspondence of all kinds may also be registered.

The sender of a registered article can obtain an acknowledgment of the delivery of such article, when addressed to a Union country (marked I in column 2 of the Schedule), by prepaying two annas in postage stamps in addition to the usual registration fee.

As stated in clause 2, letters, &c., cannot be registered by private vessel.

Registration of Initial Addresses to the United Kingdom forbidden.

No letter or other article addressed to initials, or to a fictitious name, and destined for the United Kingdom can be registered. Such articles, if tendered, will not be accepted for registration.

Transmission of dangerous or offensive substances prohibited.

8. The prohibition against the transmission of dangerous or offensive substances contained in paragraph 9 of Section II applies also to Foreign Post articles.*

Money, Jewels, &c., and articles liable to customs duty.

No letter or packet containing gold or silver money, jewels or precious articles, or any article liable to customs duty, may be sent through the post to places abroad. This does not apply to the Overland Parcel Post.

Newspapers, Books, &c., regarded as dutiable in the United States of America.

In the United States of America all imported newspapers and books are regarded as dutiable: but in the case of articles intended for the personal use of the addressee, the officers of the Post Office are authorised to exercise their discretion in admitting without duty unsealed packages of newspapers not exceeding 2 lbs. 3 ozs. in weight, as well as books and other articles of merchandise not exceeding a dutiable value of one dollar.

Newspapers.

9. Newspapers may be sent in packets as printed papers under clause 10, but if sent either singly or separately folded and tied in a bundle (the bundle being superscribed with the number of separate newspapers contained in it), they are conveyed at the privileged rate (prepayment compulsory) of postage shewn in the Schedule under the column headed "Each Newspaper."

Printed Papers and Legal and Commercial Documents.

10. The following conditions, &c., being those of the Universal Postal Union, apply generally to all countries, with the special exceptions mentioned in the Schedule opposite particular countries.

Attention is drawn to the limit of weight, viz., 2 Kilogrammes or 4 lbs. 6 ozs. fixed for a packet of printed papers or legal and commercial documents. See Schedule and exception opposite the United Kingdom.

Under the head of "Printed Papers" are included newspapers and periodicals, stitched or bound books, pamphlets, music, visiting cards, address cards, proofs of printing with or without the manuscript relating thereto, engravings, photographs, drawings, plans, maps, catalogues, prospectuses, announcements and notices of various kinds, whether printed, engraved or lithographed or autographed, and in general all impressions or copies obtained on paper, parchment, or card board, by means of printing, lithography, or any other mechanical process easy to recognise, except the copying press.

The following articles are considered as "Legal and Commercial Documents," viz., all deeds or documents, written or drawn, wholly or partly by hand, which have not the character of an actual and personal correspondence, such as papers of legal procedure, deeds of all kinds drawn up by public functionaries, way-bills and bills of lading, invoices, the various documents of insurance companies, copies or extracts of private deeds, written on stamped or unstamped paper, scores or sheets of manuscript music, manuscripts of works forwarded separately, &c.

NOTE.—The definition of "Legal and Commercial Documents" given above is held to include such written articles intended for publication in Newspapers as are not of the nature of a personal letter as well as written descriptions or hand-sketches of places which are sent for publication; it is held also to include written letters of old date which have previously passed through the post and served their original purpose.

Articles posted as "Legal and Commercial Documents" must be placed under bands or in an unclosed envelope. "Printed Papers" must be either placed under band, upon a roller, between boards, in a cover open at one side, or at both ends, or in an unclosed envelope, or simply folded in such a manner as not to conceal the nature of the packet, or, lastly, tied by a string easy to unfasten. An address card or a printed article presenting the form and consistency of an unfolded card may be forwarded without band, envelope, fastening or fold.

Printed papers may contain manuscript to the following extent:

(a.)—Signature of sender or designation of his name or of his firm, his rank, the place of origin, and the date of despatch;

(b.)—Dedication or compliments inscribed by the author;

(c.)—Simple marks drawing attention to certain passages;

(d.)—Prices added to stock or share lists, prices current or market reports;

(e.)—Quotations or corrections on proofs of printing or musical compositions.

* NOTE.—This rule is, however, modified as regards correspondence for France and French colonies, to which the following articles may be sent under the conditions named below, viz.:—(a) Liquids, or fatty substances easily melted, which must be enclosed in bottles hermetically sealed and afterwards packed in wooden boxes containing sufficient cotton, sawdust, or other absorbing material to retain anything that may escape from the bottle if it should be broken: the wooden box must be finally enclosed in a metal case. (b) Fatty substances not easily melted, such as resin, soft soap, &c., must be enclosed in a cover of linen, parchment, or wood, and finally placed in an outer cover of wood or metal. (c) Dry powders (if not dangerous) may be packed in two separate coverings, provided that nothing can escape to stain or damage other articles.

Articles dangerous, inflammable, explosive, or of bad odour, or in any way exceeding the limits of size or weight laid down in this section, will under no circumstances be transmitted. The articles specified must have no intrinsic value, and the smallest quantity necessary to serve as a sample should be sent.

Articles posted as "Printed Papers" or "Legal and Commercial Documents" which do not fulfil the foregoing conditions, or are not prepaid to the extent of one anna, at least, for "Printed papers," and two annas for "Legal and Commercial Documents," will not be forwarded.

NOTE.—As an exception to the above rule, unpaid articles posted as "Printed papers" or "Legal and Commercial documents," and fulfilling all conditions except that of partial prepayment, will, when addressed to the United Kingdom, be forwarded, but will be liable on delivery to double the deficient postage.

Samples of Merchandise.

11. The following conditions, &c., being those of the Universal Postal Union, apply generally to to all countries, with the special exceptions mentioned in the Schedule opposite particular countries.

Attention is drawn to the limit of size, viz., 8 by 4 by 2 inches, and of weight, viz., 8 ounces fixed for a packet of samples. See Schedule and exception opposite the United Kingdom.

Samples of merchandise are chargeable with the reduced postage under the following conditions:

(a.)—They must be placed in bags, boxes or envelopes removable, so as to admit of an easy examination of their contents.

(b.)—They must not have any saleable value, or bear any manuscript writing other than the name or the trade or firm of the sender, the address of the person for whom the packet is intended, a manufacturer's or trade mark, numbers and prices.

Samples not packed in accordance with these conditions, or not prepaid to the extent of one rate at least, will not be forwarded, nor will any of which the conveyance would be attended with inconvenience or danger.

NOTE.—As an exception to the above rule, unpaid articles posted as "samples of merchandise," and fulfilling all conditions except that of partial prepayment, will, when addressed to the United Kingdom, be forwarded, but will be liable on delivery to double the deficient postage.

Articles grouped in one despatch.

It is permitted to enclose in the same packet samples of merchandise, printed papers and legal and commercial documents, but subject to the following conditions:

(a.)—That each article taken separately shall not exceed the limits of weight and size applicable to it;

(b.)—That the total weight shall not exceed 4 lbs. 6 ozs. per packet;

(c.)—That the lowest amount prepaid shall be two annas if the despatch contains legal and commercial documents, and one anna if the despatch consists of printed papers or samples.

Unpaid or insufficiently paid correspondence which does not come under the conditions given in the Schedule.

12. Such correspondence will be returned to the sender through the Dead Letter Office. The sender has no claim to a refund of the postage originally paid, but, in the case of recent alterations of postage rates and conditions, the Post Master General (or officer exercising the powers of Post Master General) may exercise discretion in authorising such refunds in special cases.

Correspondence re-directed to places abroad.

13. Letters, &c., re-directed in India to places abroad will be sent forward chatged with the Non-Union postage (if any) due at the time of re-direction, no extra claim being raised for the re-transmission so far as the Indian Post Office is concerned. The postage levied in the country of destination will be governed by the regulations of that country. Letters, &c., re-directed to the United Kingdom or countries served through it will, if originally received from such countries, be forwarded by the route by which they came: and in other cases by the route vid Brindisi.

This rule does not apply to articles re-directed by Overland Parcel Post.

Correspondence received from places abroad.

14. Post cards received from countries of the Union (marked I in Schedule) will be delivered in India as paid letters.

By routes marked I.

Unpaid and insufficiently paid letters and insufficiently paid printed papers, &c., received from any country of the Union (marked I in Schedule), will be charged on delivery with double the deficient postage. Fractions of half an anna will be raised to half an anna. Letters from the Portuguese Offices of Goa and Diu are charged at Indian inland rates without regard to any stamps which may be affixed to them. Unpaid printed papers, &c., received from the United Kingdom (or exceptionally received from other places), will be charged at double the rates fixed for the prepayment of similar articles going in the opposite direction.

Letters received in Aden from Zanzibar by British Packet are subject to the ordinary Indian inland rates and conditions.

By routes marked II.

Letters received from any Non-Union Country through a Union Country (routes marked II in Schedule) as unpaid or insufficiently paid, will be charged with double the deficient postage. Fractions of half an anna will be raised to half an anna.

Any articles other than letters which may be exceptionally received from such places either unpaid or insufficiently paid will be charged in the same manner.

By routes marked III.

Letters and other articles received from Ceylon, Hong-Kong, Mauritius, Seychelles or the Straits by private vessels (marked III in Schedule) are all received fully prepaid and delivered without charge.

Letters and other articles received from any place (except Ceylon, Hong-Kong, Mauritius, Seychelles or the Straits) by private vessels are charged with ordinary Indian inland postage at prepaid rates, according to weight in tolas, together with (in the case of letters) one anna each, being the sum paid to the Commander of the vessel.

By routes marked IV.

Letters, newspapers, and packets are all received fully prepaid (and are delivered without charge) from the places and by the routes marked IV in the Schedule, viz.:

Australia by British Packet.

East Africa (i. e., Cape, Delagoa Bay and Natal) by British Packet through Aden.

Unpaid or insufficiently paid letters exceptionally received from Australia or other places in the same category are charged at the rates shewn in the Schedule for similar articles sent from India.

Re-direction of articles received from places abroad.

15. Prepaid articles received from places abroad, and re-directed after arrival in India to another place in India, will not be charged with any additional postage on account of such re-direction. The exemption contained in this clause applies to overland parcels.

An article re-directed from a Union Country to India will be treated in India as follows:—(1) if originally fully prepaid to its first address, it will be charged with the difference between the postage already paid, and the postage which would have been required for prepayment from the country of origin direct to its destination in India. (2) if originally unpaid or insufficiently prepaid, it will be charged as if it had come direct from the country of origin as an unpaid or insufficiently paid letter.

Addresses on letters, &c., for passengers on board.

16. Letters posted in India for delivery to persons on their way to or from India should preferentially be addressed to the care of the local agent of the vessel or company to which the vessel belongs, full particulars being given of the name, &c., of the vessel (describing it as outward bound or homeward bound); if the addressee is travelling by one of the mail steamers (P. and O. Company), it may be sufficient to give the port of departure (Brindisi, Southampton, Calcutta or Bombay) of the steamer, with the time-table date of such departure and port of destination: for example, "A. B., passenger by outward Mail Steamer, Southampton (24th March) to Calcutta," care of &c., &c., &c., &c.

It is recommended that the name and address of the sender be written on the lower left-hand corner of the letter, preceded by the word "from," so as to save the opening of the letter in the Dead Letter Office in case of non-delivery, and it is recommended also that all such letters be fully prepaid.

If a letter be posted in India vid Bombay to the address of a passenger proceeding from Calcutta or Madras by a steamer of the P. and O. Company timed to reach Aden or Suez at or about the same time as the mail steamer which carries the letter from Bombay, it may be addressed as follows:

Name of Addressee.

Passenger by Calcutta Mail Steamer (here enter name of vessel if known or Calcutta date of departure).

Care of Marine Travelling Post Office, Bombay.

N. B.—Full pre-payment at Southampton rates is compulsory.

Such letters will be made over to the Marine Post Office on leaving Bombay, and will be left at Aden for delivery, if the Bombay mail steamer precedes the Calcutta steamer, or be taken on for delivery through the Peninsular and Oriental Company's Agency at Suez if the Calcutta steamer has preceded. The delivery at Suez will be effected on board the Calcutta steamer as soon as possible after the arrival of the Bombay steamer.*

OVERLAND PARCEL POST.

N. B.—Information respecting parcels to India from Foreign countries can be had at the Post Offices of those countries. The British Post Office does not receive parcels for transmission to India (see below under United Kingdom).

The rules governing the despatch of parcels from the United Kingdom to India are, however, published in the British Postal Guide and exhibited in every British Post Office. Persons in India ordering goods to be sent out by Parcel Post may refer the sender to the above means of information about the transmission of parcels.

Parcels from the United Kingdom may be sent either paid or unpaid.

The rate charged for parcels of books from the United Kingdom, is 6*d.* per lb. The charge for other parcels from the United Kingdom is 1*s.* per lb.

(1).—Parcels are received at any Post Office in India (see note* at foot of this Statement respecting Aden) under the conditions and rates of charge mentioned below, for transmission to the following countries, viz. :—

Countries.	Rate of Charge per lb. or fraction thereof. Prepayment compulsory.	Remarks respecting special conditions, &c., applicable to particular countries.
	Annas.
The United Kingdom ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel as far as London: any additional charge which may become due on account of British custom duty or carriage beyond London being realised from the addressee. Parcels must not exceed £50 in value. Any parcel which on examination of the declaration at Bombay may be found to exceed this value will, instead of being forwarded by the Overland Parcel Post, be transferred to the Bombay Agency of the P. & O. S. N. Company for transmission independently of the Post Office, and subject to such regulations and charges on delivery as may be applicable thereto under the Company's regulations. (NOTE.—The Company's present charge is an ad valorem rate of 2 per cent., which does not include Marine or other Insurance.) The attention of the public is invited to the fact that the British Post Office has no connection with the Overland Parcel Post; all arrangements out of India are made by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, and enquiries proceeding from the United Kingdom should be addressed to that Company's Office, 122, Leadenhall Street, London, E. C.
Aden See note* at foot of this statement.

* NOTE.—Parcels may be sent from Aden to the United Kingdom or from Aden to India (but not to other places) or from India to Aden under the same conditions as if sent from India to the United Kingdom, except that the address on the outer cover will be different (see Rule 4). On parcels from Aden containing Ostrich feathers, the rate charged is one rupee four annas per pound instead of eight annas.

Countries.	Rate of charge per lb or fraction thereof Prepayment compulsory.	Remarks respecting special conditions, &c., applicable to particular countries.
	Annas.
Ceylon	8	The prepayment carries the parcel to destination. Should any custom duty become due, the amount will be charged on delivery. The route is via Tuticorin for Southern India and via Bombay for other parts of India: see Rule (4).
The Straits, i. e.,— Singapore ... Penang ... Malacca ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel to destination. The ports of destination are free ports, so that no custom duty will be chargeable therein. The routes are by opium steamers (Jardine, Matheson, and Apcar), monthly through Calcutta to Singapore: by B I S. N. Company fortnightly through Calcutta or Madras or Rangoon to Singapore, Penang and Malacca: and by P. & O. S N. Company fortnightly through Bombay to Singapore and Penang: see Rule (4).
Germany	8	The prepayment carries the parcel to destination. Should any custom duty become due, the amount will be charged on delivery. From Rule 3 it will be seen that second or duplicate, and in some cases triplicate, declarations of contents and value are required. See also Rule 9, respecting compensation for damage or loss.
Austria-Hungary ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel to destination. Should any custom duty become due, the amount will be charged on delivery. See also Rule 9, respecting compensation for damage or loss.
Denmark ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel to the limit of German conveyance, a separate charge being made on delivery for conveyance beyond the German frontier, as well as for custom duty, should any become due. See also Rule 9, respecting compensation for damage or loss
Sweden ... Norway .. Switzerland ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel to the limit of German conveyance, a separate charge being made on delivery for conveyance beyond the German frontier, as well as for custom duty should any become due. From Rule 3 it will be seen that there must be also a second or duplicate declaration of contents and value. See also Rule 9, respecting compensation for damage or loss.
France ... The Netherlands (Holland) ... Belgium ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel to the limit of German conveyance, a separate charge being made on delivery for conveyance beyond the German frontier, as well as for custom duty, should any become due. From Rule 3 it will be seen that there must be also a second or duplicate declaration of contents and value, and that the second or duplicate declaration should contain a statement of the weight (lbs. & ozs or tolas) of the contents, and should, if possible, be written in the French language See also Rule 9, respecting compensation for damage or loss.

(2).—Every parcel should be securely packed in a closed cover or case, and should bear the name and address of the person in the United Kingdom or foreign country for whom it is intended. Parcels containing valuables should be sealed.

N B.—The public are specially warned against the use of flimsy covers for articles transmitted by the Parcel Post Heavy articles are sometimes sent with only paper covering, insecurely tied with string: friction in transit detaches this cover, and damage and loss ensue A covering of stout cloth or wax-cloth sewn at the edges is recommended; but if the contents are liable to suffer from pressure, boxes of wood or tin should be used.

(3).—Every parcel should be accompanied by a separate paper headed with the address of the parcel and containing a declaration (clearly written) of its contents and value under the signature of the sender. Below the signature the address of the sender should be given.

For the parcels addressed to—

The United Kingdom ... ... Ceylon ... ... Straits .. ... Austria-Hungary ... ... Denmark	Only one declaration as above described is required.
Germany	A second or duplicate declaration is also required for parcels under 5 pounds, and a triplicate declaration for parcels above that weight.
Sweden ... ... Norway ... ... Switzerland	A second or duplicate declaration is also required.
France ... ... The Netherlands (Holland) ... .. Belgium	A second or duplicate declaration is also required: and the sender is requested to enter in the declaration a statement of the weight (lbs. and ozs. or tolas) of the contents and to write the second or duplicate declaration, if possible, in the French language. Should he be unable to do so, the Bombay Post Office will attach to the second or duplicate English declaration a French rendering thereof, but the sender is warned of the delay which may result from this.

It is not deemed necessary to require exact adherence to any particular form of declaration, but the following specimen form may be useful to the senders of parcels.—

Specimen form of declaration.

Address of Parcel.
Thomas B. Smith,
114, Piccadilly,
London.

Contents.	Value. £ s. d.
1 Piece Puttoo cloth	2 0 0
1 Rampore chudder	2 10 0
TOTAL	4 10 0

I declare the above to be a true statement of the contents and value.

(Signed) A. R. ROBINSON,
Amritsar

N B.—Declarations for parcels intended for France, the Netherlands or Belgium, should, in addition to the above, contain a statement of the weight (lbs and ozs or tolas) of the contents This may conveniently be done by adding the words "weight—lbs. - ozs." underneath the total value, and the words "and weight" at the end of the sentence containing the declaration.

(4).—The parcel so addressed, and the separate paper or papers above referred to, should then be enclosed in a substantial outer cover. This outer cover should be superscribed and addressed as follows:—

If addressed from India to Ceylon

Overland Parcel Post	Postage stamp to be affixed.
To The Post Master, Tuticorin or Bombay. *

or

If addressed from India to the Straits.

Overland Parcel Post.	Postage stamp to be affixed

N. B.—The address should be to Tuticorin if posted in Southern India, and to Bombay if posted in other parts of India.

† N. B.—The address to Calcutta or Madras or Bombay or Rangoon should be according to the locality of posting.

If addressed from Aden to the United Kingdom.

Overland Parcel Post	Postage stamp to be affixed.

or

If addressed from India to the United Kingdom or to any other country (i. e., other than Ceylon and the Straits), or from Aden to India.

Overland Parcel Post.	Postage stamp to be affixed.
To The Post Master, Bombay.

The outer cover must contain one parcel only. If more than one parcel be sent by the same sender, such parcel should be sent separately.

(5).—The parcel so made up must be fully prepaid by means of postage stamps at the prescribed rate, affixed to the outer cover, care being taken that the stamps adhere firmly.

(6).—The parcel so made up must not exceed 50 lbs. (25 seers) in weight, or 2 feet in length by 1 foot in breadth or depth. It will be received at any Post Office at the hours fixed for the receipt of ordinary banghy parcels, the usual receipt being given to the sender without reference to the mode of packing prescribed in the case of inland parcels for which receipts are claimed.

(7).—On arrival at the Indian sea port town of address, the Post Master will take off the outer covering, and forward the inside parcel and the accompanying declaration or declarations to the country of inside address.

(8).—It is forbidden to send in these parcels opium or any liquid, or any substance or material of a dangerous, damaging, or offensive kind.

(9).—In the case of parcels for or from Germany or Austria-Hungary, and the foreign countries served through Germany, compensation will be given by the responsible Post Office to the sender for loss or damage sustained in transit (cases of sea risk or of vis major or of the own negligence of the sender in respect of packing or otherwise excepted). Such compensation will in no case exceed 1½ rupees for each lb. weight or fraction thereof in respect of parcels forwarded from India, and 3 marks or 1¼ florins for each 500 grammes or fraction thereof in respect of parcels from Germany or Austria-Hungary. Should the sender desire it, the compensation will be paid to the addressee instead of to himself.

PART IV.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following further report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as re-amended, is, by order of the President, published for general information:—

We, the undersigned members of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to whom the Bill to amend the law relating to the Court of Wards was referred back at the meeting of the Council held on the 8th instant, have the honor to make the following report.

Parts I, II, and III, have been rearranged, but there is nothing new in them which is foreign to the intention of the Committee as expressed in the Bill already submitted to the Council.

Some amendments have been made to give effect to the change under which the Court of Wards is substituted for the Collector with regard to those properties which have been made over, or are hereafter to be made over, by the Civil Court under Act XXXV and Act XL of 1858. The object of these amendments is to create uniformity of jurisdiction under the Court of Wards in all such cases.

Section 5 contains a revised and more full definition of disqualified proprietors; whilst section 7 prescribes when the Court is bound to give over charge of a ward's property.

After section 12 we have reproduced the provisions of section 80 of Bengal Act IV of 1870, to enable the Court to sell an estate to which no claimant is prepared to press his legal rights on the expiration of the wardship.

We have omitted the clause which provided that no estate should be leased in putni or other permanent under-tenure without the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor.

In sections 12, 13, 18, 38, 39, &c., we have provided for the execution of the orders of the Court, and also as regards leases, mortgages, &c., through the manager. The intention of the law is as heretofore, that the manager is the person legally responsible for all that is done whilst the estate is entrusted to his charge, but that he is protected so long as he acts in conformity with the orders and instructions of the Court of Wards.

We have omitted the section by which the share in a joint undivided estate or tenure under the charge of the Court was not liable to sale for recovery of arrears of revenue or other demands similarly recoverable until after the end of the year in which such arrears accrued; such a provision is unnecessary for the protection of the minor's estate, as a separate account can be opened in the Collector's books on account of the separate share of a minor. On the other hand, such a provision is capable of being made very injurious to Government, if the other shareholders choose to withhold the payment of their shares of the revenue with the knowledge that they will be covered by the protection given to the minor's estate, as, unless a separate account is opened, the whole estate or nothing must be sold for arrears of revenue. The protection given to an estate which is the sole property of a minor from liability to sale for arrears of revenue is still continued.

In sections 29 and 30 provision is made to enable the Collector of the district to make certain enquiries as to the person and property of a person believed to be disqualified through the agency of the Collector of the district in which the person or property may be found.

At the beginning of Part VI we have inserted a section providing that if no manager is appointed, the Collector of the district in which the greater part of the property is situated, or any other Collector whom the Court may appoint, shall be competent to perform the duties of a manager.

In section 45 we have provided that if the ward is a female of sound mind and not a minor, the surplus proceeds of the estate, after the liquidation of debts and improvement of the lands or property, shall be paid over to her for her absolute use. The same rule is also made to apply in the case of those persons who, having been minors under the charge of the Court, have elected to leave their property under the charge of the Court pending the minority of their co-proprietors.

We have struck out, as covered by the general powers of the Court, the section which empowered the Court to compromise claims and refer them to arbitration.

We have provided that the prohibition of adoption without the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor is not to apply to major proprietors whose property remains under the charge of the Court with their consent.

We have substituted for sections 61 and 62 of the old Bill a revised section making all arrears of rent payable in respect of a ward's estate recoverable by the same process as rents payable to a Collector on account of Government.

We have struck out the section which empowered proprietors to sue persons professing to have acted under the authority of the Court for acts done in contravention of the Court of Wards Act or for breach of trust, as the right to sue in such cases exists without any specific enactment.

And all rules prescribed, orders or appointments made, and agreements executed under the Court of Wards Act, 1870, and now in force, shall (so far as they are consistent with this Act) be deemed to be respectively prescribed, made, and executed under this Act.

And all orders and appointments made by Collectors under Act XXXV of 1858 or Act XL of 1858, and now in force, shall (so far as they are consistent with this Act) be deemed to be made under this Act.

PART II.

CONSTITUTION, JURISDICTION, AND POWERS OF THE COURT OF WARDS.

Board of Revenue to be Court of Wards.

4. The Board of Revenue shall be the Court of Wards for the territories to which this Act extends.

It shall deal with every person and every property of which it may take or retain charge under this Act, or which may be placed under its charge by order of a competent Court, in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

Disqualified proprietors.

5. Proprietors of landed property shall be held disqualified to manage their own property when they are—

(a) females declared by the Court incompetent to manage their own property;

(b) persons declared by the Court to be minors;

(c) persons adjudged by a competent Civil Court to be of unsound mind, and incapable of managing their affairs;

(d) persons adjudged by a competent Civil Court to be otherwise rendered incapable by physical defects or infirmities of managing their own property.

Jurisdiction of Court over disqualified proprietors

6. Whenever the sole proprietor of an estate, or all the joint proprietors of an estate are disqualified as provided in the last preceding section, the Court shall have power to take charge of all the property of every such proprietor or joint proprietor within its jurisdiction, and of the person of any such proprietor or joint proprietor who is resident within its jurisdiction; and also of the person and property of any minor member of the family of any such proprietor or joint proprietor who has an immediate or reversionary interest in the property of such proprietor or joint proprietor.

Nothing contained in the first clause of this section or in any other part of this Act shall be held to affect any of the provisions of Act XXXV of 1858, or the jurisdiction, as respects infants, of any High Court of Judicature.

Procedure under Act XL of 1858, and Act XXXV of 1858

9. Whenever a Civil Court thinks it necessary, under section 9 of Act XL of 1858, to make provision for the charge of the person and property of a minor, whenever a Civil Court recalls any certificate under section 21 of the said Act, or whenever a person has been adjudged, under Act XXXV of 1858, to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs, if the property of such minor or disqualified proprietor consists, in whole or in part, of land or any interest in land, the Civil Court may apply to the Court of Wards to take charge of the person and property of such minor or disqualified proprietor; and it shall be at the discretion of the Court of Wards to take charge of such person or property or to refuse to do so.

Nothing contained in sections 12 to 19 (both inclusive) of Act XXXV of 1858 shall be held to apply to persons or properties under the charge of the Court of Wards.

Procedure when estate is no longer under Court because some proprietors have ceased to be disqualified.

10. Whenever one or more of the joint proprietors of whose properties the Court of Wards has taken charge ceases to be subject to the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards, and the persons and properties of the remaining joint proprietors thereby cease to be subject to the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards, notwithstanding the otherwise continued disqualification of such remaining joint proprietors, the Civil Court which would have jurisdiction under Act XL of 1858 may, on the application of the Court of Wards, direct the Court of Wards to retain or resume charge of the persons and properties of the still disqualified proprietors during the continuance of their disqualification, or, subject to the provisions of section 11, for so long as such Civil Court may order.

And in case any of the proprietors who have ceased to be subject to the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards so consent, the Court of Wards may retain or resume the charge of the properties of such proprietors, or any part thereof, so long as the property of any of the disqualified proprietors remains in charge of the Court of Wards.

Withdrawal from charge by Court.

11. The Court of Wards may at any time withdraw from the charge of any person and property taken under section 9 or under section 10, and from the charge of any person or property which before the commencement of this Act was placed under the charge of the Collector by a Civil Court under section 12, section 14, or section 21 of Act XL of 1858, or under section 11 of Act XXXV of 1858; provided that it shall give notice of its intention to withdraw to the Civil Court concerned, and that such notice shall be given not less than two months before the Court of Wards shall so withdraw.

Procedure when succession to property disputed.

12. Whenever, on the death of any ward, the succession to his property or any part thereof is in dispute, the Court may either direct that such property or part thereof be made over to any person claiming such property, or may retain charge of the same until the right to possession of the claimant has been determined under Bengal Act VII of 1876, or until the dispute has been determined by a competent Civil Court.

Power to sell property the succession to which is in dispute.

13. If within one year after the death of a ward the succession to whose property or some part thereof is in dispute, no suit be instituted to determine the right to the property so in dispute, the Court may cause the same to be sold by public auction, and the proceeds thereof, after deducting therefrom sums payable to Government, to be invested in promissory notes of the Government of India: such notes to be held by the Court in trust for the person who may be entitled thereto.

Such sale shall be valid to pass the right, title, and interest in the property so sold, of such deceased ward and of every person claiming by, through, or under such deceased ward, or by way of succession, inheritance, remainder, or reversion.

General power of Court.

14. Subject to the provisions of this Act the Court—

(a) may, through its manager, do all such things requisite for the proper care and management of any property of which it may take or retain charge under this Act, or which may be placed under its charge by order of a competent Civil Court, as the proprietor of any such property, if not disqualified, might do for its care and management and

(b) may, in respect of the person of any ward, do all such things as might be lawfully done by the legal guardian of such ward.

Exercise of powers conferred on Court through others.

Establishments and expenses.

16. The Court may from time to time order such establishments to be entertained and expenses to be incurred as it shall consider requisite for the care and management of the persons and properties under its charge, for superintendence, for the audit of accounts, and generally for all purposes of this Act, and may order that the cost of any such establishment and any such expenses be charged against any one or more properties for the purposes of which they are entertained or incurred.

General contribution for general purposes.

17. The Court may, in respect of such of the establishments and expenses referred to in the last preceding section as are of a general nature, direct that they shall be met by a general contribution from the properties benefitted thereby, to be levied in such manner and in such proportion as the Court may from time to time direct.

Power to manage property.

18. The Court may sanction the giving of leases or farms of the whole or part of any property under its charge, and may direct the mortgage or sale of any part of such property, and may direct the doing of all such other acts as it may judge to be most for the benefit of the property and the advantage of the ward

When Court may order property to be formed into a separate estate.

19. If the Court thinks it expedient to direct the sale or mortgage of any part of an estate of which the ward is the sole proprietor, it may order the Collector to partition off such part into a separate estate, and the demand of land revenue and of the cesses for which the original estate was liable shall be assessed upon and divided between the two separate estates so formed, respectively, in such manner as the Court, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, may direct.

The Court may make such orders as to it may seem fit in respect of the custody, education, and residence of a minor ward, and such minor members of the ward's family as are under its charge, and in respect of the custody and residence of any ward, not being a minor, whose person is under the charge of the Court.

FREDERICK CLARKE,
Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,
Legislative Department.

THE following report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for general information :—

We, the undersigned members of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, to whom the Bill to define and limit the powers of Settlement Officers with respect to enhancement of rent was referred, have the honor to make the following report.

We have considered a communication from the Hon'ble Syed Ameer Hossein.

We have re-cast the Bill by repealing Act III of 1878 of this Council, and embodying its provisions with the necessary amendments in the Bill.

We have defined "Settlement Officer" and "under-tenant"

Instead of adding a fourth ground of enhancement for the rent of a ryot having a right of occupancy, by a proviso to the existing law, we have provided that nothing in section 51, Regulation VIII of 1793, which treats of enhancement of rents of intermediate tenure-holders, or in the rent laws, Act X of 1859 and Bengal Act VIII of 1869, shall affect any settlement proceedings under Regulation VII of 1822 and similar laws, and have then proceeded to re-impose the restrictions on enhancement.

We have provided that the rents recorded as demandable by a Settlement Officer shall be in accordance with general rates, to be sanctioned by the revenue authorities for adoption in the settlement; but that the rent of no occupancy ryot shall be enhanced except on one or other of the grounds specified in section 6 of the Bill.

Section 6 substantially reproduces section 18, Act VIII of 1869, of this Council, but also aims at removing the difficulty in which the present measure originated, by allowing the Settlement Officer to enhance rents in proportion to the general rise in the value of produce since the last previous settlement of the estate, if such a settlement was ever made.

We have introduced a clause empowering the Settlement Officer to defer the ryot's liability to pay the full amount to which his rent is liable to be enhanced, and make the enhancement take effect by periodical increments.

We have inserted a section providing a maximum beyond which the rent of an under-tenant shall not be enhanced.

We have made no material change in the procedure for the serving of notices of enhancement laid down by Act III of 1878.

We have provided that rents recorded as demandable by the Settlement Officer shall be valid, unless it can be proved in a suit that they were not assessed in accordance with the provisions of the Act.

The defendants in such suits being public officers, it is necessary that the ryots should serve a notice of suit two months before institution. We have provided that this notice shall be served within two months of the service of the notice of enhancement. Four months is thus the maximum time allowed to the under-tenant or ryot for the institution of his suit.

We have provided that if notice of enhancement is served within the first six months of the year of the era current in the district, the enhancement may take effect from the beginning of that year.

We have secured the under-tenants and ryots against any enhancement above the rents recorded as demandable by the Settlement Officer for ten years, or until the expiration of the settlement.

2. Bengal Act No. III of 1878 (an Act to define and limit the powers of settlement officers with respect to enhancement of rent) is hereby repealed.

Repeal of Bengal Act III of 1878.

3 In this Act—

Definitions

"Settlement Officer" means the Collector of the district, and includes any officer who may be appointed by the local Government to make any settlement of the land revenue, and any Deputy Collector or Sub-Deputy Collector whom the Collector may authorize to conduct the enquiries and proceedings connected with any such settlement.

"Under-tenant" means any holder of a heritable and transferable intermediate tenure between the Government and the ryot other than a zemindar.

4 Nothing contained in section 51 of Regulation VIII of 1793, or in Act X of 1859, or in Bengal Act VIII of 1869, shall affect any settlement proceedings under Regulation VII of 1822, or under any other law for the time being in force for the regulation of settlements of land revenue, otherwise than as provided in this Act.

Settlement proceedings not affected by certain Acts.

5. In any such settlement proceedings the rent recorded as demandable from each ryot shall, except as herein otherwise provided, be in accordance with the general rates sanctioned or determined for adoption in such settlement by the revenue authorities from time to time empowered in that behalf by the Lieutenant-Governor

Rent to be in accordance with rates sanctioned by the revenue authorities.

6. The Settlement Officer may, on some one or other of the following grounds and not otherwise, record a higher rent as demandable from any ryot having a right of occupancy than the rent which was previously paid by him, viz.—

Grounds of enhancement.

(i) That the higher rent so recorded is calculated on rates which are not above the prevailing rates payable by the same class of ryots, for land of a similar description and with similar advantages in the surrounding neighbourhood.

(ii) That the enhancement is not greater than is justified by the increase which has taken place in the productive powers of the land otherwise than by the agency, or at the expense, of the ryot since the rent of the ryot was last fixed.

(iii) That the value of the produce of the land has been increased otherwise than by the agency, or at the expense, of the ryot; and, if a previous settlement of the lands has at any time been made, that such higher rent does not bear a higher proportion to that which would have been the rent of lands of a similar description and the same area according to the rates of such previous settlement, than the present price of produce bears to the price of similar produce prevailing about the time of such previous settlement, as recorded in the papers of such settlement, or, if not so recorded, as otherwise ascertained, and certified by the Settlement Officer.

(iv) That the quantity of land held by the ryot has been proved by measurement to be greater than the quantity for which rent has been previously paid by him.

7. When the rent demandable from any ryot is recorded at an amount below that to which the rent of such ryot might have been enhanced on any of the grounds mentioned in the last preceding section, it may be recorded that such ryot shall from time to time be liable to pay increased rent from such dates as may be fixed by the Settlement Officer, until the rent paid by him reaches the amount which the Settlement Officer may determine to be properly payable by him under the last preceding section.

Payment by progressive increments

8. The rent recorded as demandable from an under-tenant shall in no case be higher than an amount which is ten per cent. below the aggregate of the rents recorded as demandable in any year from the subordinate under-tenants and ryots whose holdings fall within his under-tenure.

Rent of under-tenant.

Service of notice of enhancement.

9. Whenever a higher rent has been recorded as demandable from any under-tenant or ryot than the rent previously paid by him, the Settlement Officer shall cause a notice to be served on such under-tenant or ryot.

Such notice shall specify the rent and the ground or grounds on which the enhancement is made, and shall call upon such under-tenant or ryot to appear before the Settlement Officer within a time to be specified in the notice and sign the jummabundi.

Provided that it shall not be necessary to make personal service of such notice on each under-tenant or ryot, but that service may be lawfully made through proclamation by beat of drum, in the village in which the lands concerned or any part of them are situated, of a general notice addressed to all whom it may concern, and by affixing such general notice with a copy of the jummabundi, or of such extracts therefrom as the Collector may think fit, at the mal cutcherry of the village to which the jummabundi relates, or at some other conspicuous place therein.

Such copy of the jummabundi or extracts therefrom shall be deemed to be a part of the general notice, and the grounds of enhancement may be specified in the case of each under-tenant or ryot, by an entry in such copy or extracts referring to the clause or clauses of section 6 of this Act under which his rent has been enhanced.

Suit to contest rents.

10. Every under-tenant and ryot shall be liable to pay the rent recorded as demandable from him under this Act, unless it shall be proved in any suit instituted by such under-tenant or ryot to contest his liability to pay the same that such rent has not been assessed in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

Notice of suit.

Notice of every such suit as required by section 424 of the Code of Civil Procedure shall be given within two months after the service of the notice of enhancement mentioned in section 9 of this Act; and no such suit shall be instituted otherwise than within four months after the service of such notice of enhancement.

Enhancement when to take effect.

11. If notice of enhancement is served within the first six months of the year of the era current in the district, such enhancement may take effect from the beginning of the year in which such notice may have been served, otherwise it shall take effect from the beginning of the next following year.

Rent to hold good for 10 years or until expiration of settlement.

12. Rent recorded as demandable under this Act, or fixed by a final decree in any suit as aforesaid, shall not be liable to enhancement until ten years shall have elapsed from the date on which the settlement took effect, or until the period of the settlement shall have expired, whichever may first occur.

Application of Act.

13. The provisions of this Act shall apply to all settlement proceedings under Regulation VII of 1822 which may have been confirmed after the commencement of Bengal Act III of 1878, or which may hereafter be confirmed or sanctioned by the revenue authorities from time to time empowered in that behalf by the Lieutenant-Governor, whether such proceedings shall have been commenced before or after such commencement.

such minor shall be deemed guilty of an offence, and the convicting Magistrate may, in his discretion, direct either that the minor, if a male, shall be punished with whipping, or that the father or guardian of the minor shall, within such reasonable time as the Magistrate may fix, execute a bond binding himself, in such penalty as the Magistrate may direct, to prevent the minor from repeating such offence.

The amount of such bond, if forfeited, shall be recoverable as if it were a fine.

PART VI.

Bill of the India Council.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Code of Civil Procedure was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 5th March, 1879:—

REPORT.

We, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to amend the Code of Civil Procedure was referred, have the honour to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers specified in the annexed list.

2. In the interpretation-clause, we have expressly declared that an order finally disposing of an application for execution falls within the definition of 'decree.' This will remove a doubt which we understand has been felt in two of the High Courts. We have also provided that 'signed' shall include stamped. The use of a seal capable of producing an impression of the name and title of the person using it is common among Natives of rank.

3. To section 13 we have added an explanation declaring in effect, that a decision in a suit for arrears of rent under any local law relating to landlord and tenant, shall not be deemed to be res judicata in case of suits relating to the title to the property in respect of which the rent is claimed.

4. In section 44, we have provided for joining, with claims by and against a legal representative as such, claims which he was personally entitled to, or liable for, jointly with the deceased person whom he represents, e. g., on a promissory note jointly executed by the deceased and the person who becomes his executor.

5. We have altered the last paragraph of section 52, so as to require the examination of the witness to the verification of the plaint only when the Court entertains doubt as to the fact of the signature.

6. We have extended section 108 to all cases in which decrees have been set-aside ex parte, and provided for cases in which the summons was not duly served, as well as for those in which the defendant was prevented from appearing.

7. Section 131 does not as Act VIII of 1859, section 107, did, empower parties to give notice to produce documents generally. We have therefore made section 131 apply to the production of all documents in the possession or power of a party, whether they are or are not referred to in the plaint, written statement or affidavit of the latter.

8. We have struck out from section 230 the words as to granting subsequent applications for execution, when the Court is satisfied that on the preceding application due diligence had been used to procure complete satisfaction. The effect of these words appears to us to discourage leniency and to invite litigation. We have altered the same section, so as to provide (in accordance with the new Limitation Act, schedule II, Art. 179, paragraph 6) for a decree awarding maintenance, which has been held not to be a decree directing "the payment of money or the delivery of property by instalments."

9. We have amended section 245, so as to provide for non-compliance with the requirements not only of sections 235 and 236, but also of sections 236 and 237.

10. We have altered the first explanation to section 246, so as to bring within its scope decrees made over to a Court for execution.

11. We have amended sections 259 and 260, so as to make it clear that, when an attachment under either section has remained in force for the specified time, if the judgment-debtor has not obeyed the decree and the decree-holder has, within that time, applied for a sale, the property may be sold; but that, if the judgment-debtor has obeyed, and the decree-holder has not made such application, the attachment shall cease.

12. We have provided, in section 268, that, where a moiety of the salary of a public officer or railway-servant is attached, the attachment shall be made by an order requiring the officer whose duty it is to disburse the salary to withhold every month such portion as the Court may direct until the amount of the portions so withheld is equal to the amount of the decree; and we have authorized him to pay into Court every portion so withheld, and declared that such payment shall discharge the Government or the Railway Company. We have struck out the last paragraph of the same section.

13. We have altered section 291, so as to empower the Court directing an execution-sale, as well as the officer conducting one, to adjourn it.

14. Where the holder of a decree in execution of which property is sold purchases the property without the Court's permission, we have provided in section 294, that the Court may, if it thinks fit, set-aside the sale, and that any deficiency of price which may happen on a re-sale shall be paid by the decree-holder.

15. We think that mortgages, leases and sales made under section 305 by the judgment-debtor should not become absolute until they are confirmed by the Court; and we have added a provision to this effect.

16. We think that, besides the decree-holder and the owner of land sold in execution, any other person interested in the sale should have power to apply to set it aside on the ground of material irregularity; and we have amended section 311 of the Code accordingly.

17. Much doubt exists as to where the title to land sold at an execution-sale vests in the purchaser. We think it should vest from the date of the certificate, which is granted as soon as the sale becomes absolute; and we have added to section 316 a sentence to this effect.

18. We have recast sections 322 and 323 of the Code, so as to make them express clearly what we believe to have been the intention of their author, namely, that, where a money-decree in satisfaction of which the Court has ordered a sale of land has been transferred to the Collector, he should ascertain the amount of all existing decrees against the judgment-debtor and raise the amount necessary to discharge all his judgment-debts with interest, by dealing with such land, and such land only, in any of the modes prescribed by section 322.

19. We have altered section 331, paragraph two, so as to express the provisions of the corresponding section (229) of Act VIII of 1859, and we have redrawn the latter half of section 332, so as to avoid the reference to the Specific Relief Act, section 9, whilst maintaining the procedure required by that enactment and the effect of an order passed thereunder.

20. We think that the first payment of a judgment-debtor's monthly subsistence-money should be made to the proper officer of the Court, and that the subsequent payments should be made to the officer in charge of the jail; and we have altered section 339 accordingly.

21. When an applicant for the benefit of the insolvency-chapter (XX) furnishes sufficient security that he will appear when called upon, we have empowered the Court to release him. The Recorder of Rangoon exercises under the Burma Courts Act insolvency-jurisdiction in the towns of Rangoon, Maulmain, Akyab and Bassein. We do not think it expedient that any other Courts should exercise such jurisdiction concurrently with him. We have therefore expressly excluded all Courts situate in such towns from the operation of chapter XX.

22. Where a pauper's suit is dismissed for non-appearance of either party, we have empowered the Court to order him to pay the fees which would have been paid by him if he had not been permitted to sue as a pauper.

23. We have amended section 456 of the Code so as to provide for obtaining an order for the appointment of a guardian ad litem upon application by the plaintiff; and where there is no other person fit and willing to act as such guardian, we have authorized the Court to appoint any of its officers.

24. We have substituted for section 555 a section providing that in all cases the appellant shall begin.

25. We have made section 560 of the Code provide for the cases when notice is not served on the respondent, as well as for those in which he was prevented from appearing.

26. We have amended section 582 of the Code, so as to preclude the doubt whether the Appellate Court is bound (so far as may be) to perform the duties, as well as authorized to exercise the powers, of the Court of first instance.

27. In section 584, clause (a), we have omitted the words "some specified," which have been held by some to limit the 'law' there mentioned to a statutory enactment, and by others to require the appellant to express in formal terms the rule which he alleges to have been contravened.

28. We think that appeals should lie from orders under section 57, clause (a), returning a plaint on the ground that the suit has been instituted in the wrong Court; and from orders under section 313 refusing an application to set-aside a sale of immoveable property; and we have amended section 588 accordingly. We have also amended the last clause of the same section, so as to give a second appeal from all orders under section 244, as to mesne profits or relating to the execution, discharge or satisfaction of a decree.

29. We have extended section 642, so as to exempt from arrest under the Code the parties to any matter pending before a tribunal having, or believing bonâ fide that it has, jurisdiction, their pleaders, mukhtárs, revenue-agents and witnesses while going to, attending or returning from, such tribunal. This will include not only civil Courts, but criminal Courts, Courts-martial and arbitrators, and accords with the existing law of England.

30. Sections 223—229 seem to provide sufficiently for the execution of decrees. We have therefore limited section 648 to arrests and attachments made otherwise than in execution, and provided for the release of any person arrested under that section who furnishes security for his appearance before the Court that issued the warrant.

31. We have added to section 649 a paragraph providing for the execution of the decrees of Courts which have ceased to exist, as for example, where a Court of Small Causes is abolished by the Local Government under Act XI of 1865, section 8, or where a Munsif invested with Small Cause jurisdiction, having passed a considerable number of decrees, is transferred to another Munsifí, and his successor at the particular Munsifí at which this jurisdiction was exercised has not been invested with similar jurisdiction.

32. We have inserted after section 650, a section providing for the service of foreign summonses when issued either by Courts established by the Governor General in Council, or by Courts to which the Governor General in Council has applied this provision.

33. We have amended the second schedule, so as to extend to the Small Cause Courts in the Mufassal sections 223—229, as to execution of decrees;

section 360, enabling the Local Government to invest any Court with insolvency-jurisdiction;

chapter XXXVI, as to Receivers; and sections 523, 524, as to filing in Court agreements to refer to arbitration, and sections 525, 526, as to filing awards made on reference without the intervention of a Court.

34. We have made several corrections of clerical and typographical errors which need not be specified.

35. Lastly, we have amended the Registration Act, by inserting a clause providing that a copy of every certificate of sale of land granted under section 316 of the Code shall be sent to the local registering officer, who will file it in his Book No. 1. We have also taken the opportunity to amend three trifling errors in this Act, one of which is a misprint. And we have amended the Limitation Act, by inserting in its second schedule articles providing respectively for applications under sections 308 and 371 of the Code.

36. We recommend that the Bill thus amended be passed. The Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons have been published in English in all the local Gazettes except those for Assam and Ajmer. They have been published in the vernacular in all the Gazettes except those for the Central Provinces, British Burma, Assam and Ajmer. We do not think that the Bill has been so altered as to require republication.

D. FITZPATRICK,
Secy. to the Govt. of India.

The following supplementary Report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill as settled by them, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 19th March, 1879:—

WE, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to amend the Code of Civil Procedure was referred, have the honour to submit the following supplementary Report.

2. Since our Report of the 5th March was presented, our colleague Mr. Stokes has received from Mr. Justice Ainslie a note on the Bill which has led us to make certain further changes therein.

3. It seems to us that the definition of "decree," even when made to include orders finally disposing of applications for execution, is not wide enough. It does not, for instance, comprise an order made on settlement of issues overruling pleas of law (such as that the suit is barred by the Limitation Act), and directing a trial of complicated questions of fact or the investigation of complicated accounts; for this does not "decide the suit," as the defendant may have a defence on the facts. Again, it does not include a decretal order for an account, for this does not "decide the suit;" inasmuch as, on taking the account, it may turn out that nothing is due, in which case the plaintiff's suit would in the end be dismissed. Yet a defendant ought not, if he has a good defence, to be put to the possibly enormous expense and inconvenience of an account for (say) twenty years. He should clearly have a right of appeal. The fact is that there may be more than one decree in a suit and that the various points arising may be decided at different hearings and the results embodied in different "formal orders." We have therefore widened the first sentence of the definition of "decree" as follows: "decree means the formal expression of a final adjudication upon any right claimed, or defence set up, in a Court of justice."

4. We have not overlooked the fact that some of the orders under section 244 of the Code, from which we propose to give two appeals by section 588 as now amended, may be held to be decrees within the meaning of this first sentence of the definition; but we deem it safer, in order to prevent all mistake, to give the appeals from these orders in express terms by section 588, and formally to exclude them from the definition of decree. We have also defined "order" as meaning the formal expression of any decision of a Court of justice which is not a decree, and we have defined "judgment" as the statement given by the Judge of the grounds of a decree or order.

5. There is much evidence to shew that the examination of a witness as to the fact of signature of the verification of the plaint by the person whose name it purports to bear is a useless form. We have therefore, instead of amending section 52 of the Code as proposed by the Bill as last settled, repealed the part of that section requiring such examination.

6. We think that the Court should fix a period within which the sum required to defray the costs of service of a process must be paid into Court by the party concerned. In the absence of such a provision (which was contained in Act XXIII of 1861, section 2), there is no rule by which the Court is to be guided in determining when a party is in default. We have therefore amended section 93 of the Code so as to require a period to be fixed for the payment of the Court-fee, and we have made a similar amendment in section 95, as to payment of postage.

7. It is strongly urged by Mr. Justice Ainslie that our proposed change in section 168 of the word "may" to "shall" would assist litigants to obstruct justice by obtaining unnecessary adjournments. We have accordingly omitted the section of the Bill by which it was proposed to make that change.

8. We have provided in section 289 for fixing up in the Court-house a copy of the proclamation of sale, and we have made a corresponding amendment in section 290.

9. The question is constantly arising whether a fresh proclamation is required when a sale is adjourned. We have provided in section 291 that, in case of such adjournment for a longer period than seven days, a fresh proclamation shall be made, unless the judgment-debtor consents to waive it.

10. In section 220 we have provided for the execution of orders as to costs.

11. In our report of the 5th of March we proposed to alter section 311 of the Code so as admit of other persons in an execution-sale besides the decree-holder and the owner applying to set-aside the sale. We have, at the suggestion of the High Court at Fort William, struck out this amendment of section 311 of the Code. The High Court urges that it would be of little practical benefit and that it might sometimes be misused to delay the completion of proceedings in execution by persons put forward by the judgment-debtor to dispute the regularity of the sale.

12. We have repealed the last nineteen words of section 13 of Act XI of 1865. They are, in the opinion of the same High Court, unnecessary and occasionally mischievous.

13. The importance of the change now made in the definitions of "decree" and "judgment," makes it desirable in our opinion that the Bill should be republished, so as to afford an opportunity for the correction of any oversight into which we may have fallen; but the substance of the amendment has now been so fully discussed that we think that, unless some serious objection is brought to light, there can be no objection to the Bill being passed as it stands; and, looking to the urgency of some of its provisions, we think its passing should not be delayed more than two months.

2. The Bill as introduced proposed that the division of the whole area of an island formed opposite several holdings should be made rateably among the owners in proportion to their respective frontages, and was framed so as merely to indicate those holders. If, for example, there were three such owners, A, B and C, whose respective frontages were 100 yards, 200 yards and 300 yards, it was intended that A should take one-sixth of the whole area of the island, B one-third and C one-half, and this division was to have been effected either by private arrangement or in default thereof by a suit for partition. It has, however, been strongly urged that, to preclude litigation and discrepancy of practice, the Bill should, at least in the case of land forming in rivers, contain rules not only for giving the areas, but for defining the plots, to which the several riparian owners are entitled. For this purpose rules have been suggested both by the Board of Revenue of the Lower Provinces and the High Court at Fort William, the former proposing that the alluvion should be divided by right lines perpendicular to the extremities of the frontages, the latter proposing a division by right lines bisecting the angles made by perpendiculars drawn from the extremities of adjacent frontages. But it will be seen on examination that, under either of these plans, alluvial lands formed in the bend of a river would sometimes fall to more than one estate, and further provision would then be required for a rateable division of those lands between the owners of the estates concerned. The subject is one of no small difficulty; but it seems to us that the following rule, which is said by a distinguished Settlement-officer (Mr. Ibbetson) to be practically the rule now in force in the Panjáb, and which is recommended for adoption by the Government of that Province, solves the problem satisfactorily and completely :—

"Where from natural causes an island or other land is formed in or on the bank of a river, either by accumulation of material or by recession of the river, each owner having a frontage on the river is entitled to so much of the land as is included by his frontage, the thread of the stream and lines drawn riverwards from the ends of such frontage to meet the thread of the stream in a direction normal to such thread.

[The term "normal," we may observe, is here used instead of "perpendicular," as the thread of the stream may be a curve. It is obvious that in such case several normals may possibly be drawn from the same point, and that these normals may be either of different or of the same length. The rule, therefore, proceeds as follows :—]

"Where more than one such normal can be drawn from one and the same end of any frontage and each of such normals is of different length, the shortest of such normals shall be deemed to be the including line; and where more than one such normal can be so drawn, and each of such normals is of the same length, the line bisecting the angle between the two extreme positions of the shortest normal shall be deemed to be the including line."

It will be seen that the above rule applies not only to alluvion deposited on the banks of two contiguous holdings, but also to islands. Incidentally, this will have the effect of rendering immaterial the often difficult question whether a new deposit is an island or not.

3. The above is the chief substantial alteration which we have made in the Bill. We now proceed to specify the minor changes which we deem desirable.

4. In the tidal portion of rivers like the Hugli are many islands which are flooded by ordinary tides in the rainy season, but only by extraordinary springs, or not at all, in the dry season. These chars are cultivable in the dry season and should be included in the definition of "island." We have therefore added to that definition the words "throughout the year."

5. To fix with more precision the time at which, for the purposes of the Bill, an alluvial island is first formed, we have provided that it must be capable of being employed for cultivation, pasture or other useful purpose, such, for example, as the supply of reeds or brush-wood. The question of fordability will thus be decided after an island newly formed becomes, as the Privy Council puts it, "valuable and usable."

6. Where any formation takes place on a site of which the Government is proved to be the owner, we have declared that the Government is entitled to such formation.

7. In the case of land formed on the shore of the sea or of a lake and in that of an island formed in the sea or a lake, we have provided that the distribution in proportion to the frontage of the riparian owners shall be effected by such officer as the Local Government may appoint and in accordance with such rules (consistent with the proposed Act) as the Local Government may from time to time prescribe.

8. We think that, to entitle the Crown to alluvial islands, the channel between the island and each bank or shore should not be fordable during the dry season next after the formation.

9. In determining the right to abandoned river-beds, we think we should have regard to the thread of the stream in the preceding dry season, and not to what it was immediately before the abandonment—a matter which cannot be always ascertained. In other respects, the rule for the division of such beds among the riparian owners will be the same as that which we have provided in the case of alluvial lands.

10. We have empowered the Local Government to declare, with reference to any tidal river, where, for the purposes of the proposed Act, the river shall be deemed to end and the sea to begin; and we have provided that no declaration under the Act shall be cancelled or altered, save with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council.

11. In the Panjáb the ownership of lands subject to the action of rivers is mainly regulated by local usage. We have accordingly retained the section of the Bill as introduced, which provided that such usages should be respected and, in certain cases, presumed to be in force. But such provisions do not appear to be required in Madras, Bombay, Oudh or the North-Western Provinces, and though local usage is saved in the Lower Provinces and Assam by the Bengal Regulation XI of 1825, there seems to be only one instance in which there has been any attempt to establish it. We have, therefore, confined to the Panjáb the section saving usage. But there is ground for the belief that even in that Province some of the local usages referred to,—including the usage known as "the deep-stream rule"—besides being objectionable on economic grounds and adverse to imperial interests are more or less unsuited to the time and distasteful to the communities affected by them. In these circumstances we have deemed it right, on the recommendation of experienced officers, to provide a procedure whereby such usages may, if thought expedient, be discontinued, and fixed boundaries substituted for varying boundaries in riparian estates.

12. As the rights of mortgagees and tenants to alluvial lands are saved by the Transfer of Property Bill, No. III, sections 37 and 65, clause (e), we have not thought it necessary to provide for such rights.

13. The Bill in its present form is not to be taken as expressing our final views as to all the difficult and important subjects with which it deals. But we think that the changes which it has undergone are such as to render republication desirable, for the purpose of eliciting criticism from the public and from the judicial and executive officers by whom its provisions will be carried into effect. We also think that its further consideration should be stayed until the new Law Commission has reported thereon. We therefore recommend that the Bill as now amended be republished with this Report in the Gazette of India, and sent to the Local Governments for opinion and for publication in the local Gazettes.

14. The Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons have been published in English in the local Gazettes for Madras, Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Panjáb, the Central Provinces and British Burma. Publication in English has not been reported from Bombay and Assam. Publication in the vernacular has been reported only from Madras, Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Panjáb and the Central Provinces.

Interpretation-clause.

3. In this Act—

"island" means land surrounded by water and capable of being employed for cultivation, pasture or other useful purpose. It includes such land arising in a river or lake, submerged in the wet season and visible only in the dry season; but it excludes land arising in tidal rivers, tidal lakes or the sea, submerged by the flow of ordinary tides throughout the year:

"owner" means, in the case of a bank or shore held on raiyatwárí tenure, the Government: in the case of a bank or shore forming part of land situate in the Presidency of Bombay and wholly or partially exempt from the payment of land-revenue, or held under a grant or lease fixing the Government demand in respect thereof in perpetuity, the holder of such land; and in the case of a bank or shore held by a village-community, or by one or more members of it, such community:

"sea" includes bay, inlet, creek and arm of the sea:

"frontage" means the right line connecting the corners of each holding where they strike the sea, lake or river:

"Thread of the stream" means (a) the middle line of the main-stream during the dry season, or, where there are two streams of equal depth and width, the line equidistant during such season from the outermost shores of the two streams; (b) the middle line of the river between what are the shores on each side when the water is at its average height, neither swollen by flood, nor shrunk by drought; or (c) the middle line or the particular channel in which the formation of ancient river-bed referred to occurs or is situate;

and a channel is said to be "fordable" when it does not exceed five feet in depth in the dry season next after the formation referred to and throughout the twenty-four hours.

II.—Alluvial Land and Islands.

Right to land formed on shore of sea or lake.

4. Where, from natural causes, land forms gradually on the shore of the sea or of a lake, either by accumulation of material or by recession of the sea or lake, the owners of the shore are severally entitled to the land so formed in proportion to the frontage which they respectively had on the sea or lake immediately before the formation; and the partition of the land so formed shall be made by such officer as the Local Government appoints in this behalf, and in accordance with such rules, consistent with this Act, as the Local Government may from time to time prescribe:

Provided that, where the land or any portion thereof forms on a site which is proved to belong to the Government or a private owner, the Government or such owner, as the case may be, is entitled to the land or portion so formed.

Right to islands where channel is not fordable.

5. Where an island is formed, from natural causes, in a river, the sea or a lake, either by accumulation of material or by recession of the sea or lake, if the island is separated from each bank or shore by a channel not fordable at any point, the Government is entitled to such island:

Provided that, where the island or any portion thereof is formed on a site which is proved to belong to a private owner, such owner is entitled to the island or portion so formed.

Right to other islands in sea or lake.

6. If where an island is formed as aforesaid in the sea or a lake, the channels between it and either shore are fordable at any point, the owners of the nearest shore are severally entitled to the island in proportion to the frontage which they respectively have on the sea or lake; and the partition of the island so formed shall be made by such officer as the Local Government appoints in this behalf and in accordance with such rules, consistent with this Act, as the Local Government may from time to time prescribe.

Right to land formed in, or on bank of, river.

7. Where, from natural causes, an island or other land is formed in, or on the bank of, a river, either by accumulation of material or by recession of the river, and the Government is not entitled thereto under section five, each owner having a frontage on the river is entitled to so much of the land as is included by his frontage, the thread of the stream during the dry season next after the formation and lines drawn riverwards from the ends of such frontage to meet the thread of the stream in a direction normal to such thread:

Where more than one such normal can be drawn from one and the same end of any frontage and each of such normals is of different length, the shortest of such normals shall be deemed to be the including line, and where more than one such normal can be so drawn and each of such normals is of the same length, the line bisecting the angle between the two extreme positions of the shortest normal shall be deemed to be the including line.

Provided that, where the land or any portion thereof is formed on a site which is proved to belong to the Government or a private owner, the Government or such owner, as the case may be, is entitled to the land or portion so formed.

Islands formed by division of rivers.

8. If a river freshly divides and surrounds, or, by changing its course, cuts off, lands belonging to the owner of the bank, such owner is entitled to the lands so surrounded or cut off.

III.—Abandoned River-beds.

Right to abandoned river-beds.

9. Where a river suddenly abandons the bed which it occupies during the season of flood, each owner having a frontage on such bed is entitled to so much of the bed as is included by his frontage, the thread of the stream during the dry season next before the abandonment and lines drawn towards the bed from the ends of such frontage to meet such thread in a direction normal thereto.

Where more than one such normal can be drawn from one and the same end of any frontage, the rules contained in the second paragraph of section seven shall apply:

Provided that, when the ancient bed is proved to have belonged immediately before the abandonment to the Government or a private owner, it shall continue to be the property of the Government or of such owner, as the case may be.

IV.—Miscellaneous.

Power to declare "main-stream," "dry season" and "thread of the stream."

10. The Local Government may, from time to time, declare, with reference to any river, or any part of any river,—

(a) what shall be deemed to be, for the purposes of this Act, the "main-stream" and the "dry season"; and

(b) which of the said definitions of "thread of the stream" shall be deemed to be in force.

The Local Government may also declare, with reference to any tidal river, where, for the purposes of this Act, the river shall be deemed to end and the sea to begin.

Every declaration made under this section, and all rules made under section four or section six, shall be published in the official Gazette, and shall thereupon have the force of law. And no such declaration shall be cancelled or altered save with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council.

In the absence of a declaration made under clause (b) as to any river or part thereof, and having the force of law, the first of the said definitions of "thread of the stream" shall be deemed to be in force with reference to such river or part.

Savings.

11. Nothing herein contained shall—

(a) affect any law relating to the assessment of land-revenue or to the enhancement or abatement of rent; or

(b) confer on any owner of a bank or shore in respect of which he is hereby declared to be entitled to alluvial land, to an island, or to an abandoned river-bed, any title to such land, island or river-bed, better than that which he has to the bank or shore; or

(c) enlarge any holding granted by Government, the area of which has been fixed by any sanad or other document executed under the authority of Government; or

(d) authorize any acts of private persons done in order to divert currents or cause accretions; or

(e) authorize any encroachments by private persons on the banks, beds or channels of navigable rivers; or

(f) prevent any officer duly empowered by the Local Government in this behalf from removing obstacles which appear to him to interfere with the safe and customary navigation of such rivers, or which obstruct the passage of boats by tracking on the banks of such rivers or otherwise; or (g) prevent any officer duly empowered by the Local Government in this behalf from regulating the direction and flow of such rivers and the preservation and distribution of their waters.

Local usage in Panjáb.

12. In the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb, nothing herein contained shall affect any definite and well-established local usage respecting the right to alluvial land, islands or abandoned river-beds; but (except in the cases provided for by the Panjáb Land-Revenue Act, 1871, section 16) the burden of proving such usage shall lie on the person alleging it:

Provided that the Local Government may from time to time (a) cause the bed of any river or part of a river, together with the islands and alluvial lands situate therein or adjacent thereto, to be surveyed and mapped, (b) appoint an officer to enquire into, determine and record the rights of private persons and the Government, in, to or over the said bed, islands and lands, and (c) declare that rights so recorded shall not be affected by any local usage. And the provisions of the Panjáb Land Revenue Act, 1871, chapter II, shall apply, so far as may be, to proceedings under this section, and the determination of the said rights shall be made after consideration of the gain and loss (if any) caused by changes in the course of the river for a period of twelve years next before the date of the survey-notification.

Right of Crown to alluvial lands, &c., not hereinbefore provided for.

13. All land and islands formed, and all river-beds abandoned, as mentioned respectively in sections four, five and nine, and not vesting under any of the provisions hereinbefore contained, shall vest in the Government.

NOTE.

Barometric Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page, by adding the weight of a column of air of the temperatures given in column 18. For stations above 500 feet elevation the reduction is made by Captain Allan Cunningham's table, "Prof. Papers on Indian Engineering, No. CXIII." The temperatures at the sea-level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 18 on the preceding page, by adding 1° Fahrenheit for every 450 feet.

Wind Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and its comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance in the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Cloud.—This column gives the average proportion of clouded sky, a cloudless sky being indicated by o, and one completely overcast by 1*o*.

The above, being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which will show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.; the maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

T. H. WICKES,

Offg. Asst. Secy. to the Government of Bengal, P. W. Dept.

Report of Fluctuation of Traffic on the Eastern Bengal Railway for the four weeks ending 22nd February 1879.

Calcutta, the 13th March 1879.

From—C. F. CHADBURN, ESQ., for Acting Traffic Superintendent,
To—The Agent, Eastern Bengal Railway, Calcutta.

THE total weight of goods carried over this railway during the above period was 4,91,347 maunds which, as compared with last year, shews a decrease of 2,97,826 maunds in grain, including rice, jute, piece-goods, foreign railway materials, seeds, sugar, turmeric, and miscellaneous goods.

This apparently heavy decrease is attributable to the depression of trade generally, but I anticipate a more satisfactory report for the current month.

Decreases.

Grain, including rice ... ... Mds. 1,51,216

This traffic bears an unfavourable comparison with last year, owing to the absence of the demand which then existed for export to famine districts, but the quantity carried is 3,887 maunds, more than passed over the line in January 1879.

Jute, drums of ... ... Mds. 39,215

This decrease is attributable to the market being over-stocked, holders being unable to find buyers for what is now on hand.

Jute, bales of ... ... Mds. 61,124

The last remark also applies to this produce. It might be added that the low rates in the home market, and consequent absence of demand for export, is affecting this trade.

Piece-goods ... ... Mds. 6,931

This is attributable to the slackness of trade generally.

Foreign Railway material ... ... Mds. 7,268

At this time last year large quantities of material for the construction of the Northern Bengal State Railway were being despatched, as the greater portion has now gone forward, the decrease was to be expected.

Seeds ... ... Mds. 6,024

This decrease is attributable to absence of the demand for export which existed last year.

Turmeric ... ... Mds. 4,840

Although this shews a decrease as compared with last year, the total quantity carried during February exceeds by over 1,000 maunds that carried in January. This supports my views in regard to the abnormal demand for grain and edibles for famine-stricken districts last year.

Miscellaneous... ... ... Mds. 32,110

This decrease can only be accounted for by the bad state of trade generally as compared with last year, although in this also there is an increase over January's traffic of over 2,000 maunds.

Increases.

The increases are in gunny, bundles 4,521; hides, bales 2,742; and bundles of tobacco, 6,156, but are so trifling as compared with the decreases as to call for no special remarks.
